Board Asks End of Laws On Material

Presidential Group Is for Purchase of Raw Products Outside U.S. Borders

Search Proposed

Home Survey Needed, Report Says—System Is Attacked

Washington, June 23 (AP) — A presidential board today recommended that the United States scrap laws which prevent other nations from selling America the raw materials she needs for war and peace.

The United States should make a cellar-to-attic search—at home and abroad—for sources of materials, said a formal report by the President's Materials Policy Commission.

This country already is unable to supply her own needs, the board said, and by 1975 may be compelled to import one-fifth of the material it consumes. The report recommended that stockpiling be put on a permanent basis.

Seriously Concerned

The commission, after 18 months research, said it is seriously concerned—but not "alarmist"—over the shrinkage of America's natural resources.

In the face of foreseeable demand for the next 25 years, the report said, this shrinkage is a definite threat to the nation's living standards and national security.

The group labelled the high tariff system obsolete and said the Buy-America Act of 1933 is "a relic of depression psychology . . . a self imposed blockade."

It proposed that the government be given power to cancel tariffs whenever the need for a foreign material becomes critical.

The buy-American law forbids federal purchasing overseas unless U. S. supplies are unreasonably priced or inadequate in quantity or quality, a more recent law bars even stockpile-buying abroad unless the dometic price is 25 per cent above the foreign market.

Program Advised

Taft Is Not Certain of Majority On GOP Credentials Committee

Doesn't Think One Can Say Group Will Be in Control

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio said today he isn't at all certain his followers will have a majority on the vital credentials committee of the Republican National Convention.

The credentials group will recommend the action to be taken on the seating of contested delegates—now one of the principal issues between Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in their battle for the GOP presidential nomination.

Each state deelgation to the Chicago convention names two members of the credentials group. While some of his backers have claimed Taft will have a majority of the votes in more than half of the states, the Ohioan said that doesn't mean the committee will be stacked in his favor.

"There are all shades of political opinion represented among the credentials members who already have been chosen," Taft told a reporter. "I don't think anyone can say that the committee will be controlled."

Contests over delegations don't get to the credentials group until after the Republican National Committee has ruled on them. Then, the credentials members are restricted by convention rules from taking any new testimony. They can only pass on evidence brought before the national group.

No Third Party Interest

Denver, June 23 (AP)—President Truman never offered Gen. Dwight Eisenhower the 1952 Democratic presidental nomination. The general is not interested in any third party move this year.

These and other statements came from Eisenhower the past weekend during his swift western swing, which touched at Dallas, Las Vegas, Nev., and giant Hoover Dam.

His backers say that as a result of a five-hour Nevada sojourn yesterday, the general picked up three and possibly more delegates to the Republican National Convention.

The busy aspirant for the presidential nomination arrived here by plane late last night. He will make a telecast from 10 to 10:15 p. m. EST tonight, taking issue with his rival, Sen. Roobert A. Taft on matters of foreign policy. The Denver talk will be televised nationally by the National Broadcasting Company.

Eisenhower touched off his fireworks at Dallas. At a news conference there yesterday he flatly denied that Truman had offered him the '52 Democratic nomination. Last fall Arthur Krock of the New York Times reported that the offer had been made.

In his book, "Crusade of Europe," Eisenhower wrote that at Potsdam in 1945, the president told him he would support him for anything he wanted.

While saying he is not interested in any third party movement this year, Eisenhower declined to commit himself on any future decision.

Arrives by Air

Anglo Troops Join West German Cops After Kidnapping

43 Workers Are Released Today After Surprise Incident; Protest Is Expected

Helmstedt, Germany, June 23 (AP)—British soldiers backed up reinforced West German police at a disputed frontier point near here today in a defiance of Communist keep-away orders following the kidnapping of 43 West German workmen.

The workmen, seized yesterday morning by Russian-led East German Volkspolizei (People's Police) as the westerners dismantled a railroad spur, were released without explanation early today. Ten other workers had fled the seizure, escaping without injury under a hail of Red bullets.

The kidnapping occurred at the little hamlet of Hohnsleben, a few miles from Helmstedt, in a 500-yard-deep pocket of territory which was part of the Soviet zone state of Saxon-Anhalt but was given to West Germany when the east-west zonal border was established.

Following yesterday's incident armed Volkspolizei warned the West German border police to stay out of the pocket, but the western police brought up reinforcements and, with a detail of 13 British soldiers, took up their regular patrol at the east-west frontier.

Patrols Not Stopped

The Communists then made no effort to halt the western patrols.

The kidnapped workers said after their release they had not been mistreated but had been exhaustively questioned by Russian officers and the East German police. The men said the Reds claimed they had crossed the zonal frontier, but gave no explanation for releasing them.

British authorities—the area is in the British occupation zone—said they were "considering" the incident but did not disclose what steps they planned to take. It was believed they would protest to the Russians.

U. S. officials also were investigating the foray, which two Russian tommy-gunners led.

The kidnapping was done with surprise and dispatch. As the men worked in the warm June sun, they were surrounded suddenly by

May Use A-Bombs Against Enemy Planes

Washington, June 23 (AP)—A plan to launch small atomic bombs from the air against enemy aircraft was reported under study in high military circles as the key to a revolutionary air defense system of the future.

Air Force Magazine, unofficial but usually well informed, said authorities believe with the addition of this atomic weapon American air defenses can knock down 95 per cent of attacking enemy plans under any conditions.

The magazine said currently the United States can count on destroying no more than five per cent at night or in bad weather.

Strike Tops All Earlier Allied Hits

Four Carriers Take Part in Assault — Units Supply North Korea, Manchuria

No Challenge Made

Planes Count 208 MIGs on Field, None Joins Fight

Seoul, Korea, June 23 (AP)—Five hundred U. S. Navy, Air Force and Marine planes today knocked out five big hydro-electric plants servicing all of North Korea and parts of Manchuria in the biggest single air raid of the Korean war.

All of the targets were on the Korean side of the Yalu river, which divides Korea and Manchuria, navy headquarters in Tokyo said.

A navy spokesman said the targets were "top priority" and preliminary reports indicated the "primary and secondary targets were thoroughly smashed."

Dams Are Pounded

Air force fighter bombers from dozens of land bases and navy planes from the Boxer, Philippines Sea and Princeton pounded the dams and generator plants. Other planes from the carrier Bonhomme Richard flew diversionary strikes in the same area to confuse Red air defenses.

The air force said the 90-minute raid demolished the Suiho hydro-electric plant, which supplies power to Mikden and other industrial areas in Manchuria, plus four other power plants in North Korea.

Col. John D. Nottingham of Houston, Tex., Fifth Air Force public information officer, said carrier planes and land-based marine and air force craft swooped down on the power plants from all directions with rockets and high explosive armor-piercing bombs.

208 Jets Counted

Nottingham said 208 Red MIG-15 jets were counted on the Communist airfield at Antung, Manchuria, within sight of the strikes on Suiho. None of the MIGs challenged the fighter-bombers, which were escorted by F-80 Sabre jets and Navy Panther jets.

The air force spokesman said it was safe to assume there were "no electric lights burning tonight" in the North Korean capital of Pyongyang and that parts of Manchuria were blacked out.

More than half of the more than 500 planes which took part in the raid were American Air Force planes, Nottingham said. All were fighter and fighter bombers. No B-26 or B-29 bombers were used.

Suiho is approximately 30 miles up the Yalu river from Antung. Its power plants furnished all electric power for industrial centers in North Korea, including Pyongyang and Chinnampo, and a considerable area of Manchuria.

Big Land Foray Made

The big air strike followed by one day raids by powerful allied columns of 1,000 to possibly more than 3,000 men into Chinese lines in western Korea. The attacks topped any UN foray into Red territory since last fall.

The biggest raiding force, probably a full regiment, knifed through Red positions northwest of Chorwon, killing or wounding more than 1,000 Communists, the Eighth Army said.

Total Red casualties for the day were 627 killed and 529 wounded, the Army said.

The tank-led column quickly overran advance Communist positions and destroyed fortifications. But as the raiders drove deeper into enemy territory the Reds countered with heavy fire from automatic weapons, mortars and artillery.

Other raiding forces, some of battalion strength, harrassed Chinese troops entrenched west of Chorwon in the strategic T-bone and Pork Chop Hill sector, the scene of violent fighting in recent days.

Frigates Are Turned Over

Tokyo, June 23 (AP)—The United States has turned over several frigates to Japan and crews are being trained to man them, Kyodo News Agency said today. The frigates are the first of 60 small warships to be leased from the U. S. under a recent agreement.

Reds Protest UN Move to Release Korean Civilians

Communist Chief Accuses Allies of Disposing of POWs 'Unilaterally' as 'Cannon Fodder'

Munsan, Korea, June 23 (AP) — United Nations truce negotiators told the Communists today that 27,000 Korean civilians will be freed from UN prison camps starting next month. The Reds protested immediately, and violently.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il accused the Allies of disposing of war prisoners "unilaterally." He said the Communists never have recognized UN reclassification of war prisoners.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison said most of the prisoners to be released were swept into Allied interment camps early in the war and later were found to be South Korean civilians.

He denied Red assertions that the Allies want to keep war prisoners as "cannon fodder."

"The truth is," Harrison said, "that we desire to return the maximum possible number to your side who evidence the slightest willingness to return to your control."

Benedictine Plans $450,000 Mortgage

Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth has approved the petition of Our Lady of Victory Sanitarium of Kingston (Benedictine Hospital), a membership corporation, for leave to mortgage real estate in the sum of $450,000 to meet payments for construction, furnishing and equipment for the new addition to the hospital. George F. Kaufman is attorney for petitioner.

The order of Justice Elsworth approves execution of the mortgage in the sum of $450,000 to the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank of New York, and provides for a regular payment retirement plan.

SS United States Is Given Roaring Welcome in Harbor

Four Destroyers Are Escort for Sleek Vessel at New York

New York, June 23 (AP)—The superliner United States, America's new queen of the passenger sea lanes, was welcomed to her home port of New York today with a throaty symphony of blaring whistles.

Thousands of persons thronged the shores of lower Manhattan as the largest American passenger ship afloat loomed out of the harbar's overcast to the roaring accompaniment of whistles and circling planes.

The 990-foot U. S. Lines liner moved majestically past the Battery at 11:10 a. m. (EST), completing a 500-mile cruise from Newport News, Va., where she was built.

As the huge ship was shepherded up the Hudson river by four sleek destroyers, scores of smaller craft circled crazily around the vessel, buzzing her with their whistles.

The United States moved out to sea from the fog-drenched Virginia harbor early yesterday with 1,300 guests aboard. Among them were top government officials, senators, armed forces officers, shipping officials and newsmen.

Manning put the vessel through her paces yesterday in a smooth 30-minute burst of speed at 33 knots. The average for the entire day's run was 19 knots.

The short and fast performance was better than the 32.08 knots averaged by the British Cunard liner Queen Mary on her best day's run in August, 1938, when it set the world's record for the fastest Atlantic passenger crossing.

Shipping circles expect that the United States, perhaps on its maiden voyage starting July 3, may try to beat the bigger Queen Mary's record.

Sawyer Blasts Warren

While the United States was sailing northward, Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer made a new blast at Comptroller General Lindsay Warren in their dispute over the government subsidy for the United States.

Sawyer in a statement released by his office in Washington said Warren was seeking to create "a public impression that the comptroller general, a knight in white armor, is defending the taxpayers from some nefarious plot to which I and the Maritime Board are parties."

At a press conference aboard the ship Sawyer said he was convinced that "the United States can not expect to get a ship as magnificent as this without paying a substantial premium.

"We are careless with Uncle Sam's money when it comes to other parts of the world," he said. "We spent 350 million dollars on ship subsidies since 1936. In this country we spent about that much in one year to support the price of potatoes. The chances are we spent as much in three years in Europe on ships and ship building as we spent here in 16 years."

Under a contract made with the old Maritime Commission in 1949, the government agreed to pay 42 million dollars toward the cost of the ship. The company paid about 28 millions.

Warren protests that the subsidy was too high, and Sawyer insists that the government had to honor the contract.

President Truman last Friday directed Attorney General McGranery to make an inquiry into the subsidy.

The Sawyer statement yesterday was in the form of a letter to Rep. Shelley (D-Calif.), chairman of a House Merchant Marine subcommittee. Sawyer said Warren made "silly and untrue" statements about the contract in testimony before the group last Tuesday. Sawyer also wrote that if the contract were illegal, he was "anxious" to have that established.

Train, Car Join In Local Mishaps

Four Persons Are Hurt in Four Accidents Over Weekend

Four persons were injured in four city traffic mishaps over the week-end, one of them a collision involving a West Shore passenger train and an automobile.

Police were notified at 11:30 p. m., Sunday that a sedan owned and operated by James V. Bitonte, 54, of 120 Cedar street, was struck by northbound Train No. 3 on the Ten Broeck avenue crossing.

Officers George Dougherty and Francis Loeffler, who investigated, reported that Bitonte was taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment of a head injury and was discharged. They listed George Jacobs, of Union City, N. J., as the engineer of the train.

Falls From Car

Myra Watts, of Glenerie Lake Park, reported to the police at 3:10 p. m., Saturday that Wilbur Delanoy, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Delanoy, of 20 Ann street, fell out of a rear door as she was driving on First avenue near Hooker street.

Th boy was taken to Kingston Hospital for treatment of a scalp laceration, mild concussion and multiple cuts and abrasions of the body, the report said. His condition was reported as "apparently good" at the hospital today.

Jonathan Lown, 3½, of 20 Golf Terrace, was slightly injured in a three-car collision at Washington avenue and Main street at 11 a. m., Sunday.

Herbert F. Lown, father of the injured child, reported to the

Classes for KHS Summer School to Begin on July 1

Registration for summer classes at Kingston High School will be held Monday, June 30, with sessions scheduled to start the following day, Tuesday, July 1, it was announced this morning.

The school will be in session every school day from 8 a. m. until 12 noon, July 1 through August 21. No registrations will be accepted after July 2, it was pointed out.

Purposes of the summer school classes are threefold as announced by the State Education Department:

1—Candidates for entrance to college.

2—Pupils repeating work in which they have failed.

3—Pupils of exceptional ability who wish to shorten their high school course.

High school officials said today that classes cannot be organized in summer school for less than 10 students and as a result pupils are requested to register the first day for their respective classes.

Classes Listed

The following classes will be conducted during the 1952 summer school:

English 2, 3, 4; World History, 11 year social studies, 12 year American History; Algebra, Geometry, Intermediate Algebra, General Science, Health Biology, Chemistry, Physics, Typewriting and driver education.

Subjects not listed above may be offered provided there is a sufficient demand by the pupils interested.

It also was announced today that as usual there will be no tuition charges for high school pupils who live within the boundaries of the city of Kingston. Tuition for

Murray Denies He Made Steel Deal; Gets Assurance

CIO Boss Says T-H Law Won't Work; Labels Inland President 'Liar' on Charge

Gary, Ind., June 23 (AP)—CIO steelworker boss Philip Murray said yesterday that President Truman assured him last December "you need have no fear" of a Taft-Hartley injunction if the union would postpone its scheduled Jan. 1 strike.

And he called Inland Steel President Clarence Randall a "liar" for saying that Murray and Truman had "made a deal."

Murray addressed an audience of 7,500 at a steelworkers rally in this community of 130,000. About 27,000 persons in Gary and adjoining East Chicago earn their livelihood in the steel mills.

Steelworkers have been on strike three weeks, since the U. S. Supreme Court ruled government seizure of the industry illegal. President Truman has not started Taft-Hartley law injunction proceedings to stop it. A pending resolution urging him to do so has passed one House of Congress.

Before an overflow audience including steelworkers, politicians, mayors of the two hard-hit steel towns and Lt. Gov. John Watkins of Indiana, the president of the Steelworkers Union:

1. Accused major steel producers of "a conspiracy" to prolong the steel strike.

Criticized Eisenhower

2. Criticized Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for voicing opinions on the steel strike when "he could hardly know the facts." Murray in particular objected to this remark he attributed to the candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, "why don't they use the Taft-Harley law?"

3. Attacked the industry's re-

Girl Baseball Player Draws Male Ire

Eleanor Engle, 24, former stenographer who has signed a contract to play with the Harrisburg, Pa., Senators in the Interstate League, gets a few pointers on batting from teammates Joe Tuminelli (right) and Ron Esrang. (AP Wirephoto).

Harrisburg, Pa., June 23 (AP)—Pretty Eleanor Engle went back to being a stenographer today to await reaction from horrified but amused males to her attempt to crash organized baseball as a player.

The 24-year-old shapely brunette, although armed with a contract from a minor league team, was certain that baseball diamonds are not a girl's best friend.

Not if the reception to her debut yesterday in the uniform of the Harrisburg Senators of the Class B Interstate League was any indication.

Manager Buck Etchison summed up one side of the male point of view with a firm:

"I won't have a girl playing for me. This is no-woman's land believe me, I mean it."

It started Saturday when club president Dr. Jay Smith announced the signing of Eleanor to a player's contract. So far, no one has disputed that she is the first girl ever signed.

Yesterday Eleanor showed up at the ball park to take batting and fielding practice. She hit a couple of smashes to the infield and took her turn at shortstop and second base.

The rest of her activity was limited to watching the Senators

Baccalaureate Address Given to KHS Graduates

In a stimulating, thought-provoking and scholarly address to the Kingston High School graduates at the Baccalaureate Service last night, the Rev. Dr. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor, Trinity Evangelical Luthern Church, gave the young people much timely advice on how to measure success, what they might expect from life, and how to attain their future goals. Throught his talk, he emphasized the need for service and sacrifice, and the development of a sense of humor.

The invocation was presented by the Rev. John D. Simmons, assistant pastor, St. Joseph's Church, while the Scripture lesson and prayer were given by the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church. The Rev. Burton F. Tarr, St. Paul's Methodist Church, Middletown, concluded the service with Benediction.

Members of the 1952 graduating class and distinguished guests:

On an occasion such as this, one must avoid the temptation of engaging in verbal pyrotechnics. One is lambasted with theories and panaceas up and down the breadth of the land in the thousands of commencement addresses. Often times these forensic exhortations serve as a sedative rather than as an active stimuli to one's thinking.

It has been history's strange way of leading men, not be confused and beclouded thinking, but rather by the simple facts of life. After all, our chief objective is to be the kind of a person that we dream ourselves to be. Each baseball player, a Babe Ruth; each football player, a Jim Thorpe; each chemistry high school student, a Langmuir. With almost maternal overgraciousness, the proud parent says, "someday you'll be president of the United States, my child."

I wish that I could tell you that these dreams will always come true,—but if I did, I would be a Garcia bearing false messages.

Board Asks End of Laws On Material

Presidential Group Is for Purchase of Raw Products Outside U.S. Borders

Home Survey Needed, Report Says—System Is Attacked

Washington, June 23 (AP) — A presidential board today recommended that the United States scrap laws which prevent other nations from selling America the raw materials she needs for war and peace.

The United States should make a cellar-to-attic search—at home and abroad—for sources of materials, said a formal report by the President's Materials Policy Commission.

This country already is unable to supply her own needs, the board said, and by 1975 may be compelled to import one-fifth of the material it consumes. The report recommended that stockpiling be put on a permanent basis.

Seriously Concerned

The commission, after 18 months research, said it is seriously concerned—but not "alarmist"—over the shrinkage of America's natural resources.

In the face of foreseeable demand for the next 25 years, the report said, this shrinkage is a definite threat to the nation's living standards and national security.

The group labelled the high tariff system obsolete and said the Buy-America Act of 1933 is "a relic of depression psychology . . . a self imposed blockade."

It proposed that the government be given power to cancel tariffs whenever the need for a foreign material becomes critical.

Program Advised

Helmstedt, Germany, June 23 (AP)—British soldiers backed up reinforced West German police at a disputed frontier point near here today in a defiance of Communist keep-away orders following the kidnapping of 43 West German workmen.

The workmen, seized yesterday morning by Russian-led East German Volkspolizei (People's Police) as the westerners dismantled a railroad spur, were released without explanation early today. Ten other workers had fled the seizure, escaping without injury under a hail of Red bullets.

The kidnapping occurred at the little hamlet of Hohnsleben, a few miles from Helmstedt, in a 500-yard-deep pocket of territory which was part of the Soviet zone state of Saxon-Anhalt but was given to West Germany when the east-west zonal border was established.

Following yesterday's incident armed Volkspolizei warned the West German border police to stay out of the pocket, but the western police brought up reinforcements and, with a detail of 13 British soldiers, took up their regular patrol at the east-west frontier.

Patrols Not Stopped

The Communists then made no effort to halt the western patrols.

The kidnapped workers said after their release they had not been mistreated but had been exhaustively questioned by Russian officers and the East German police. The men said the Reds claimed they had crossed the zonal frontier, but gave no explanation for releasing them.

British authorities—the area is in the British occupation zone—said they were "considering" the incident but did not disclose what steps they planned to take. It was believed they would protest to the Russians.

U. S. officials also were investigating the foray, which two Russian tommy-gunners led.

The kidnapping was done with surprise and dispatch. As the men worked in the warm June sun, they were surrounded suddenly by

May Use A-Bombs Against Enemy Planes

Washington, June 23 (AP)—A plan to launch small atomic bombs from the air against enemy aircraft was reported under study in high military circles as the key to a revolutionary air defense system of the future.

Air Force Magazine, unofficial but usually well informed, said authorities believe with the addition of this atomic weapon American air defenses can knock down 95 per cent of attacking enemy plans under any conditions.

The magazine said currently the United States can count on destroying no more than five per cent at night or in bad weather.

Reds Protest UN Move to Release Korean Civilians

Communist Chief Accuses Allies of Disposing of POWs 'Unilaterally' as 'Cannon Fodder'

Munsan, Korea, June 23 (AP) — United Nations truce negotiators told the Communists today that 27,000 Korean civilians will be ffeed from UN prison camps starting next month. The Reds protested immediately, and violently.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il accused the Allies of disposing of war prisoners "unilaterally." He said the Communists never have recognized UN reclassification of war prisoners.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison said most of the prisoners to be released were swept into Allied interment camps early in the war and later were found to be South Korean civilians.

He denied Red assertions that the Allies want to keep war prisoners as "cannon fodder."

"The truth is," Harrison said, "that we desire to return the maximum possible number to your side who evidence the slightest willingness to return to your control."

Benedictine Plans $450,000 Mortgage

Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth has approved the petition of Our Lady of Victory Sanitarium of Kingston (Benedictine Hospital), a membership corporation, for leave to mortgage real estate in the sum of $450,000 to meet payments for construction, furnishing and equipment for the new addition to the hospital. George F. Kaufman is attorney for petitioner.

The order of Justice Elsworth approves execution of the mortgage in the sum of $450,000 to the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank of New York, and provides for a regular payment retirement plan.

Strike Tops All Earlier Allied Hits

Planes Count 208 MIGs on Field, None Joins Fight

Seoul, Korea, June 23 (AP)—Five hundred U. S. Navy, Air Force and Marine planes today knocked out five big hydro-electric plants servicing all of North Korea and parts of Manchuria in the biggest single air raid of the Korean war.

All of the targets were on the Korean side of the Yalu river, which divides Korea and Manchuria, navy headquarters in Tokyo said.

A navy spokesman said the targets were "top priority" and preliminary reports indicated the "primary and secondary targets were thoroughly smashed."

Dams Are Pounded

Air force fighter bombers from dozens of land bases and navy planes from the Boxer, Philippines Sea and Princeton pounded the dams and generator plants. Other planes from the carrier Bonhomme Richard flew diversionary strikes in the same area to confuse Red air defenses.

The air force said the 90-minute raid demolished the Suiho hydro-electric plant, which supplies power to Mikden and other industrial areas in Manchuria, plus four other power plants in North Korea.

Col. John D. Nottingham of Houston, Tex., Fifth Air Force public information officer, said carrier planes and land-based marine and air force craft swooped down on the power plants from all directions with rockets and high explosive armor-piercing bombs.

208 Jets Counted

Nottingham said 208 Red MIG-15 jets were counted on the Communist airfield at Antung, Manchuria, within sight of the strikes on Suiho. None of the MIGs challenged the fighter-bombers, which were escorted by F-80 Sabre jets and Navy Panther jets.

The air force spokesman said it was safe to assume there were "no electric lights burning tonight" in the North Korean capital of Pyongyang and that parts of Manchuria were blacked out.

More than half of the more than 500 planes which took part in the raid were American Air Force planes, Nottingham said. All were fighter and fighter bombers. No B-26 or B-29 bombers were used.

Suiho is approximately 30 miles up the Yalu river from Antung. Its power plants furnished all electric power for industrial centers in North Korea, including Pyongyang and Chinnampo, and a considerable area of Manchuria.

Big Land Foray Made

The big air strike followed by one day raids by powerful allied columns of 1,000 to possibly more than 3,000 men into Chinese lines in western Korea. The attacks topped any UN foray into Red territory since last fall.

The biggest raiding force, probably a full regiment, knifed through Red positions northwest of Chorwon, killing or wounding more than 1,000 Communists, the Eighth Army said.

Total Red casualties for the day were 627 killed and 529 wounded, the Army said.

The tank-led column quickly overran advance Communist positions and destroyed fortifications. But as the raiders drove deeper into enemy territory the Reds countered with heavy fire from automatic weapons, mortars and artillery.

Other raiding forces, some of battalion strength, harrassed Chinese troops entrenched west of Chorwon in the strategic T-bone and Pork Chop Hill sector, the scene of violent fighting in recent days.

Girl Baseball Player Draws Male Ire

Eleanor Engle, 24, former stenographer who has signed a contract to play with the Harrisburg, Pa., Senators in the Interstate League, gets a few pointers on batting from teammates Joe Tuminelli (right) and Ron Esrang. (AP Wirephoto).

Harrisburg, Pa., June 23 (AP)—Pretty Eleanor Engle went back to being a stenographer today to await reaction from horrified but amused males to her attempt to crash organized baseball as a player.

The 24-year-old shapely brunette, although armed with a contract from a minor league team, was certain that baseball diamonds are not a girl's best friend.

Not if the reception to her debut yesterday in the uniform of the Harrisburg Senators of the Class B Interstate League was any indication.

Manager Buck Etchison summed up one side of the male point of view with a firm:

"I won't have a girl playing for me. This is no-woman's land believe me, I mean it."

It started Saturday when club president Dr. Jay Smith announced the signing of Eleanor to a player's contract. So far, no one has disputed that she is the first girl ever signed.

Yesterday Eleanor showed up at the ball park to take batting and fielding practice. She hit a couple of smashes to the infield and took her turn at shortstop and second base.

Baccalaureate Address Given to KHS Graduates

In a stimulating, thought-provoking and scholarly address to the Kingston High School graduates at the Baccalaureate Service last night, the Rev. Dr. Frank L. Gollnick, pastor, Trinity Evangelical Luthern Church, gave the young people much timely advice on how to measure success, what they might expect from life, and how to attain their future goals. Throught his talk, he emphasized the need for service and sacrifice, and the development of a sense of humor.

The invocation was presented by the Rev. John D. Simmons, assistant pastor, St. Joseph's Church, while the Scripture lesson and prayer were given by the Rev. J. Dean Dykstra, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church. The Rev. Burton F. Tarr, St. Paul's Methodist Church, Middletown, concluded the service with Benediction.

Members of the 1952 graduating class and distinguished guests: On an occasion such as this, one must avoid the temptation of engaging in verbal pyrotechnics. One is lambasted with theories and panaceas up and down the breadth of the land in the thousands of commencement addresses. Often times these forensic exhortations serve as a sedative rather than as an active stimuli to one's thinking.

It has been history's strange way of leading men, not be confused and beclouded thinking, but rather by the simple facts of life. After all, our chief objective is to be the kind of a person that we dream ourselves to be. Each baseball player, a Babe Ruth; each football player, a Jim Thorpe; each chemistry high school student, a Langmuir. With almost maternal overgraciousness, the proud parent says, "someday you'll be president of the United States, my child."

I wish that I could tell you that these dreams will always come true,—but if I did, I would be a Garcia bearing false messages.

Troopers Unable To Quiz Woman Victim of Attack

Mrs. Emelia Nusca, 52, remained in "poor" condition at St. Francis Hospital in Poughkeepsie during the week-end and has been unable to talk to authorities who are investigating what appeared to be an assault upon her with a hatchet sometime Friday morning, state police reported.

Mrs. Nusca and Samuel Schifano, about 55, were discovered shortly before noon Friday in her apartment on Route 44-55 three miles west of Highland, by state police answering an anonymous telephone tip. Troopers said Mrs. Nusca suffered a deep scalp laceration and the severance of several fingers, and Schifano had several cuts in his chest. A hatchet and a butcher knife were found nearby.

The Ulster County Sheriff's Department is maintaining a 24-hour guard over Schifano, who also is hospitalized at St. Francis, pending the outcome of the investigation.

State police at Highland said there was nothing further to report on the case this morning.

Train, Car Join

police that his car was involved in a collision with a car operated by Clarence Stickles, of Holiday avenue, and the latter was forced into another vehicle, which had stopped at the intersection.

The child suffered bruises of the upper lip and Stickles was thrown against the steering wheel, the report said, but it indicated the latter suffered no serious effects of the mishap.

Car Hits Tree

Mrs. Charles Edward Joy, of 24 Hone street, was injured early Sunday when a sedan owned and operated by her husband struck a tree near 195 East Chester street.

The police report at 1:19 a. m., by Officers Myer Levy and John Ten Eyck, said the car hit the tree "when a front wheel collapsed."

Police investigated another mishap at 10:20 p. m., Saturday in front of the city hall, but said no injuries were reported. A car operated by Edward Hinkley, of 25 Prince street, headed north on Broadway, had stopped in a line of traffic and was struck in the rear by a sedan owned and operated by Fred Arthur Storms, Jr., of the Bath and Tennis Club, Palm Beach, Fla., the report said. The latter car, damaged in the front, was towed from the scene.

Damaged Shrubs, Signs

Robert Van Vlack, 26, of 76 North Clinton street, Poughkeepsie, was fined $25 by Justice of the Peace William J. Upright of Highland on a charge that he left the scene of an accident Sunday morning in which shrubbery and signs at the Highland traffic circle were damaged, state police reported. Troopers alleged that Van Vlack was the driver of an automobile that failed to make a right turn at the circle and drove through the shrubs, knocking down four signs. The accident occurred at 3:10 a. m. Sunday, troopers said. No personal injuries were reported.

May Be in First Place

Rome, June 23 (AP)—There were hints today that Pietro Secchia, until now generally considered the No. 2 Italian Communist leader, may have been moved up to first place. L'Unita, the official party organ, today capitalized Secchia's name in a front-page article which used small type (lower case) for the name of Palmiro Togliatti, the No. 1 man. Secchia's name also was featured in a five-column headline and his photograph published prominently. Togliatti was almost ignored.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Thomas C. Browne

Mrs. DeLacey Browne, wife of Thomas C. Browne of 127 O'Neil street, died in this city early Sunday morning. Funeral services will be held at the parlors of A. Carr and Son, 1 Pearl street, Tuesday at 2 p. m., with burial in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

J. Arthur Lenker

J. Arthur Lenker of West Palm Beach, Fla., died suddenly Friday at Harrisburg, Pa. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Stokes; a grandson of Charlotte, N. C., a sister, Margaret C. Lenker, Harrisburg, Pa., and a brother, LeRoy C. Lenker, Kingston. The funeral and burial services will be held Tuesday in Harrisburg, Pa. Mr. Lenker's father, Daniel L. Lenker, died June 10.

Stephen Geczi

Stephen Geczi of Margaretville died in this city Saturday after a long illness. His only survivor is a sister in Hungary. His wife, Tessie Geczi, died about 30 years ago. He was employed by the Old Ulster and Delaware Railroad until his retirement. The funeral will be held from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, Tuesday at 9 o'clock and at 9:30 at St. Joseph's Church, where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in Holy Trinity Cemetery in Brooklyn Wednesday. Friends may call at the chapel at any time.

David Wood

David Wood of 11 Meadow street died Saturday in Veterans Hospital, Albany, after a long illness. He is survived by his wife, Lottie Harnen Wood; a son, David Wood; a daughter, Anna Mae Wood; and four brothers, Amedy, Alfred, Freeman and Samuel Wood, all of Kingston, and a nephew, Samuel Wood. He was a chauffeur for A. H. Gildersleeve and Son, Inc., and was highly regarded. A veteran of World War 2 he served for 18 months in the U.S. Army. He was a member of the 729th Pioneer Infantry in the European and African Middle East Campaign, and also served with the U.S. Army of Occupation. The funeral will be held from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, Wednesday at 3 a. m., and at 9:30 at St. Mary's Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery. Friends may call at the chapel at any time.

Reds Protest UN

gress toward solving the last key problem barring a Korean armistice—exchange of prisoners.

They did agree to meet again tomorrow at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. EST Monday).

Protest Predicted

Observers predicted the Communists will protest then the UN command announcement that 45,000 prisoners on Koje Island are being screened to learn if they will resist repatriation.

All of the 45,000 are among 70,000 the allies already have listed as wanting to return home, although they had not been screened individually. Another 100,000 who said they would resist repatriation will not be rescreened.

Internees Are Screened

Koje Island, Korea, June 23 (AP)—The United Nations command today screened 4,000 North Korean civilian internees on whether they wished to return to their Communist homeland in event of an armistice.

The screening took place without incident in a tent inside a compound. Plans are to screen about 4,000 daily until 45,000 have been questioned.

The 45,000 have been counted by the UN command among the 70,000 POWs they say want to be repatriated. About 100,000 captured Reds have said they would resist repatriation.

Results of the latest screening will be announced after the Reds' truce negotiators have been given the figures.

Funeral Is Arranged

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Funeral services will be held Wednesday for James W. Wadsworth, 74, former senator and representative who sponsored pre-World War II draft legislation and headed the commission which drew up the proposed Universal Military Training program. He died of cancer in Emergency Hospital Saturday night after a long illness. A Republican from western New York state, Wadsworth was active throughout his coreer in building the nation's defenses.

Manila Is Flooded

Manila, June 23 (AP)—Parts of Manila were under one to two feet of water today from heavy rains in the wake of a tropical storm. Weathermen said the storm, which skirted the northeast Philippines, has intensified into an 86-mile per hour typhoon near the southern Ryuku Islands. It is moving northeast in the direction of Okinawa at 14 miles an hour.

'Gun' Turns Out To Be Cap Pistol

Two local men drove into an uptown gas station early Sunday and while there had an argument with a third man, who, they told police "pulled a gun on them."

This was at 12:30 a. m., and supplied with a description of the car and a license number, police began the hunt.

At 1:27 a. m., police headquarters was notified that the car, man and gun—a blue cap pistol—had been located by Officers George Loughran and Francis Loeffler. The complainants made no charges.

Scores Useless Spending

Buffalo, N. Y., June 23 (AP)—John Foster Dulles says that never in our history has America had so little good will abroad—"this despite the fact that we have given or lent to other peoples 40 billion dollars during the post-war period." The chief advisor on foreign affairs to the Republican convention platform committee lashed out here Saturday at the Truman Administration's idea of containing communism. 'We have acted belatedly and inadequately, merely as a response to Soviet pressures," he declared. "We have been trying to plug a hole here, to stop a gap there, always awaiting bad news before we acted."

Athlete, 17, Dies

New York, June 23 (AP)—Johnny Yuha, 17-year-old Pennsylvania schoolboy athlete, died yesterday at the end of a seven-month battle against injuries suffered in a football game last Nov. 3. The youth had fought stoutly to recover from a broken neck and two fractured vertebrae, which left him paralyzed from the neck down. But on Saturday he took a sudden turn for the worse. His wodowed mother, Mrs. Mary Yuha, of Coal River, Pa., and two brothers were at New York University-Bellevue Medical Center when he died there. They were accompanied by his football coach, Ray Phillips.

Ewing Asks for Law

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Oscar R. Ewing asked Congress today to enact a law to provide feredal funds to help boys and girls go to college. Ewing, who is head of the Federal Security Agency, said he had President Truman's authorization "to transmit to Congress a student aid bill to provide educational opportunity for those barred from attending our colleges by economic roadblocks." The program would cost 32 million dollars in its first year and would increase annually until it reached a total of 128 millions per year.

First Summons Issued

Local police today issued the first summons under the city's new traffic bureau system. It was for a parking meter violation. Those arrested now on most traffic charges will not be required to accompany an officer immediately to police headquarters for a booking, but may appear at a later time. Tickets for parking violations may be mailed with fines.

Produce Scattered

Vegetables and other produce were scattered along the highway when a truck bounded off an embankment along Route 9W five miles north of Kingston, crossed the road and went through a wooden fence at 6 a. m. today, state police reported. The driver Anthony Toma, 26, of Mt. Rega avenue, Troy-Schenectady road, was reported not injured.

Motorist Fined $10

Herbert Bolde, 24, of Rosendale, was fined $10 on each of two motor vehicle law charges when he was arraigned Sunday before Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky following his arrest in Rosendale by Constable Robert Huben. He was charged with driving an unregistered motor vehicle and with being an unlicensed operator.

Ellenville Man Out On Bail in Still Case

Arraigned Saturday noon on a charge of possession of an unlicensed still, Harry Nathan Perl, 44, of Ellenville was released on $500 bail for a hearing Friday, June 27, at 10 a. m. before U. S. Commissioner Martin F. Comeau at his office in Kingston.

Perl was represented by Attorney Joseph Kooperman of Ellenville.

State police of Ellenville and Alcohol Tax Unit men made the arrest on Friday after troopers claimed they stopped Perl for a traffic infraction and discovered a quantity of alcohol in his automobile. The resulting investigation uncovered a small still and 500 gallons of mash on Perl's property on Route 52 between Ellenville and Greenfield Park, troopers alleged.

Louis Braille Honored

Paris, June 23 (AP)—Louis Braille, who made it possible for the blind to read, was given a place among France's honored dead in the Pantheon yesterday, a century after his death. A procession of the blind with white canes marched behind his coffin on its way to the high-domed church where many of France's honored dead rest. A military band played music and churches along the route tolled their bells. Braille is remembered the world over for his alphabet of dots pressed into paper by which the blind can identify letters by touch. Since his death in 1852, he had been buried in a small cemetery near Paris at Coupvray. The reinterment was part of the centennial celebration.

Ceilings Are Removed

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Price ceilings have been removed from package and bulk whiskey and wine. But since they are selling far below ceilings, the government doesn't expect this action to bring any price changes. The same forecast was made by the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) yesterday in lifting ceilings from many cotton drygoods, hides and leather, and burlap and cotton bags.

Will Cancel Reservations

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Starting July 1, airlines will cancel reservations unless passengers reconfirm them at least six hours before flight time. The airlines, announcing this yesterday, said the action was taken because too many persons do not show up to claim reservations and planes have to leave with empty seats.

One Killed in Fight

Mexico City, June 23 (AP)—One dead and five wounded men were brought to local hospitals last night and the wounded reported they had been in a political fight between Mexico City and Pachuca, 56 miles northeast of here. Hospital authorities said the condition of the men was too serious for them to give further details.

Birds Build in Planes

London, June 23 (AP)—The fashionable bird about town is building her nest in aircraft this year, and engineers at London Airport now have to board up planes taken to the hangars for overhaul. "There are plenty of trees around the airport, but birds of all kinds seem to prefer planes," one engineer said.

Bears Invade Valleys

Brescia, Italy, June 23 (AP)—Two shepherds complained to police last night of a brown bear invasion of mountain valleys in the Alps north of here. They said the bears—rare in Europe now—appeared in unusual numbers, attacking floocks and killing 11 sheep and two goats.

Reports Car Taken

James Johnson, R. D., Kingston, reported to police at 1:10 p. m., Saturday that his car had been taken from the Main street parking lot between 2 a. m., that date and the time of the report. Police had received no further word of the theft today.

Porcupine Destroyed

A resident of St. James Court reported at 3:17 a. m., today that he had a porcupine corned in his driveway. Officers George Loughran and Francis Loeffler, were dispatched there and reported they had "destroyed" the animal.

Reports Fire in Car

The East Kingston Fire Department was summoned at 8:15 a. m. for a fire in the automobile of Kenneth Boughton of Gage street, which was parked at the East Kingston Brick Company. Fire Chief James Costello said the upholstry of the vehicle was damaged.

Says Fight Is On

New York, June 23 (AP)—Murray Goodman, spokesman for the International Boxing Club, said at 10 a. m., EST, that "tonight's outdoor fight between Joey Maxim and Ray (Sugar) Robinson is on." The sky was overcast at the time and the weather prediction was for scattered showers this afternoon and tonight. Goodman said that unless New York was visited by a storm, no decision would be made until 6 p. m., EST.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The position of the treasury June 19, 1952: Net budget receipts $774,557,910.02. Budget expenditures $306,518,251.80. Cash balance $5,565,237,995.27. Customs receipts for month $30,555,063.19. Budget receipts fiscal year July 1 $57,042,776,370.60. Budget expenditures fiscal year $63,371,885,191.43. Budget deficit $6,329,108,820.83. Total debt $259,363,800,882.35. Increase over previous day $26,856,619.55. Gold assets $23,296,178,361.32.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 23 (AP)—Railroads provided all of the strength today in an otherwise narrowly mixed stock market.

Santa Fe was active with a gain of between 1 and 2 points as the leader of the railroad division. Elsewhere throughout the list price changes spread over a range of a little more than a point either way.

In the unchanged to slightly lower classification were steels, motors, distillers, a great many chemicals, and building materials.

Standing on the higher side were oils, rubbers, and air lines. Other sections were mixed.

Trading progressed at a fairly good rate, but there was no evidence of a build-up in either buying enthusiasm or selling pressure.

Higher stocks included Southern Railway, Cities Service, American Airlines, Westinghouse Electric, and Goodrich. Lower were Bethlehem Steel, Studebaker, Phelps Dodge, and American Cyanamid.

Farley Predicts Deadlock

Washington, June 23 (AP)—In James A. Farley's opinion, a convention deadlock may prevent any of the currently active candidates from winning the Democratic presidential nomination. But the onetime Democratic national chairman thinks the Republicans will be able to make a choice between Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Auto Crash Kills One, Injures Three Others

Poughkeepsie, June 23 (AP)—An automobile crash Saturday midnight in the Town of Poughkeepsie killed 24-year-old Miss Muriel Swed, of La Grangeville, and seriously injured three other persons.

Police said the auto, driven by Allen Gold, 23, of La Grangeville, failed to make a turn and crashed into a tree.

Beside Gold, the other injured are Jessica Swed, 18, sister of the dead woman, and Henry J. Kozlack, 26, of Poughkeepsie.

Murray Denies He

luctance to give the union's 650,000 striking members a union shop.

4. Said it would be "unjust to expect the steelworkers to undergo an 80-day strike injunction under the Taft-Hartley law since they have already delayed the original strike 153 days on the request of the President."

5. Did not say what the union's position would be if the Taft-Hartley law were invoked. But he remarked, "the Taft-Hartley law does not manufacture steel."

Victory Is Predicted

6. Predicted the steelworkers will win the strike regardless of "what kind of suppressive weapon may be used against you."

Murray's speech was broadcast over a six-station network covering Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana.

Signs reading, "The Taft-Hartley Act Won't Produce Steel," and "We Won't Work Under the Taft-Hartley Act" were visible in the hall.

The bald, ruddy labor leader was bitter in his denunciation of Randall. He accused the steel executive of "deliberately lying" in saying Murray and Truman "made a deal." Murray said he "had more respect for the office of president than try to do such a thing."

Further, said Murray, when Randall later denied making such a statement, "I called him a liar again."

Suicides Are Reported

Hong Kong, June 23 (AP)—A Hong Kong newspaper said today three or four persons are committing suicide every day in this British colony because of unemployment and financial difficulties. The Chinese-owned English language Hong Kong Standard said the figures came from its own survey. Hong Kong's economy has suffered from the western blockade of strategic materials to Red China.

Donnaruma Will Oppose Wharton

Walter Donnaruma, local insurance man, was selected recently by Democratic committee chairmen of the 30th Congressional district as the designated candidate for Congress.

Donnaruma, it was announced, was selected Friday at a dinner meeting of the Columbia county committee at Hudson. If nominated in the primary, he will oppose Representative J. Ernest Wharton (R-30th Congressional district) who has been endorsed by the Dutchess County Republican committee.

An active local Democrat for many years, Donnaruma served in the Common Council several years ago.

Robert Livingston, Columbia county chairman, said the candidate for state senate from the district will be from Columbia county.

The dinner at Hudson was in honor of Fred Holsapple, of Copake, former member of the State Democratic Committee. Among the speakers were Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., who spoke in support of Averill Harriman as the party's choice for president, and Paul V. Fitzpatrick, chairman of the State Democratic Committee, who spoke on the recent convention of young Democrats.

Bank Teller Arraigned

Los Angeles, June 23 (AP)—A Brooklyn, N. Y., bank teller was to be arraigned today before a U. S. commissioner on a charge of embezzling $38,224.06 from his bank. The teller, Martin Gilbert Olsen, 37, was arrested at a downtown hotel here Saturday by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents. They quoted him as saying he spent $10,000 of the money on a cross-country binge while entertaining women. The teller told the FBI he still had $22,000 left of the cash which was missed by the Chemical Bank and Trust Co. last Jan. 29. That was the day Olsen disappeared from that bank. Olsen is married and the father of two children. He was last seen at the bank as he walked out the front door carrying a shopping bag. Olsen told FBI agents it was stuffed with money.

Offers Are Rejected

Tunis, Tunisia, June 23 (AP)—Tunisian Nationalists rejected today French offers of reforms in the protectorate's administration and called instead for an international conference to settle this North African dispute. A Nationalist resolution, adopted at a meeting this morning, called for settling Tunisian issues "under terms of the charter of the United Nations."

Troopers Unable To Quiz Woman Victim of Attack

Mrs. Emelia Nusca, 52, remained in "poor" condition at St. Francis Hospital in Poughkeepsie during the week-end and has been unable to talk to authorities who are investigating what appeared to be an assault upon her with a hatchet sometime Friday morning, state police reported.

Mrs. Nusca and Samuel Schifano, about 55, were discovered shortly before noon Friday in her apartment on Route 44-55 three miles west of Highland, by state police answering an anonymous telephone tip. Troopers said Mrs. Nusca suffered a deep scalp laceration and the severance of several fingers, and Schifano had several cuts in his chest. A hatchet and a butcher knife were found nearby.

The Ulster County Sheriff's Department is maintaining a 24-hour guard over Schifano, who also is hospitalized at St. Francis, pending the outcome of the investigation.

State police at Highland said there was nothing further to report on the case this morning.

Train, Car Join

police that his car was involved in a collision with a car operated by Clarence Stickles, of Holiday avenue, and the latter was forced into another vehicle, which had stopped at the intersection.

The child suffered bruises of the upper lip and Stickles was thrown against the steering wheel, the report said, but it indicated the latter suffered no serious effects of the mishap.

Car Hits Tree

Mrs. Charles Edward Joy, of 24 Hone street, was injured early Sunday when a sedan owned and operated by her husband struck a tree near 195 East Chester street.

The police report at 1:19 a. m., by Officers Myer Levy and John Ten Eyck, said the car hit the tree "when a front wheel collapsed."

Police investigated another mishap at 10:20 p. m., Saturday in front of the city hall, but said no injuries were reported. A car operated by Edward Hinkley, of 25 Prince street, headed north on Broadway, had stopped in a line of traffic and was struck in the rear by a sedan owned and operated by Fred Arthur Storms, Jr., of the Bath and Tennis Club, Palm Beach, Fla., the report said. The latter car, damaged in the front, was towed from the scene.

Damaged Shrubs, Signs

Robert Van Vlack, 26, of 76 North Clinton street, Poughkeepsie, was fined $25 by Justice of the Peace William J. Upright of Highland on a charge that he left the scene of an accident Sunday morning in which shrubbery and signs at the Highland traffic circle were damaged, state police reported. Troopers alleged that Van Vlack was the driver of an automobile that failed to make a right turn at the circle and drove through the shrubs, knocking down four signs. The accident occurred at 3:10 a. m. Sunday, troopers said. No personal injuries were reported.

May Be in First Place

Rome, June 23 (AP)—There were hints today that Pietro Secchia, until now generally considered the No. 2 Italian Communist leader, may have been moved up to first place. L'Unita, the official party organ, today capitalized Secchia's name in a front-page article which used small type (lower case) for the name of Palmiro Togliatti, the No. 1 man. Secchia's name also was featured in a five-column headline and his photograph published prominently. Togliatti was almost ignored.

Local Death Record

Mrs. Thomas C. Browne

Mrs. DeLacey Browne, wife of Thomas C. Browne of 127 O'Neil street, died in this city early Sunday morning. Funeral services will be held at the parlors of A. Carr and Son, 1 Pearl street, Tuesday at 2 p. m., with burial in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

J. Arthur Lenker

J. Arthur Lenker of West Palm Beach, Fla., died suddenly Friday at Harrisburg, Pa. He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Stokes; a grandson of Charlotte, N. C., a sister, Margaret C. Lenker, Harrisburg, Pa., and a brother, LeRoy C. Lenker, Kingston. The funeral and burial services will be held Tuesday in Harrisburg, Pa. Mr. Lenker's father, Daniel L. Lenker, died June 10.

Stephen Geczi

Stephen Geczi of Margaretville died in this city Saturday after a long illness. His only survivor is a sister in Hungary. His wife, Tessie Geczi, died about 30 years ago. He was employed by the Old Ulster and Delaware Railroad until his retirement. The funeral will be held from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, Tuesday at 9 o'clock and at 9:30 at St. Joseph's Church, where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in Holy Trinity Cemetery in Brooklyn Wednesday. Friends may call at the chapel at any time.

David Wood

David Wood of 11 Meadow street died Saturday in Veterans Hospital, Albany, after a long illness. He is survived by his wife, Lottie Harnen Wood; a son, David Wood; a daughter, Anna Mae Wood; and four brothers, Amedy, Alfred, Freeman and Samuel Wood, all of Kingston, and a nephew, Samuel Wood. He was a chauffeur for A. H. Gildersleeve and Son, Inc., and was highly regarded. A veteran of World War 2 he served for 18 months in the U.S. Army. He was a member of the 729th Pioneer Infantry in the European and African Middle East Campaign, and also served with the U.S. Army of Occupation. The funeral will be held from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, Wednesday at 3 a. m., and at 9:30 at St. Mary's Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery. Friends may call at the chapel at any time.

Reds Protest UN

gress toward solving the last key problem barring a Korean armistice—exchange of prisoners.

They did agree to meet again tomorrow at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. EST Monday).

Protest Predicted

Observers predicted the Communists will protest then the UN command announcement that 45,000 prisoners on Koje Island are being screened to learn if they will resist repatriation.

All of the 45,000 are among 70,000 the allies already have listed as wanting to return home, although they had not been screened individually. Another 100,000 who said they would resist repatriation will not be rescreened.

Internees Are Screened

Koje Island, Korea, June 23 (AP)—The United Nations command today screened 4,000 North Korean civilian internees on whether they wished to return to their Communist homeland in event of an armistice.

The screening took place without incident in a tent inside a compound. Plans are to screen about 4,000 daily until 45,000 have been questioned.

The 45,000 have been counted by the UN command among the 70,000 POWs they say want to be repatriated. About 100,000 captured Reds have said they would resist repatriation.

Results of the latest screening will be announced after the Reds' truce negotiators have been given the figures.

Funeral Is Arranged

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Funeral services will be held Wednesday for James W. Wadsworth, 74, former senator and representative who sponsored pre-World War II draft legislation and headed the commission which drew up the proposed Universal Military Training program. He died of cancer in Emergency Hospital Saturday night after a long illness. A Republican from western New York state, Wadsworth was active throughout his coreer in building the nation's defenses.

Manila Is Flooded

Manila, June 23 (AP)—Parts of Manila were under one to two feet of water today from heavy rains in the wake of a tropical storm. Weathermen said the storm, which skirted the northeast Philippines, has intensified into an 86-mile per hour typhoon near the southern Ryuku Islands. It is moving northeast in the direction of Okinawa at 14 miles an hour.

'Gun' Turns Out To Be Cap Pistol

Two local men drove into an uptown gas station early Sunday and while there had an argument with a third man, who, they told police "pulled a gun on them."

This was at 12:30 a. m., and supplied with a description of the car and a license number, police began the hunt.

At 1:27 a. m., police headquarters was notified that the car, man and gun—a blue cap pistol—had been located by Officers George Loughran and Francis Loeffler. The complainants made no charges.

Scores Useless Spending

Buffalo, N. Y., June 23 (AP)—John Foster Dulles says that never in our history has America had so little good will abroad—"this despite the fact that we have given or lent to other peoples 40 billion dollars during the post-war period." The chief advisor on foreign affairs to the Republican convention platform committee lashed out here Saturday at the Truman Administration's idea of containing communism. 'We have acted belatedly and inadequately, merely as a response to Soviet pressures," he declared. "We have been trying to plug a hole here, to stop a gap there, always awaiting bad news before we acted."

Athlete, 17, Dies

New York, June 23 (AP)—Johnny Yuha, 17-year-old Pennsylvania schoolboy athlete, died yesterday at the end of a seven-month battle against injuries suffered in a football game last Nov. 3. The youth had fought stoutly to recover from a broken neck and two fractured vertebrae, which left him paralyzed from the neck down. But on Saturday he took a sudden turn for the worse. His wodowed mother, Mrs. Mary Yuha, of Coal River, Pa., and two brothers were at New York University-Bellevue Medical Center when he died there. They were accompanied by his football coach, Ray Phillips.

Ewing Asks for Law

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Oscar R. Ewing asked Congress today to enact a law to provide feredal funds to help boys and girls go to college. Ewing, who is head of the Federal Security Agency, said he had President Truman's authorization "to transmit to Congress a student aid bill to provide educational opportunity for those barred from attending our colleges by economic roadblocks." The program would cost 32 million dollars in its first year and would increase annually until it reached a total of 128 millions per year.

First Summons Issued

Local police today issued the first summons under the city's new traffic bureau system. It was for a parking meter violation. Those arrested now on most traffic charges will not be required to accompany an officer immediately to police headquarters for a booking, but may appear at a later time. Tickets for parking violations may be mailed with fines.

Produce Scattered

Vegetables and other produce were scattered along the highway when a truck bounded off an embankment along Route 9W five miles north of Kingston, crossed the road and went through a wooden fence at 6 a. m. today, state police reported. The driver Anthony Toma, 26, of Mt. Rega avenue, Troy-Schenectady road, was reported not injured.

Motorist Fined $10

Herbert Bolde, 24, of Rosendale, was fined $10 on each of two motor vehicle law charges when he was arraigned Sunday before Justice of the Peace Edward Brodsky following his arrest in Rosendale by Constable Robert Huben. He was charged with driving an unregistered motor vehicle and with being an unlicensed operator.

Bar Group to Meet

The annual meeting of the Ulster County Bar Association will be held Thursday at the court house at 1:30 p. m. Following the election of officers members will hold their usual outing with a dinner at 6:30 p. m. at the Twaalfskill Club.

The Joiners

News of Interest to Fraternal Organizations

The regular meeting of Colonial Rebekah Lodge, 48, will be held tonight. A public card party will follow the meeting at 8:15 o'clock. Each member is asked to bring a gift. All are invited. Refreshments will be served.

The regular meeting of the Craftsmen's Club of Kingston Lodge 10, F. & A. M., will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in Masonic Temple. Final reports of the minstrel show will be given; arrangements for the picnic at Glenerie made, and refreshments served.

Ellenville Man Out On Bail in Still Case

Arraigned Saturday noon on a charge of possession of an unlicensed still, Harry Nathan Perl, 44, of Ellenville was released on $500 bail for a hearing Friday, June 27, at 10 a. m. before U. S. Commissioner Martin F. Comeau at his office in Kingston.

Perl was represented by Attorney Joseph Kooperman of Ellenville.

State police of Ellenville and Alcohol Tax Unit men made the arrest on Friday after troopers claimed they stopped Perl for a traffic infraction and discovered a quantity of alcohol in his automobile. The resulting investigation uncovered a small still and 500 gallons of mash on Perl's property on Route 52 between Ellenville and Greenfield Park, troopers alleged.

Louis Braille Honored

Paris, June 23 (AP)—Louis Braille, who made it possible for the blind to read, was given a place among France's honored dead in the Pantheon yesterday, a century after his death. A procession of the blind with white canes marched behind his coffin on its way to the high-domed church where many of France's honored dead rest. A military band played music and churches along the route tolled their bells. Braille is remembered the world over for his alphabet of dots pressed into paper by which the blind can identify letters by touch. Since his death in 1852, he had been buried in a small cemetery near Paris at Coupvray. The reinterment was part of the centennial celebration.

Ceilings Are Removed

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Price ceilings have been removed from package and bulk whiskey and wine. But since they are selling far below ceilings, the government doesn't expect this action to bring any price changes. The same forecast was made by the Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) yesterday in lifting ceilings from many cotton drygoods, hides and leather, and burlap and cotton bags.

Will Cancel Reservations

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Starting July 1, airlines will cancel reservations unless passengers reconfirm them at least six hours before flight time. The airlines, announcing this yesterday, said the action was taken because too many persons do not show up to claim reservations and planes have to leave with empty seats.

One Killed in Fight

Mexico City, June 23 (AP)—One dead and five wounded men were brought to local hospitals last night and the wounded reported they had been in a political fight between Mexico City and Pachuca, 56 miles northeast of here. Hospital authorities said the condition of the men was too serious for them to give further details.

Birds Build in Planes

London, June 23 (AP)—The fashionable bird about town is building her nest in aircraft this year, and engineers at London Airport now have to board up planes taken to the hangars for overhaul. "There are plenty of trees around the airport, but birds of all kinds seem to prefer planes," one engineer said.

Bears Invade Valleys

Brescia, Italy, June 23 (AP)—Two shepherds complained to police last night of a brown bear invasion of mountain valleys in the Alps north of here. They said the bears—rare in Europe now—appeared in unusual numbers, attacking floocks and killing 11 sheep and two goats.

Reports Car Taken

James Johnson, R. D., Kingston, reported to police at 1:10 p. m., Saturday that his car had been taken from the Main street parking lot between 2 a. m., that date and the time of the report. Police had received no further word of the theft today.

Porcupine Destroyed

A resident of St. James Court reported at 3:17 a. m., today that he had a porcupine corned in his driveway. Officers George Loughran and Francis Loeffler, were dispatched there and reported they had "destroyed" the animal.

Reports Fire in Car

The East Kingston Fire Department was summoned at 8:15 a. m. for a fire in the automobile of Kenneth Boughton of Gage street, which was parked at the East Kingston Brick Company. Fire Chief James Costello said the upholstry of the vehicle was damaged.

Says Fight Is On

New York, June 23 (AP)—Murray Goodman, spokesman for the International Boxing Club, said at 10 a. m., EST, that "tonight's outdoor fight between Joey Maxim and Ray (Sugar) Robinson is on." The sky was overcast at the time and the weather prediction was for scattered showers this afternoon and tonight. Goodman said that unless New York was visited by a storm, no decision would be made until 6 p. m., EST.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, June 23 (AP)—The position of the treasury June 19, 1952: Net budget receipts $774,557,910.02. Budget expenditures $306,518,251.80. Cash balance $5,565,237,995.27. Customs receipts for month $30,555,063.19. Budget receipts fiscal year July 1 $57,042,776,370.60. Budget expenditures fiscal year $63,371,885,191.43. Budget deficit $6,329,108,820.83. Total debt $259,363,800,882.35. Increase over previous day $26,856,619.55. Gold assets $23,296,178,361.32.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 23 (AP)—Railroads provided all of the strength today in an otherwise narrowly mixed stock market.

Santa Fe was active with a gain of between 1 and 2 points as the leader of the railroad division. Elsewhere throughout the list price changes spread over a range of a little more than a point either way.

In the unchanged to slightly lower classification were steels, motors, distillers, a great many chemicals, and building materials.

Standing on the higher side were oils, rubbers, and air lines. Other sections were mixed.

Trading progressed at a fairly good rate, but there was no evidence of a build-up in either buying enthusiasm or selling pressure.

Higher stocks included Southern Railway, Cities Service, American Airlines, Westinghouse Electric, and Goodrich. Lower were Bethlehem Steel, Studebaker, Phelps Dodge, and American Cyanamid.

Farley Predicts Deadlock

Washington, June 23 (AP)—In James A. Farley's opinion, a convention deadlock may prevent any of the currently active candidates from winning the Democratic presidential nomination. But the onetime Democratic national chairman thinks the Republicans will be able to make a choice between Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Auto Crash Kills One, Injures Three Others

Poughkeepsie, June 23 (AP)—An automobile crash Saturday midnight in the Town of Poughkeepsie killed 24-year-old Miss Muriel Swed, of La Grangeville, and seriously injured three other persons.

Police said the auto, driven by Allen Gold, 23, of La Grangeville, failed to make a turn and crashed into a tree.

Beside Gold, the other injured are Jessica Swed, 18, sister of the dead woman, and Henry J. Kozlack, 26, of Poughkeepsie.

Murray Denies He

luctance to give the union's 650,000 striking members a union shop.

4. Said it would be "unjust to expect the steelworkers to undergo an 80-day strike injunction under the Taft-Hartley law since they have already delayed the original strike 153 days on the request of the President."

5. Did not say what the union's position would be if the Taft-Hartley law were invoked. But he remarked, "the Taft-Hartley law does not manufacture steel."

Victory Is Predicted

6. Predicted the steelworkers will win the strike regardless of "what kind of suppressive weapon may be used against you."

Murray's speech was broadcast over a six-station network covering Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana.

Signs reading, "The Taft-Hartley Act Won't Produce Steel," and "We Won't Work Under the Taft-Hartley Act" were visible in the hall.

The bald, ruddy labor leader was bitter in his denunciation of Randall. He accused the steel executive of "deliberately lying" in saying Murray and Truman "made a deal." Murray said he "had more respect for the office of president than try to do such a thing."

Further, said Murray, when Randall later denied making such a statement, "I called him a liar again."

Suicides Are Reported

Hong Kong, June 23 (AP)—A Hong Kong newspaper said today three or four persons are committing suicide every day in this British colony because of unemployment and financial difficulties. The Chinese-owned English language Hong Kong Standard said the figures came from its own survey. Hong Kong's economy has suffered from the western blockade of strategic materials to Red China.

Donnaruma Will Oppose Wharton

Walter Donnaruma, local insurance man, was selected recently by Democratic committee chairmen of the 30th Congressional district as the designated candidate for Congress.

Donnaruma, it was announced, was selected Friday at a dinner meeting of the Columbia county committee at Hudson. If nominated in the primary, he will oppose Representative J. Ernest Wharton (R-30th Congressional district) who has been endorsed by the Dutchess County Republican committee.

An active local Democrat for many years, Donnaruma served in the Common Council several years ago.

Robert Livingston, Columbia county chairman, said the candidate for state senate from the district will be from Columbia county.

The dinner at Hudson was in honor of Fred Holsapple, of Copake, former member of the State Democratic Committee. Among the speakers were Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., who spoke in support of Averill Harriman as the party's choice for president, and Paul V. Fitzpatrick, chairman of the State Democratic Committee, who spoke on the recent convention of young Democrats.

Bank Teller Arraigned

Los Angeles, June 23 (AP)—A Brooklyn, N. Y., bank teller was to be arraigned today before a U. S. commissioner on a charge of embezzling $38,224.06 from his bank. The teller, Martin Gilbert Olsen, 37, was arrested at a downtown hotel here Saturday by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents. They quoted him as saying he spent $10,000 of the money on a cross-country binge while entertaining women. The teller told the FBI he still had $22,000 left of the cash which was missed by the Chemical Bank and Trust Co. last Jan. 29. That was the day Olsen disappeared from that bank. Olsen is married and the father of two children. He was last seen at the bank as he walked out the front door carrying a shopping bag. Olsen told FBI agents it was stuffed with money.

Offers Are Rejected

Tunis, Tunisia, June 23 (AP)—Tunisian Nationalists rejected today French offers of reforms in the protectorate's administration and called instead for an international conference to settle this North African dispute. A Nationalist resolution, adopted at a meeting this morning, called for settling Tunisian issues "under terms of the charter of the United Nations."

Rudisch Renamed Optometrist Head

S. Rudisch, local optometrist, was reelected for the third consecutive year as president of the Hudson Valley Optometric Society during a recent meeting at the Palatine Hotel in Newburgh.

Other officers are R. Frankel, Beacon, vice-president; and Philip Moselle, Poughkeepsie, secretary-treasurer.

Two other Kingston optometrists, Harry R. LeFever and Harry Pitts, were honored with certificates and life memberships in the society for their "many years of faithful service and untiring devotion to organized optometry."

Tribute to Stern

Out of respect and as a tribute to Samuel Stern, who recently died, the assembled guests and members stood at a minute's silence. A posthumous award also was made to Stern's relatives.

The meeting in Newburgh was addressed by Harold Fisher, vice-president of the New York State Optometric Association, who pointed out the many advantages to the optometrist when he belongs to his association.

Those attending from the Kingston area were Rudisch, Harry LeFever, Jr., Frank Jagger and David Kline.

Brazilian Police Close In

Sao Paulo, Brazil, June 23 (AP)—Brazilian police closed in today on an armed band of 57 of the nearly 300 convicts who escaped last Friday from Anchieta Island prison. Thirty-seven others were reported still at large and hiding out, but without weapons and ammunition. State Secretary for Security Elipidio Reali, who returned by plane last night from an inspection of Anchieta, said these were all of the escaped men still at large. He said order was restored in the penal island Saturday after many of the prisoners who fled were captured or gave themselves up.

Undergoes Operation

Chicago, June 23 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois underwent an operation for removal of a kidney stone Saturday but is expected to resume his full schedule of official and political business by tomorrow. Despite his ailment, Stevenson, a Democratic presidential possibility, has had to cancel but one speech in his professed campaign "only for reelection as governor of Illinois."

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, June 23—Members of Esopus Council, 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, met Friday night at the home of Mrs. John T. Groves. A covered dish supper was enjoyed. A short business meeting was held after which a social hour took place. Mrs. Charles Zimmerman was honored by the group when she was presented with a gift and flowers in honor of her wedding anniversary. Refreshments were served by the hostess at a table decorated with flowers. The center piece was an attractively decorated anniversary cake. Those attending besides the guest of honor and hostess were Mrs. J. Best, Mrs. Katherine A. Schleede, Mrs. Martha Van Vliet, Mrs. Vinal LeFever and Miss Mary F. Bishop.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schweigel who have been visiting their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Makepeace and family in Plessis have returned to their home on Broadway.

The Altar Guild of the Methodist Church will hold an outing at Lawton Park in Kingston tonight. A covered dish supper will be served. Following the supper the monthly business meeting will be held. A large attendance is desired. Election of officers will be held. All those attending are requested to meet at the Methodist Church house at 6:15 p. m. In case of rain, the supper will be held at the church house. Members are requested to bring their dishes and silver.

Mrs. Paul Schwark and son, Clifford Schwark, were the weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Bonstell at their camp at Woodland Valley.

There will be a special meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 1298, Town of Esopus, Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. at the Legion Home on Legion Court. All members are requested to attend as this is an important meeting.

Boy Scouts, Troop 26, will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m., at the Boy Scout room.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nealis who have been living in the Barker apartment on Hamilton Court have moved into their new home on Salem street.

The Dorcas Society will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the Reformed Church hall. The committee will include Mrs. David Harris, Mrs. Martin Nilan, Mrs. Arthur Craig and Mrs. Harry Newton. Each one is requested to bring a small gift for the social hour.

The monthly meeting of the Ulster Park-Port Ewen WCTU will be held at the home of Mrs. J. J. Finerty and Mrs. Leslie Herring, 87 West Chester street, Kingston, Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Lillie Shultis, county president, will attend and address the meeting. Mrs. Clarence Wells will be the program leader. The word for roll call is flowers.

The coupon chests for School 13 are now available in the various places of business in Port Ewen.

Members of the Port Ewen Home Bureau unit who ordered the book on decorative stitches may obtain the book by calling at the home of Mrs. Walter Schussler.

At the Presentation Church, Holy Mass every morning at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. John McDold of Ellenville called on Mr. and Mrs. John G. Reynolds Saturday.

A special election for the Port Ewen Fire District will be held July 1 in the Town of Esopus Auditorium for the purpose of approving the following two resolutions: 1—Raising of $20,000 to purchase a new fire truck. 2—Raising of $40,000 for building addition and remodeling firehouse. Polls will be open from 7 p. m. until 10 p. m. for qualified voters. The sketch of the proposed building is now on display in the window of the town building.

700 Workers Vote

New York, June 23 (AP)—About 700 members of Local 808 of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters, which is locked in a contract dispute with the Railway Express Agency, participated in a strike vote yesterday. Results of the secret poll, held to determine members' wishes in the contract differences, were not announced. The local claims 4,000 members here.

LeMay Says Reds Outnumber Free Nations in Planes

New York, June 23 (AP)—The Soviet air force, says Strategic Air Commander Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, "surpasses the air forces of the free nations in numbers and approaches them in quality."

LeMay adds that allied intelligence believes Russia has about 20,000 planes in organized air units and almost as many in reserve plus several thousand scattered among satellite nations.

He and Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, World War 1 ace and now president of Eastern Airlines Inc., spoke here last night at a dinner for supervisory employes of the Republic Aviation Corporation's plant at Farmingdale.

The joint chiefs of staff, LeMay said, feel "the 143 wings programmed is the minimum number of wings with which the air force can adequately meet the requirements of its mission."

LeMay said this program "will require immediate expansion and continuing production through 1955 and * * * it may even stretch into 1957."

Retains Advantage

America retains an advantage over Russia in long-range bombing capability, LeMay said; but he added that this "is no reason for complacency."

He spoke of the "undeniable quality of Soviet aircraft in combat units" and warned against underestimating Russian technological achievement.

Rickenbacker said fighting communism means this country must make "a capital expenditure of 500 billion dollars in the next five to seven years."

But if world war 3 were to break out, Rickenbacker added, it "will cost us one trillion dollars to win it physically."

To Provide Fireworks

Manila, June 23 (AP)—The Japanese peace treaty is expected to provide most of the fireworks in the special session of the Philippine Congress which opens today. The opposition Nacionalistas, who control the Senate, have announced their determination to defeat ratification. They say its provisions for Japanese reparations are inadequate.

WHEN YOU TRY POWER STEERING...

HERE'S WHERE TO COME FIRST!

You've heard about it and read about it. Now, if you haven't felt what Power Steering does for you in city driving or out on the highway, we invite you to try it first in a Chrysler New Yorker . . . where you will find full-time (not partial) Power Steering!

What happens is this . . .

You handle the steering wheel in normal fashion. But 4/5 of all the work is done for you by hydraulic power, constantly at your command. Also, you turn the wheel 1/3 less distance now for every maneuver . . . the feeling you get of utter control is as wonderful as it is new.

Even at a standstill you can turn the wheel easily. Now, parking is shorn of its troubles (and fatigue!) . . . and you can negotiate traffic, awkward drives, and garage doors precisely and with ease.

You can double the longest day's drive you've ever known . . . end up free from arm and shoulder strain. Rough roads, soft shoulders, snow, mud? . . . the power that helps you steer now prevents the car's wheels from "steering back" at you. The course you set is held, at any speed, till you want it changed. Yet, with this 5-times greater control, "wheel feel" is always the same.

Why not come try it? Learn for yourself why growing thousands of motorists say they'll never be without Full-time Power Steering from now on!

YOUTH HEALTH PROBLEM

Director of Selective Service Lewis B. Hershey has expressed concern over the fact that of all the men examined for selective service since June of 1948, 45 per cent have been rejected for physical, mental or moral reasons. He said the rejections indicate a youth health condition which cannot be ignored.

There seems to be some discrepancy between the figures released by selective service offices and those quoted by General Hershey. According to the selective service figures 2,600,000 men have been examined and about 1,000,000 have been rejected, about 39 per cent. The six point difference in the two figures is not enough to discredit General Hershey's fears.

Of course statistics are tricky. It is not known whether the percentage of rejections since 1948 includes men previously rejected for service. Such statistics do not take into consideration the great number of volunteers who would have been drafted and lowered, the percentage of rejections had they not entered service voluntarily.

The number of rejections is much too high, however, and it would be well to make studies to see what could be done to change the situation. In a country where most youngsters have an opportunity to grow up with enough to eat and with good schools there must be some way to improve health standards.

COMMUNISM NOT NEW

This is not the first time that the Chinese have adopted Communism. In the 11th century China was troubled by a series of epidemics, earthquakes and drouth. This was supposed to be the fault of the emperor, who seeking a way out, listened to a famous philosopher and leader, Wang Ngan-che, who put drastic measures into effect.

The state took over ownership of the soil. Land and seed were distributed annually to the farmers, and crops were dictated by the government. Prices were fixed, and surplus crops were transported to needy parts of the empire. Profits realized by the state were to be used for public works. Large fortunes were destroyed.

This state of affairs lasted more than 10 years. While little is known of the details of operation, the outcry against Wang Ngan-che was such that this emperor thought it prudent to remove him. Although his system lasted somewhat longer under his disciples, before many years it had been completely abandoned.

It would be interesting to know more of this anticipation of modern radicalism. We probably never shall know much, just as we are not likely to know much about the famous price-fixing edict of the Roman emperor Diocletian in the third century A.D. Historians do not always tell what we should like most to know.

ABOLISHING BADGES

Frenchmen wear too many badges, says the author of a new bill, introduced into the national parliament, with the aim of curbing their use. Members of the Legion of Honor, and possessors of military medals are said to find their distinctions cheapened by the quantity of symbols of other organizations which may be seen on almost every lapel.

The French are not alone in this love of indications that they belong. Fraternity and lodge pins are common in the United States, and campaign buttons are an old story. We have not, however, as yet found it necessary to limit them by law. The popular impression among many Americans is that almost every Frenchman belongs to the Legion of Honor. Apparently, like some other popular notions, that is not true. Conceivably, however, the average man in France would like to give the impression that he does belong to it.

SPARE THAT TREE!

A Staffordshire, Eng., town till lately rejoiced in an elm 200 years old. Spectators at cricket games used to sit under its shade. Now is has been chopped down to provide wood for bleacher seats.

At this distance the act sounds like vandalism. Aged trees are scarce enough in all conscience, and subject to enough natural enemies without adding man to the list. Anyone ought to know better than to think that a magnificent tree is easily replaced.

The UN troops in Korea seem to be fighting a rearguard action against their prisoners of war.

The safest way is to grab the buck and go. It's in the passing that it is apt to slip.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE NATURE OF A CONVENTION

It is difficult to hold a decorous national convention, particularly when 1,200 or more delegates usually have little to do for long intervals while committees meet. All the business of most presidential conventions could be cleaned up efficiently in six sessions covering two full days.

That would, however, not be pleasing to the hotels and other businesses that have contributed heavily to the funds that brought the convention to their particular city. They want at least five days. Usually, the conventions are held in June, which is hot enough; this year they will run from July 7 to July 26, with a week intervening. In Chicago, that will be tough going. Yet, most delegates feel that a week is a holiday. They want to have fun.

The convention is not a deliberate assembly. Usually the balconies make too much noise for that. During the Willkie convention, the balconies dominated the scene. In years past, the various candidates organized spectacles to prove their popularity, employing actors and extras to do their marching. This generates great excitement but there is no deliberation in it. I do not recall half or three-quarters naked models marching down the aisles at any of the conventions I have attended, but if we live long enough, we shall probably see that too or even a strip tease to prove that one candidate for the presidency is more logical than another.

It ought to be a rule that no one should be on the floor who is not a delegate or an attendant on the delegates. At one convention, some extra tickets were printed so that when the delegates came for their seats, many were filled by youths who were not delegates at all. Sometimes the aisles are so crowded that the delegates cannot move. In spite of microphones, it is often difficult for a delegate to be heard.

If the rule were adopted excluding actors, extras, balloons and similar abominations from the main floor, it would be helpful.

Now that television has come to the convention, it is likely that efforts will be made to turn it into a theatrical show. The television lights will add to the July heat, but the delegates will not mind that because the folks back home might pick them out in all their glory.

There is a little ham in all of us, in some more than in others. We shall soon witness competition in histrionics among politicians who will hope that television will do for them what it did for Kefauver.

In some conventions tricks have been employed with great effectiveness. Everyone remembers the "voice from the sewer" at a Democratic convention in Chicago. Also once, when Herbert Hoover was delivering an address, the microphone dropped dead. Mr. Hoover could be heard all over the United States but not in the convention hall. And the miracle was that as soon as he stopped speaking, the microphone came to life again.

It has happened that a kibitzer or a knave gets the music going wrong, the organist playing while somebody was speaking. There have been grave suspicions about how this was accomplished, it not being polite to accuse anyone of indecency or corruption.

When it is suggested that the convention be made a decorous, deliberative body, the idea is howled down because fun is fun, and the delegates want a good time, and don't you have a sense of humor?

Yet, these conventions meet for the most important business before the country, namely, choosing a President of the United States. Two men are presented to the voters—two names, each chosen in an atmosphere of bedlam.

To be able to work at all, the leaders of the party meet in hideouts where they will not be disturbed. In the case of a deadlock, here a compromise is effected. Then the delegates are stimulated into a spontaneous demonstration for party unity behind a candidate whom they never wanted.

It is an amusing show and one sweats his way through it. Those who will watch it on television this year will see as much and know as much as those who will be in Chicago, except the few managers of the various candidates. And the homebodies will be more comfortable. But as long as there are conventions, men will go to them hoping that something unusual will happen, providing conversation pieces ever after.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

PAIN IN BACK OF NECK.

In Texas State Journal of Medicine, Fort Worth, Dr. G. Ehni states that degenerative disturbance and injuries of the discs, or cushions, between the spine bones of the neck are common causes of pain in neck, shoulder, shoulder blade region, arm and hand. X-ray examination is of great importance in distinguishing these abnormalities from other conditions, such as a cervical neuritis.

Although most physicians have seen many cases of injury to the discs in lumbar or lower back region, they are not as well acquainted with injury to discs in the neck region. It will come as a surprise, therefore, to learn from Dr. Ehni that of 52 patients with ruptured or herniated discs, 37 were in the lumbar region and 15 in the neck region.

In a series of 23 patients, 21 of whom were examined by X-ray, evidence of involvement of discs and nerve roots was observed in 19 cases. The abnormalities seen showed narrowing of the space from which the nerve root came out from the spinal cord, formation of new bone in the region causing pressure on the nerve, and the spaces between the neck spine bones were not equal on both sides.

In a little more than half the patients, the abnormalities observed, from the X-ray films, were found to be outside the spinal cord proper. The remainder of the patients had small defects that might easily have been overlooked in fluoroscopy and even on roetgenograms (X-ray films) if only small amounts of the substance (dye) was used in the X-ray examination.

I am passing this information on to readers who have pain in neck, upper back, shoulder, arm and even the hand, who may have been trying to get relief by home methods such as heat and massage. They should consult their family physician first, who may find it necessary to have X-ray films made or may refer patient to an orthopedic physician.

Natural Result of Mistaking Fairness for Weakness

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Every so often a columnist like myself who pretends to know everything that's going on behind the scenes, under the scenes, and over the scenes, comes smack up against the fact that he's made a mistake. Sometimes, despite diligent checking of facts, he even makes a whopper of a mistake.

Right now I find I've made several mistakes in a row, and in fairness I want to rectify them.

First I made a mistake in implying that Mrs. Kefauver's father was British-born. I now find he was born on a farm near Cornwall, N. Y., and became a British citizen some years later, after going to Scotland in 1908 to work as a ship designer. Naturalization as a British subject came in 1930.

I also made a mistake in reporting that Secretary of Agriculture Brannan was holding back the development of newsprint in Alaska because his forest service would not cooperate with Secretary Chapman's Indian Bureau. These two cabinet members from Denver, I suggested, should pull together.

However, Secretary Brannan now informs me—and Secretary of the Interior Chapman substantiates him—that they are cooperating and have recently opened up the Tongass National Forest in southeast Alaska to newsprint development. This will be at least one small step in alleviating the newsprint dependency of the United States on the Canadian monopoly.

Press Vs. Public

My friends on the Charleston, W. Va., Gazette also call attention somewhat heatedly to their belief that Congressman Bob Ramsay was not defeated for re-election because he tried to whitewash the Justice Department as a member of the Chelf Committee, but rather because Sen. Matt Neely, also of West Virginia, backed another man.

I am sorry if I attributed a somewhat higher I.Q. to the people of West Virginia than the Gazette thinks they are entitled to, and I am glad to correct the error. However, it still remains a fact—even if the voters didn't find out about it—that Congressman Ramsay was the Chelf Committee member who asked the chief whitewashing questions of Justice Department officials. He was obviously out to protect them.

Now that I have finished eating crow for the day, I would also like to continue in a somewhat personal vein about the job of informing the American public concerning Washington, also about the ability of the American public to understand what's going on.

It isn't always an easy job. In fact, it has its hazards both physical and legal. But a good many years of experience makes me differ modestly with my friends on the Charleston Gazette and believe that the American people do eventually get wise to their solons in Washington, provided the newspapers give them all the facts. Furthermore, I am equally convinced that you can't depend entirely on either Congress or the executive branch of the government to tell the truth about certain things embarrassing to certain individuals.

Brewster and Thomas

Look, for instance, at the way the people of Maine last week took things into their own hands in regard to their senior senator after 18 years in Congress. Look, also, at the way the people of Oklahoma took things into their hands in the election regarding their senior senator, though 25 years in office.

Senator Thomas of Oklahoma had denied repeatedly that he had speculated on the commodity market at the same time he was using the sanctity of the Senate floor to make speeches aimed at influencing prices on the commodity market. When I brought out case after case of his speculation, his stock answer was: "Everyone knows Pearson's a liar."

Finally, when the Agriculture Department officially substantiated Thomas's speculation, a Senate Investigation subcommittee, headed by Senator Ferguson of Michigan started to probe the senator from Oklahoma. But when Thomas turned the tables on Ferguson and started investigating the Ferguson family and their connection with Chrysler, Ferguson dropped the probe like a hot ingot.

It took the people of Oklahoma, who read the newspapers, to do what neither a Senate Committee nor anyone else in Washington had the nerve to do.

Jersey Joe Clark

For instance, when I published the facts of Senator Brewster's wire-tapping activities two years ago, the Senate at first wanted to ignore it. I have never hitherto mentioned the fact that it took considerable persuasion to induce the Senate District of Columbia Committee to probe the wire-tapping scandal—a scandal in which businessmen such as Howard Hughes of Trans World Airlines, visiting Washington, had his telephone tapped under the supervision of a United States senator for the benefit of a competing airline, Pan American Airways.

Finally, when a Senate subcommittee did undertake the probe, it dealt ever so gently with Senator Brewster, and with his close friend, mystery man Henry Grunewald. The latter literally thumbed his nose at the Senate, yet he was not cited for contempt, and it was left to the forthright King Committee almost two years later to call the tune on Grunewald.

Even the King Committee, however, dealt O! so tenderly with the senator from Maine, did not cross-examine him when he brought in his belated explanation for receiving checks from Grunewald for $10,000 for Brewster was a member of the club.

However, these and a great many other facts about the senator from Maine; about his association with "Jersey Joe" Charles Patrick Clark, the lobbyist for Franco; and about his trip to Venezuela on behalf of Clark, have been published by this column. They were published only after a great deal of meticulous digging.

And the people of Maine, now able to get all the facts, have finally decided that Senator Brewster no longer deserves to be a member of the club.

Factionalism Seems to Affect International Situations in Free Nations, Here and Europe

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 23—Resuming analysis of the national political situation after a brief absence in Europe, there comes to this correspondent a thought which has haunted him ever since World War 1 began to affect American political trends in July 1914.

Why is it, the query runs, that in anything so highly inflammable as an international situation—in which it used to be said that "partisanship stops at the water's edge"—there is nevertheless such a high degree of partianship and factionalism? Nor is this question to be asked only in America—it is a question one asks as well in every country in Europe where there is a free government.

The answer, so far as the United States is concerned, may be found in domestic rather than in foreign issues. Partisanship in international questions is reduced considerably only when there is confidence in the leadership of the party in power on domestic issues, which are more familiar and better understood. The progress of the world toward peace hangs today on American policy—as it has ever since 1945. But where the people lose confidence in the incumbent administration on domestic issues, there is a tendency to lose confidence in the handling of foreign affairs by the same administration.

Foreign policy in the United States is a football of national politics primarily because of the ineptitude, if not sheer incompetence and stubborn inflexibility, of President Truman in domestic affairs. If the people think their President will stop at nothing to gain political ends in domestic affairs, how can they fail to listen to the anti-administration speakers when they find flaws in the handling of American policy in Asia and in Europe?

The converse of this is also true. Once the American people pick a President who is popular, who has public confidence and who is really accepted as a leader, they will follow him unequivocally on international policy. They have done so at critical times in our history—as in 1917—because the issues of domestic politics are clearly divorced from international questions.

The American experience in the last few years of the postwar era has underscored the danger of retaining in power any executive who has lost his majority in the national legislature. If America had had a system that would have permitted the resignation of Harry Truman the moment he lost his majority in Congress—just as is the custom in parliamentary governments abroad—there would have been a different story to tell about the international policy of the United States in recent years. The American people would have been more united in support of foreign policy, the outside world—particularly the governments in Europe and Asia — would have been more amenable to American leadership, and there would have been more progress.

How can unity be achieved now? If the American people elect a Republican or a Democrat who is basically antagonistic to cooperation with Europe, the disintegration of European free governments may be expected to follow and the world will face a serious crisis in two or three years, rendering futile much of the aid heretofore given, if, on the other hand, the American people elect a Republican or Democrat whose heart is set on preserving peace in the world by following, at this time especially, a policy of enlightened helpfulness for Europe's weak democracies, the danger of a Stalin victory in Europe is correspondingly diminished. The way to get politics out of foreign policy is to elect someone in whose vision and breadth of view the American people can have confidence on both domestic and foreign issues.

Translated into specific terms, if the Republican platform is hostile to Europe or is half-hearted in its support of American military and economic aid to Europe's democracies, peace in the world will be endangered. Millions of inndependent voters will then look toward the Democratic platform and nominee in the hope that someone who doesn't swallow Trumanism, someone who doesn't feel compelled to keep on with capricious and arbitrary government, someone who can really win and retain the confidence of the majority of the American people will be nominated by the Democrats.

For, with all the need for a change in political party in Washington, it is more important to select someone for president who can keep American boys from being compelled once more to fight in Europe, which will happen again if American power and influence is not exerted at the psychological moment when such power and influence can be a real deterrent or preventive of a world war. What American politicians failed to do for the world in the 1920's by blind opposition to the League of Nations—the symbol then of American-European cooperation—sowed the seeds of a war that came in 1939, and what American politicians may fail to do in the 1950's can bring a third world war before the end of the present decade.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Until last fall, when I went to England to refresh my knowledge of British affairs and continued on through France, Germany and Italy, I had no idea of the existence of a conspiracy by our State Department and our Socialist unioneers to squander our money in an effort to set up a Marxian union empire over there. Perhaps I should have known all about this. Unionism and unioneering are specialties of mine. I pioneered the expose back in 1937. The number of thugs, thieves and traitors who have been sent to prison is gratifying vindication of my professional activity, but I readily admit that the worst criminals in all categories are still at large and full of power. The President of the United States treats such scoundrels as though they were the elected and approved leaders of the workers although he knows the criminal background of the individuals and the predatory nature of their racket.

As I pointed out as soon as I discovered the conspiracy in Europe, this promotion of an American empire in the countries west of the Iron Curtain is a Marxian Socialist movement. Embarrassed by the sudden publicity, a number of individuals here at home attacked me, insisting that my discoveries were all old stuff and that Irving Brown, of the Dubinsky Socialist movement in New York, a prime mover in this venture, was not a Socialist in the Marxian sense. There has ensued a noisy, deliberately confused propaganda which attempts to winnow away Marx and leave a good socialism, acceptable even to Catholics.

It is indeed true that this was old stuff but it is also true that the American people knew nothing about it. The American people had fought, won and paid for a war in blood and taxes. And ever since the victory the Roosevelt-Truman State Department and even the army, whose political corruption is truly shocking, had secretly kept open a side door and let in Brown and a whole crew of Marxian conspirators with a mission to repeat in Europe their terrible man-hunts at home, and to clamp down true Marxian socialism.

The difference between the socialism of Irving Brown and Jay Lovestone, who is described by friendly writers as the "minister of foreign affairs" of this conspiracy, and Soviet communism is so fine and technical that the normal intelligence cannot see it. Actually the conflict is a matter of rivalry, not disagreement. Stalin wanted to organize all Europe through an international federation dominated by Moscow. Stalin's unioneers got the jump on Brown, Lovestone and Dubinsky because our State Department and our generals handed over to Communist traitors in France, Italy, Germany and the low countries all the office facilities and union organizations that were in existence at the hour of victory. Dubinsky, Lovestone and Brown had had painful experiences with the Kremlin type of Socialist in our own country and therefore held back when the Roosevelt-Truman element gave lavish cooperation to the European Communists.

Since my return from Europe, I have gone into the records to show that Lovestone once was the leader of the American Communist movement and got out of it only to establish his own brand of communism. Brown turned up as a contributor to the "revolutionary Socialist Review," which said it was "devoted to Marxian socialism." He was proclaimed a member of the national executive committee of the revolutionary policy committee of this avowedly Marxian party. And the same data declared that Brown was "an instructor in worker's education classes" of Dubinsky's union. This is the man whose American stooges, or dupes, including some religious authorities, attempt to clear him of Marxian socialism.

I have pointed to specific items in the Time-Life publications

Apparently, like some other popular notions, that is not true. Conceivably, however, the average man in France would like to give the impression that he does belong to it.

SPARE THAT TREE!

A Staffordshire, Eng., town till lately rejoiced in an elm 200 years old. Spectators at cricket games used to sit under its shade. Now is has been chopped down to provide wood for bleacher seats.

At this distance the act sounds like vandalism. Aged trees are scarce enough in all conscience, and subject to enough natural enemies without adding man to the list. Anyone ought to know better than to think that a magnificent tree is easily replaced.

The UN troops in Korea seem to be fighting a rearguard action against their prisoners of war.

The safest way is to grab the buck and go. It's in the passing that it is apt to slip.

'These Days'

THE NATURE OF A CONVENTION

It is difficult to hold a decorous national convention, particularly when 1,200 or more delegates usually have little to do for long intervals while committees meet. All the business of most presidential conventions could be cleaned up efficiently in six sessions covering two full days.

That would, however, not be pleasing to the hotels and other businesses that have contributed heavily to the funds that brought the convention to their particular city. They want at least five days. Usually, the conventions are held in June, which is hot enough; this year they will run from July 7 to July 26, with a week intervening. In Chicago, that will be tough going. Yet, most delegates feel that a week is a holiday. They want to have fun.

The convention is not a deliberate assembly. Usually the balconies make too much noise for that. During the Willkie convention, the balconies dominated the scene. In years past, the various candidates organized spectacles to prove their popularity, employing actors and extras to do their marching. This generates great excitement but there is no deliberation in it. I do not recall half or three-quarters naked models marching down the aisles at any of the conventions I have attended, but if we live long enough, we shall probably see that too or even a strip tease to prove that one candidate for the presidency is more logical than another.

It ought to be a rule that no one should be on the floor who is not a delegate or an attendant on the delegates. At one convention, some extra tickets were printed so that when the delegates came for their seats, many were filled by youths who were not delegates at all. Sometimes the aisles are so crowded that the delegates cannot move. In spite of microphones, it is often difficult for a delegate to be heard.

If the rule were adopted excluding actors, extras, balloons and similar abominations from the main floor, it would be helpful.

Now that television has come to the convention, it is likely that efforts will be made to turn it into a theatrical show. The television lights will add to the July heat, but the delegates will not mind that because the folks back home might pick them out in all their glory.

There is a little ham in all of us, in some more than in others. We shall soon witness competition in histrionics among politicians who will hope that television will do for them what it did for Kefauver.

In some conventions tricks have been employed with great effectiveness. Everyone remembers the "voice from the sewer" at a Democratic convention in Chicago. Also once, when Herbert Hoover was delivering an address, the microphone dropped dead. Mr. Hoover could be heard all over the United States but not in the convention hall. And the miracle was that as soon as he stopped speaking, the microphone came to life again.

It has happened that a kibitzer or a knave gets the music going wrong, the organist playing while somebody was speaking. There have been grave suspicions about how this was accomplished, it not being polite to accuse anyone of indecency or corruption.

When it is suggested that the convention be made a decorous, deliberative body, the idea is howled down because fun is fun, and the delegates want a good time, and don't you have a sense of humor?

Yet, these conventions meet for the most important business before the country, namely, choosing a President of the United States. Two men are presented to the voters—two names, each chosen in an atmosphere of bedlam.

To be able to work at all, the leaders of the party meet in hideouts where they will not be disturbed. In the case of a deadlock, here a compromise is effected. Then the delegates are stimulated into a spontaneous demonstration for party unity behind a candidate whom they never wanted.

It is an amusing show and one sweats his way through it. Those who will watch it on television this year will see as much and know as much as those who will be in Chicago, except the few managers of the various candidates. And the homebodies will be more comfortable. But as long as there are conventions, men will go to them hoping that something unusual will happen, providing conversation pieces ever after.

That Body of Yours

PAIN IN BACK OF NECK.

In Texas State Journal of Medicine, Fort Worth, Dr. G. Ehni states that degenerative disturbance and injuries of the discs, or cushions, between the spine bones of the neck are common causes of pain in neck, shoulder, shoulder blade region, arm and hand. X-ray examination is of great importance in distinguishing these abnormalities from other conditions, such as a cervical neuritis.

Although most physicians have seen many cases of injury to the discs in lumbar or lower back region, they are not as well acquainted with injury to discs in the neck region. It will come as a surprise, therefore, to learn from Dr. Ehni that of 52 patients with ruptured or herniated discs, 37 were in the lumbar region and 15 in the neck region.

In a series of 23 patients, 21 of whom were examined by X-ray, evidence of involvement of discs and nerve roots was observed in 19 cases. The abnormalities seen showed narrowing of the space from which the nerve root came out from the spinal cord, formation of new bone in the region causing pressure on the nerve, and the spaces between the neck spine bones were not equal on both sides.

In a little more than half the patients, the abnormalities observed, from the X-ray films, were found to be outside the spinal cord proper. The remainder of the patients had small defects that might easily have been overlooked in fluoroscopy and even on roetgenograms (X-ray films) if only small amounts of the substance (dye) was used in the X-ray examination.

I am passing this information on to readers who have pain in neck, upper back, shoulder, arm and even the hand, who may have been trying to get relief by home methods such as heat and massage. They should consult their family physician first, who may find it necessary to have X-ray films made or may refer patient to an orthopedic physician.

Natural Result of Mistaking Fairness for Weakness

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Every so often a columnist like myself who pretends to know everything that's going on behind the scenes, under the scenes, and over the scenes, comes smack up against the fact that he's made a mistake. Sometimes, despite diligent checking of facts, he even makes a whopper of a mistake.

Right now I find I've made several mistakes in a row, and in fairness I want to rectify them.

First I made a mistake in implying that Mrs. Kefauver's father was British-born. I now find he was born on a farm near Cornwall, N. Y., and became a British citizen some years later, after going to Scotland in 1908 to work as a ship designer. Naturalization as a British subject came in 1930.

I also made a mistake in reporting that Secretary of Agriculture Brannan was holding back the development of newsprint in Alaska because his forest service would not cooperate with Secretary Chapman's Indian Bureau. These two cabinet members from Denver, I suggested, should pull together.

However, Secretary Brannan now informs me—and Secretary of the Interior Chapman substantiates him—that they are cooperating and have recently opened up the Tongass National Forest in southeast Alaska to newsprint development. This will be at least one small step in alleviating the newsprint dependency of the United States on the Canadian monopoly.

Press Vs. Public

My friends on the Charleston, W. Va., Gazette also call attention somewhat heatedly to their belief that Congressman Bob Ramsay was not defeated for reelection because he tried to whitewash the Justice Department as a member of the Chelf Committee, but rather because Sen. Matt Neely, also of West Virginia, backed another man.

I am sorry if I attributed a somewhat higher I.Q. to the people of West Virginia than the Gazette thinks they are entitled to, and I am glad to correct the error. However, it still remains a fact—even if the voters didn't find out about it—that Congressman Ramsay was the Chelf Committee member who asked the chief Department officials. He was obviously out to protect them.

Now that I have finished eating crow for the day, I would also like to continue in a somewhat personal vein about the job of informing the American public concerning Washington, also about the ability of the American public to understand what's going on.

It isn't always an easy job. In fact, it has its hazards both physical and legal. But a good many years of experience makes me differ modestly with my friends on the Charleston Gazette and believe that the American people do eventually get wise to their solons in Washington, provided the newspapers give them all the facts. Furthermore, I am equally convinced that you can't depend entirely on either Congress or the executive branch of the government to tell the truth about certain things embarrassing to certain individuals.

Brewster and Thomas

Look, for instance, at the way the people of Maine last week took things into their own hands in regard to their senior senator after 18 years in Congress. Look, also, at the way the people of Oklahoma took things into their hands in the election regarding their senior senator, though 25 years in office.

Senator Thomas of Oklahoma had denied repeatedly that he had speculated on the commodity market at the same time he was using the sanctity of the Senate floor to make speeches aimed at influencing prices on the commodity market. When I brought out case after case of his speculation, his stock answer was: "Everyone knows Pearson's a liar."

Finally, when the Agriculture Department officially substantiated Thomas's speculation, a Senate Investigation subcommittee, headed by Senator Ferguson of Michigan started to probe the senator from Oklahoma. But when Thomas turned the tables on Ferguson and started investigating the Ferguson family and their connection with Chrysler, Ferguson dropped the probe like a hot ingot.

It took the people of Oklahoma, who read the newspapers, to do what neither a Senate Committee nor anyone else in Washington had the nerve to do.

Jersey Joe Clark

For instance, when I published the facts of Senator Brewster's wire-tapping activities two years ago, the Senate at first wanted to ignore it. I have never hitherto mentioned the fact that it took considerable persuasion to induce the Senate District of Columbia Committee to probe the wire-tapping scandal—a scandal in which businessmen such as Howard Hughes of Trans World Airlines, visiting Washington, had his telephone tapped under the supervision of a United States senator for the benefit of a competing airline, Pan American Airways.

Finally, when a Senate subcommittee did undertake the probe, it dealt ever so gently with Senator Brewster, and with his close friend, mystery man Henry Grunewald. The latter literally thumbed his nose at the Senate, yet he was not cited for contempt, and it was left to the forthright King Committee almost two years later to call the tune on Grunewald.

Even the King Committee, however, dealt O! so tenderly with the senator from Maine, did not cross-examine him when he brought in his belated explanation for receiving checks from Grunewald for $10,000 for Brewster was a member of the club.

However, these and a great many other facts about the senator from Maine; about his association with "Jersey Joe" Charles Patrick Clark, the lobbyist for Franco; and about his trip to Venezuela on behalf of Clark, have been published by this column. They were published only after a great deal of meticulous digging.

And the people of Maine, now able to get all the facts, have finally decided that Senator Brewster no longer deserves to be a member of the club.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 23—Resuming analysis of the national political situation after a brief absence in Europe, there comes to this correspondent a thought which has haunted him ever since World War 1 began to affect American political trends in July 1914.

Why is it, the query runs, that in anything so highly inflammable as an international situation — in which it used to be said that "partisanship stops at the water's edge"—there is nevertheless such a high degree of partianship and factionalism? Nor is this question to be asked only in America —it is a question one asks as well in every country in Europe where there is a free government.

The answer, so far as the United States is concerned, may be found in domestic rather than in foreign issues. Partisanship in international questions is reduced considerably only when there is confidence in the leadership of the party in power on domestic issues, which are more familiar and better understood. The progress of the world toward peace hangs today on American policy—as it has ever since 1945. But where the people lose confidence in the incumbent administration on domestic issues, there is a tendency to lose confidence in the handling of foreign affairs by the same administration.

Foreign policy in the United States is a football of national politics primarily because of the ineptitude, if not sheer incompetence and stubborn inflexibility, of President Truman in domestic affairs. If the people think their President will stop at nothing to gain political ends in domestic affairs, how can they fail to listen to the anti-administration speakers when they find flaws in the handling of American policy in Asia and in Europe?

The converse of this is also true. Once the American people pick a President who is popular, who has public confidence and who is really accepted as a leader, they will follow him unequivocally on international policy. They have done so at critical times in our history—as in 1917—because the issues of domestic politics are clearly divorced from international questions.

The American experience in the last few years of the postwar era has underscored the danger of retaining in power any executive who has lost his majority in the national legislature. If America had had a system that would have permitted the resignation of Harry Truman the moment he lost his majority in Congress—just as is the custom in parliamentary governments abroad—there would have been a different story to tell about the international policy of the United States in recent years. The American people would have been more united in support of foreign policy, the outside world—particularly the governments in Europe and Asia — would have been more amenable to American leadership, and there would have been more progress.

How can unity be achieved now? If the American people elect a Republican or a Democrat who is basically antagonistic to cooperation with Europe, the disintegration of European free governments may be expected to follow and the world will face a serious crisis in two or three years, rendering futile much of the aid heretofore given, if, on the other hand, the American people elect a Republican or Democrat whose heart is set on preserving peace in the world by following, at this time especially, a policy of enlightened helpfulness for Europe's weak democracies, the danger of a Stalin victory in Europe is correspondingly diminished. The way to get politics out of foreign policy is to elect someone in whose vision and breadth of view the American people can have confidence on both domestic and foreign issues.

Translated into specific terms, if the Republican platform is hostile to Europe or is half-hearted in its support of American military and economic aid to Europe's democracies, peace in the world will be endangered. Millions of inndependent voters will then look toward the Democratic platform and nominee in the hope that someone who doesn't swallow Trumanism, someone who doesn't feel compelled to keep on with capricious and arbitrary government, someone who can really win and retain the confidence of the majority of the American people will be nominated by the Democrats.

For, with all the need for a change in political party in Washington, it is more important to select someone for president who can keep American boys from being compelled once more to fight in Europe, which will happen again if American power and influence is not exerted at the psychological moment when such power and influence can be a real deterrent or preventive of a world war. What American politicians failed to do for the world in the 1920's by blind opposition to the League of Nations—the symbol then of American-European cooperation—sowed the seeds of a war that came in 1939, and what American politicians may fail to do in the 1950's can bring a third world war before the end of the present decade.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Until last fall, when I went to England to refresh my knowledge of British affairs and continued on through France, Germany and Italy, I had no idea of the existence of a conspiracy by our State Department and our Socialist unioneers to squander our money in an effort to set up a Marxian union empire over there. Perhaps I should have known all about this. Unionism and unioneering are specialties of mine. I pioneered the expose back in 1937. The number of thugs, thieves and traitors who have been sent to prison is gratifying vindication of my professional activity, but I readily admit that the worst criminals in all categories are still at large and full of power. The President of the United States treats such scoundrels as though they were the elected and approved leaders of the workers although he knows the criminal background of the individuals and the predatory nature of their racket.

As I pointed out as soon as I discovered the conspiracy in Europe, this promotion of an American empire in the countries west of the Iron Curtain is a Marxian Socialist movement. Embarrassed by the sudden publicity, a number of individuals here at home attacked me, insisting that my discoveries were all old stuff and that Irving Brown, of the Dubinsky Socialist movement in New York, a prime mover in this venture, was not a Socialist in the Marxian sense. There has ensued a noisy, deliberately confused propaganda which attempts to winnow away Marx and leave a good socialism, acceptable even to Catholics.

It is indeed true that this was old stuff but it is also true that the American people knew nothing about it. The American people had fought, won and paid for a war in blood and taxes. And ever since the victory the Roosevelt-Truman State Department and even the army, whose political corruption is truly shocking, had secretly kept open a side door and let in Brown and a whole crew of Marxian conspirators with a mission to repeat in Europe their terrible man-hunts at home, and to clamp down true Marxian socialism.

The difference between the socialism of Irving Brown and Jay Lovestone, who is described by friendly writers as the "minister of foreign affairs" of this conspiracy, and Soviet communism is so fine and technical that the normal intelligence cannot see it. Actually the conflict is a matter of rivalry, not disagreement. Stalin wanted to organize all Europe through an international federation dominated by Moscow. Stalin's unioneers got the jump on Brown, Lovestone and Dubinsky because our State Department and our generals handed over to Communist traitors in France, Italy, Germany and the low countries all the office facilities and union organizations that were in existence at the hour of victory. Dubinsky, Lovestone and Brown had had painful experiences with the Kremlin type of Socialist in our own country and therefore held back when the Roosevelt-Truman element gave lavish cooperation to the European Communists.

Since my return from Europe, I have gone into the records to show that Lovestone once was the leader of the American Communist movement and got out of it only to establish his own brand of communism. Brown turned up as a contributor to the "revolutionary Socialist Review," which said it was "devoted to Marxian socialism." He was proclaimed a member of the national executive committee of the revolutionary policy committee of this avowedly Marxian party. And the same data declared that Brown was "an instructor in worker's education classes" of Dubinsky's union. This is the man whose American stooges, or dupes, including some religious authorities, attempt to clear him of Marxian socialism.

I have pointed to specific items in the Time-Life publications

Jacoby on Canasta

Lone Wolf Has Fun in New Game

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Last week I discussed the new Cut-Throat Canasta game for three players. The most important rule in the game is that the player who first takes the discard pile scores all by himself, while the other two players score as partners against him.

In the average game of Cut-Throat, the winner is the conservative chap who never takes the first discard pile. It wouldn't be true to say that it's always a bad idea to take the pile; our conservative friend wins because his opponents are always taking the pile before it's ripe enough.

For example, suppose the pile mounts up until it contains about twelve cards. That's a big pile in ordinary Canasta, and your fingers begin to itch as you look at each discard. Not so in Cut-Throat.

You don't really get excited about the pile in Cut-Throat until it contains about twenty cards.

The player who takes a 12-card pile in Cut-Throat usually gets the material for one canasta; and he also picks up so much unmatched junk that he can't meld out for several rounds of play.

While he gets rid of his unmatched cards and laboriously puts himself into melding-out position, the opponents meld like crazy with a combined holding of more cards than the lone wolf. This advantage gets bigger as the hand continues.

In rare cases you can take a 12-card pile and get away with it. This happens when the cards in the pile fit your hand so beautifully that you can meld out immediately, or perhaps after only one or two additional plays.

Most of the time, however, you must put temptation behind you. Build up your own hand and ignore the discard pile. Perhaps you will manage to meld out without taking the pile at all; and then you will probably gain about a thousand points over each of the opponents.

If somebody else takes the pile before you can go out, you will do fairly well defending against the lone wolf. If nobody takes the pile early, perhaps you will have a good chance at a really ripe pile.

The big thrills in the game come when you are the lone wolf, but you have to pick your spots. If you swing at something that isn't there, you'll just make a big noise as you fall down.

..Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Sunday Prices Increase

New York, June 23 (AP)—The New York Herald Tribune has announced a price increase from 15 to 20 cents for its Sunday edition, effective June 29. It was the last New York morning paper to boost prices recently. The New York Times' increase, also from 15 to 20 cents for the Sunday edition, was effective yesterday. The Daily News and the Daily Mirror have not raised the Sunday price, which remains at 10 cents, but they increased the weekday price from three to four cents last Monday. All four gave increased cost of production as the reason. The Times and Tribune prices apply to newsstand sales in the city and suburbs. The News and Mirror increases apply within the city limits only.

Ives Demands U. S. Take Tough Stand

Troy, N. Y., June 23 (AP)—U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N. Y.) demanded today that the United States take a "firm and tough" stand in the Korean stalemate, even at the risk of outright war.

"We have to gamble that Soviet Russia does not want war now any more than do we," the senator said in a prepared speech at the state Veterans of Foreign Wars Encampment here.

"But we shall get nowhere by pussy-footing, by being soft, by appeasing," he declared.

Ives addressed nearly 2,500 veterans and their guests at the 33rd annual convention. The five-day meeting will end Wednesday.

Lone Wolf Has Fun in New Game

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Last week I discussed the new Cut-Throat Canasta game for three players. The most important rule in the game is that the player who first takes the discard pile scores all by himself, while the other two players score as partners against him.

In the average game of Cut-Throat, the winner is the conservative chap who never takes the first discard pile. It wouldn't be true to say that it's always a bad idea to take the pile; our conservative friend wins because his opponents are always taking the pile before it's ripe enough.

For example, suppose the pile mounts up until it contains about twelve cards. That's a big pile in ordinary Canasta, and your fingers begin to itch as you look at each discard. Not so in Cut-Throat.

You don't really get excited about the pile in Cut-Throat until it contains about twenty cards.

The player who takes a 12-card pile in Cut-Throat usually gets the material for one canasta; and he also picks up so much unmatched junk that he can't meld out for several rounds of play.

While he gets rid of his unmatched cards and laboriously puts himself into melding-out position, the opponents meld like crazy with a combined holding of more cards than the lone wolf. This advantage gets bigger as the hand continues.

In rare cases you can take a 12-card pile and get away with it. This happens when the cards in the pile fit your hand so beautifully that you can meld out immediately, or perhaps after only one or two additional plays.

Most of the time, however, you must put temptation behind you. Build up your own hand and ignore the discard pile. Perhaps you will manage to meld out without taking the pile at all; and then you will probably gain about a thousand points over each of the opponents.

If somebody else takes the pile before you can go out, you will do fairly well defending against the lone wolf. If nobody takes the pile early, perhaps you will have a good chance at a really ripe pile.

The big thrills in the game come when you are the lone wolf, but you have to pick your spots. If you swing at something that isn't there, you'll just make a big noise as you fall down.

..Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Sunday Prices Increase

New York, June 23 (AP)—The New York Herald Tribune has announced a price increase from 15 to 20 cents for its Sunday edition, effective June 29. It was the last New York morning paper to boost prices recently. The New York Times' increase, also from 15 to 20 cents for the Sunday edition, was effective yesterday. The Daily News and the Daily Mirror have not raised the Sunday price, which remains at 10 cents, but they increased the weekday price from three to four cents last Monday. All four gave increased cost of production as the reason. The Times and Tribune prices apply to newsstand sales in the city and suburbs. The News and Mirror increases apply within the city limits only.

Ives Demands U. S. Take Tough Stand

Troy, N. Y., June 23 (AP)—U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N. Y.) demanded today that the United States take a "firm and tough" stand in the Korean stalemate, even at the risk of outright war.

"We have to gamble that Soviet Russia does not want war now any more than do we," the senator said in a prepared speech at the state Veterans of Foreign Wars Encampment here.

"But we shall get nowhere by pussy-footing, by being soft, by appeasing," he declared.

Will Hold Back at First

Sacramento, Calif., June 23 (AP)—California's Republican delegates, their 70 votes tightly pledged to Gov. Earl Warren, said today they prefer to hold back their second choice for president until balloting begins in Chicago. Replies to an Associated Press poll established a strategy of silence—and waiting to see what happens—on a question of key importance to both sides in the Taft-Eisenhower battle for the GOP nominations. One delegate predicated perhaps three-fourths of the Warren slate would swing to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower if and when the governor drops out of the running.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Woodstock Garden Club Plans Show

Woodstock June 23—The Woodstock Garden Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Roland d'Albis, at which time arrangements for the second annual flower show in this village were discussed.

It was announced that the various groups of arrangements on which the judging will be based will be as follows: arrangements in antique containers; all white; roses (one color or mixed); table arrangements—small settee, coffee table, hall table; house plants; specimens; flowers as I like them; minatures (six to eight inches); miniature gardens; children's corner, and men only.

Exhibitors are requested to have their entries at the Town House not later than 11 a. m., and judging will be at 12 noon, Saturday, June 28. The show will be open from 2 to 5 p. m. A luncheon will be served at 1 p. m., reservations for which may be made not later than June 22, by calling Mrs. d'Albis.

The following will serve as judges for the show; Mrs. Clark Reed, Saugerties; Mrs. Joseph F. Marr, Norbert Heermann, Konrad Cramer, Mrs. Margaret Lowengrund.

Members of all neighboring garden clubs are invited to exhibit.

Opens Antique Shop

Schimmerling Praised

Woodstock, June 23—One of Woodstock's well-known composers, Hanus A. Schimmerling, returned to his Ohayo Mountain home last week from New York and Philadelphia, where one of his choral works was presented in May by the Germantown Choral Society with the composer at the piano.

Schimmerling's Te Deum was first performed at the Riverdale Church of New York, and also at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Town Hall, New York and in other cities in the U. S. and Canada. Described as a work of "deep religious significance" the text of the hymn is found in the Vatican Gradual of the Roman Catholic Liturgy. According to a program note on the work, Schimmerling has written an elaborate score for solo voice, chorus and orchestra, for devotional verses which have been sung through the ages.

Schedule Is Given

Woodstock, July 23—The following schedule for the Woodstock traveling library has been announced by Mrs. Alice Thompson, librarian: Bearsville—Wednesdays at 2:30, beginning at the schoolhouse, with Mrs. Edmund Gilligan and Mrs. John H. Lo, the Poor Indian

By FRANK TRIPP

As I write this, I am gazing across romantic, savage old Seneca. Its surface, where I look, is 452 feet above sea level. Its bottom, 100 feet below. A few miles up the lake it is 634 feet deep. Its bottom for 36 miles averages below sea level, at one spot nearly 200 feet below.

It is the deepest body of water wholly within the United States, save Lake Michigan. Its water is pure and cold; its shores rugged. For miles strata rocks rise to high palisades. Ten feet from shore the depth drops to 50 feet, and goes straight down to 200 feet or more.

Along half of its 80-mile shoreline one may safely move the prow of a sizeable cruiser to the shore, where a younger man than I can jump off to dry land. In all its length there is not a hazard that demands a buoy.

Sloping back from the rugged cliffs are farms and fields and vineyards, in the heart of Central New York's Finger Lake country, to me the dearest spot in the world.

Grapes for delicious wines and champagnes grow on its shores; and peaches, apples, cherries, berries and grains. Cottages spot the banks from end to end, inhabited by those who love the lake that tests their skill as boatmen and swimmers. Here and there are narrow pebbled beaches where youngsters grow up to be inland seafaring folk who love rather than fear busy waters.

BOYS AND GIRLS of six and seven learn to care for themselves in the water. Parents give them their heads save when old Seneca goes on a tear; when it is safe for only larger craft to be upon it. Dwellers learn to watch the skies and winds and know when to be off its troubled breast. Seneca demands respect.

Fishermen with Seth Green rigs and bales of copper wire fish 300 feet deep for lake trout that mount to 30 inches. On shore they argue with fellow anglers who seek the same prey in shallower water around the points; and land them too with tiny rods, sometimes casting from docks and the bank. Now and then a "pinkie" is brought in, a salmon trout astray from Canadian waters; for Seneca is connected with the world. From it a craft can sail, via the Erie Canal, to any port on earth.

Fish can likewise transport themselves. Thus, occasionally come the salmon trout, which have been known to travel 1,300 miles. But most of Seneca's fish are lake and rainbow trout and small mouth bass, the gamesters for Fall fishing, best after the first frost.

HERE LIVED the study Seneca Indians, the master original Americans of the great Six Nations; aborigines whose philosophies, morals and democracy would put ours to shame.

Here, where palatial yachts and fleet speedboats cut the cold water, once plied the dugouts and birch canoes of the most progressive tribe of American Indians, the clan that called its shots from the Atlantic west to the Ohio river.

What dependent weaklings we are compared to them. They knew springs that dwarf the deep freeze. They knew enough to retire to rest when nature's light went out; and to arise with it about the time we oft retire. They had no speedy craft or trick fishing rods or firearms. Yet they captured and lived off the game we try to lure via Abercrombie & Fitch and flossy gaming kits.

THEY GREW stalwart men and wiry women, without books and formulas; kept well on the herbs of the medicine man. Of course, it was survival of the fittest, which may not be the most humane prescription—yet it worked.

It worked and they were strong, happy people until civilization—we call it—encompassed these first Americans, and the cruelties and covetousness of the Europeans—you and me—wrested this wonderland from those to whom it once belonged.

I love Seneca, every inch of it, every drop of water in it, but I never look across its crest that I don't think how bitter I'd be if someone came and drove me away.

Lo, the Poor Indian!

which showed consistent hostility to pro-Americans who opposed Marxism whether it was offered as socialism or as communism. These magazines gave priceless ballyhoo to such phenomena as the Lovestone-Brown Marxist movement in Europe, to Charlie Chaplin, whose record, of course, is notorious, and to Margaret Bourke-White, a news photographer with a flagrant record as a fellow traveler.

Many Americans who take their citizenship seriously and prize truth and scorn falsehood, cannot believe that Time-Life would have deceived them. Nevertheless, Time completely deceived them last March with a glowing article representing Brown as a bold, brave fighter against communism in Europe. This ballyhoo gave no inkling that Brown ever was a revolutionary Socialist in a group advocating violence in our own country. It was largely a rewrite job drawing on an article by a friend of Brown, already published in another magazine.

The figure of Irving Brown as a rugged, brave street-fighter against European Reds was ludicrous against the known record. He had been described as a "former New York University athlete," but Bing Miller, the graduate manager of athletics at New York U. himself a football star from 1925 through 1928, found absolutely no record of any athletic competition by any Irving Brown. He inquired of the coaches of basketball, baseball, track and other sports. None of them had ever heard of him. In Paris last winter, Brown refused to see me to answer questions and it was published that he had run away from Paris because the Reds might do something to him. On that point I might say that although I have opposed Reds, racketeers and Marxian Socialists in the union racket for many years, I have never run away or hidden from them, even in Paris.

The prize touch in the time eulogy of this Marxian Socialist is a paraphrase of an old legend about Napoleon. Brown is supposed to have scared a Communist Parisian hackman so badly that the hackman cold not put out his hand for the fare, by hissing at him: "Moi, Je Suis Irving Brown." In the original version the cabman was a barber who loudly hoped that Napoleon would drop into his chair for a shave. He was working over this theme one day on a diminutive stranger who now blew the lather from his lips and exclaimed: "Moi! Je Suis Napoleon."

Time says the incident of the cabman is "Brown's favorite story."

Could be.

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Woodstock Garden Club Plans Show

Woodstock June 23—The Woodstock Garden Club met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Roland d'Albis, at which time arrangements for the second annual flower show in this village were discussed.

It was announced that the various groups of arrangements on which the judging will be based will be as follows: arrangements in antique containers; all white; roses (one color or mixed); table arrangements—small settee, coffee table, hall table; house plants; specimens; flowers as I like them; minatures (six to eight inches); miniature gardens; children's corner, and men only.

Exhibitors are requested to have their entries at the Town House not later than 11 a. m., and judging will be at 12 noon, Saturday, June 28. The show will be open from 2 to 5 p. m. A luncheon will be served at 1 p. m., reservations for which may be made not later than June 22, by calling Mrs. d'Albis.

The following will serve as judges for the show; Mrs. Clark Reed, Saugerties; Mrs. Joseph F. Marr, Norbert Heermann, Konrad Cramer, Mrs. Margaret Lowengrund.

Members of all neighboring garden clubs are invited to exhibit.

Opens Antique Shop

Schimmerling Praised

Woodstock, June 23—One of Woodstock's well-known composers, Hanus A. Schimmerling, returned to his Ohayo Mountain home last week from New York and Philadelphia, where one of his choral works was presented in May by the Germantown Choral Society with the composer at the piano.

Schimmerling's Te Deum was first performed at the Riverdale Church of New York, and also at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Town Hall, New York and in other cities in the U. S. and Canada. Described as a work of "deep religious significance" the text of the hymn is found in the Vatican Gradual of the Roman Catholic Liturgy. According to a program note on the work, Schimmerling has written an elaborate score for solo voice, chorus and orchestra, for devotional verses which have been sung through the ages.

RESENT FRIENDS' CRITICISM

A young girl of seventeen explains: "Ever since I was a child, my father has affectionately called me 'Baby.' He calls me by this name in the presence of my girl and boy friends and it is very embarrassing. I do not like to hurt his feelings, but my friends are beginning to tease me about this. Will you help me?"

I think the only thing to do is be frank with your father and tell him that you love to be called "Baby" by him when you are alone, but please not to do it in front of your friends because they make fun of you.

Propriety of Applause

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is proper to applaud the singing of religious songs, by a choral group in an assembly or other public hall. My aunt doesn't think one should applaud, but I think it is quite proper outside of church.

Answer: In a church—certainly not. Singing in a public hall—probably yes. But it is best to follow what others do.

Do What Is Comfortable

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend and I had a discussion the other day as to whether or not it is proper for members of a family to wear hats at a funeral home. If the deceased were laid out at home, members of the family would not wear hats to greet friends and relatives and, as the funeral home is a substitute for one's own home, I do not think they should wear hats. My friend disagrees. Will you please advise us what is proper?

Answer: There is no definite rule and, since the funeral home is a substitute for your own home, it is proper to do exactly what you would do there.

Alighting From Bus

Dear Mrs. Post: I have noticed lately that many men, after riding with a woman on a bus, allow her to get off first and then follow. Isn't the correct procedure for the man to get off first, then help her off?

Answer: Yes.

KHS Seniors Honored At Hurley Breakfast

A breakfast honoring Kingston high school seniors of the First Dutch Sunday School was given Sunday morning by Mrs. John R. Warren at her home in Hurley. The breakfast preceded the morning worship service of the church at the annual Children's Day program.

Those present were Martzen Groves, Jean Louise Wells, Betty Ann Whispell, Mrs. Robert Groves, Mrs. DeWitt Wells, and Mrs. Ola Whispell.

Rare Figurines Stolen

Lloyd Harbor, June 23 (AP)—Forty rare jade figurines, possibly worth 250 thousand dollars, were stolen over the weekend from the Long Island estate of Yachtsman Oliver Burr Jennings. The 20-room mansion apparently was looted by amateurs who, police said, overlooked a million dollars in art terasurers and left behind abundant fingerprints and a couple of packages of cupcakes. Jennings, heir to a Standard Oil fortune, was reported in Europe with his wife, and definite figures on the value of the stolen articles must await his return.

Marjorie E. Osmers Becomes Bride of George W. Puckhaber

The marriage of Miss Marjorie Ellen Osmers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Osmers, Springtown Road, Tillson, to George William Puckhaber, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Puckhaber, 184-22 Henley Road, Jamaica Estates, Long Island, took place Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, in the Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church. The Rev. Dr. Frank L. Gollnick, officiated at the double ring ceremony. A reception for 125 guests was held in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The organist, Miss Lucinda Merritt, played traditional wedding music as well as Liebestraum. John Amarello, as soloist, sang Ich Liebe Dich, O Perfect Love, and The Lord's Prayer. The church was decorated with palms and white candles, delphinium and carnations.

Escorted by her father, the bride worn a gown of Chantilly lace styled with Empire bodice, long pointed sleeves, and an off-the-shoulder neckline with flesh colored nylon tulle yoke. Her bouffant skirt, with godets of plaited tulle, terminated in a circular train. A headpiece of matching lace, pearl trimmed, secured her three-quarter length silk illusion veil. She carried white orchids on a white satin bible with a cascade of stephanotis.

Miss Ruth Osmers of Ridgewood, N. J., was her cousin's maid of honor. Her gown of orchid taffeta was fashioned with a fitted bodice and off-the-shoulder neckline, and a full floor length skirt with godets of plaited nylon net. A headpiece of orchid and purple flowers in bandeau style and a cascade of purple delphinium and gladioli, completed her ensemble.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Raymond Steward, 40 Sherman shreet, and Miss Jean Shearer of New York City. Their gowns were the same as that worn by the honor attendant. They carried cascade bouquets of purple and lavender delphinium and gladioli.

Al Muller of Garden City served as best man. The ushers were Joseph Ceran, Jersey City, N. J. and Herman Urscher, Jamaica Estates.

The couple left for a motor trip to Virginia and will reside in Flushing.

Mrs. Puckhaber attended Syracuse University, was graduated from Keuka College, Keuka Park, and did graduate work at Columbia University, Teachers College and the New Paltz State Teachers College. She is a member of Apha Psi Omega national honorary dramatics fraternity, and has been technical director for the theatre at Bennett Junior College, Millbrook.

Mr. Puckhaber was graduated from Adelphi Academy, and attended Sampson College and Syracuse University. He is now studying at New York University, and is associated with Ford Instrument Company, Long Island City. A member of Alpha Chi Rho, he served with the U. S. Army during World War 2.

Custodian Honored for His Long Service

Everett Scott, 44 Crane street, was retired from active service after more than 20 years as custodian of elementary School 4, at the annual closing assembly of faculty members and pupils Friday morning. Mr. Scott, left, receives a gift from Betty Gambino, on behalf of the pupils, while Raymond H. Van Valkenburgh, principal, looks on. (Freeman photo)

Students and Faculty Honor Everett Scott, Retiring at School 4

Everett Scott, of 44 Crane street, Kingston, retiring from active service as custodian of elementary school 4, was cited for his years of loyal service in school maintenance and outstanding kindliness to all children attending the school, at the annual closing assembly of faculty members and pupils held in the auditorium Friday morning.

The presentation of a monetary gift from the pupils was given "in recognition of over 20 years of faithful service to the Kingston educational system and of his devotion to children. Betty Gambino made the presentation, expressing the deep appreciation of all pupils attending the school.

Feted at Luncheon

Mr. Scott was also honored at a luncheon given by the members of the faculty under the chairmanship of Mrs. Juliana Kenny, in the school cafeteria on Thursday. Many present and former members of the faculty and school personnel residing in the city assembled to pay tribute to Mr. Scott's untiring service during the luncheon, Raymond H. VanValkenburgh, principal, spoke of Mr. Scott's important role in the educational system of this city. He stressed his fine spirit of cooperation and unfailing service to the faculty and pupils of school 4. In conclusion, he presented a gift of money to Mr. Scott, on behalf of the group, as a token of esteem and gratitude for his long years of service.

Was Student in 1888

Mr. Scott commenced his career as a member of the maintenance staff of the Kingston elementary schools in the year of 1931. This followed close upon his early years as a seamen in the New York harbor. Mr. Scott reminisces that school 4 has a special attachment for him since his boyhood years from 1888-1896 were spent as a pupil there.

He recalls many incidents and events of local interest throughout the years both as a pupil and later as the janitor. Aside from his regular school duties, Mr. Scott has found time to participate actively in community life. He has been associated with his home church, the Trinity Methodist Church, for over 35 years. He has also been a devoted member of the Rondout Lodge, F. & A. M. 343, for 33 years, holding the office of tiler at the present time.

Active Gardener

Mr. Scott says that he has no definite plans for the future but will enjoy his retirement years in his native city. Although he is a versatile man, his main interest centers around gardening. He plans to devote many of his leisure hours to the cultivation of shrubs and roses, bringing not only satisfying pleasure to himself and his family, but to his neighbors and all passers-by as well.

No satisfactory census has ever been made of the number of people in China.

Lecture on Christian Science Given Sunday

Walter W. Kantack of New York, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, spoke Sunday afternoon in Bethany Hall of the Old First Dutch Church. His lecture was on Christian Science: Its Call to Healing and Redemption.

In part, Kantack said "Christian Science is not a human system of philosophy, but a divine revelation of eternal truth, of the spiritual meaning of the Old and New Testaments.

"It is so simply, understandable and altogether consistent that little children grasp it and give convincing proofs of it. And it is scientific in the highest sense of that term and its requirements, in that it can be demonstrated in the degree that it is spiritually understood and practiced."

The speaker added "deriving its basis and authority solely from the Bible, this is naturally the healing and redeeming method of Christian Science. It constantly appeals to thought and, understood, spiritually enlightens it.

"This enlightenment shows us that we can and should, under God's direction and protection, enjoy freedom of choice as to whom we will serve; that we can and should examine our thinking and correct; that we can come into and find rest in Christ, in truth; that we can know the truth and be free."

Either I or Mrs. Butler will consider it a pleasure to discuss with you your furniture needs and will gladly point out, for your judgment, the different construction qualities in the Nationally advertised furniture on display in our showroom.

We both want to thank our customers, here and now, for 'recommending' our place to their friends.

You won't be talking to a "high pressure commission salesman" when you 'do business with Butler's', but with me or the Mrs. personally. Naturally, we want your business and certainly do appreciate whatever purchase you may make, but the friendship and interest of our many customers means much more to our future than the "fast sale" so many furniture store owners brag of.

I have been in the furniture business for many years; and my father before me, and I want my customers to come 'back to Butler's' when they need furnishings again, so will personally guarantee every piece of furniture sold to be of the highest quality obtainable.

We're selling good furniture here, and at much lower prices than we could if we were paying the high rents in the city. We're always open because we had our showroom built on our own land, near the house, and we're glad to 'talk furniture' with you anytime . . . days, evenings or over the weekend.

Bring the family, so you can 'take your time' and look around. We will be pleased to quote you our prices, then you can compare with other stores.

PORT EWEN, NEW YORK

Either I or Mrs. Butler will consider it a pleasure to discuss with you your furniture needs and will gladly point out, for your judgment, the different construction qualities in the Nationally advertised furniture on display in our showroom.

We both want to thank our customers, here and now, for 'recommending' our place to their friends.

You won't be talking to a "high pressure commission salesman" when you 'do business with Butler's', but with me or the Mrs. personally. Naturally, we want your business and certainly do appreciate whatever purchase you may make, but the friendship and interest of our many customers means much more to our future than the "fast sale" so many furniture store owners brag of.

I have been in the furniture business for many years; and my father before me, and I want my customers to come 'back to Butler's' when they need furnishings again, so will personally guarantee every piece of furniture sold to be of the highest quality obtainable.

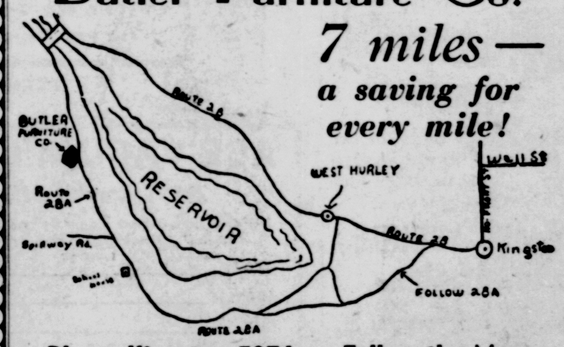

We're selling good furniture here, and at much lower prices than we could if we were paying the high rents in the city. We're always open because we had our showroom built on our own land, near the house, and we're glad to 'talk furniture' with you anytime . . . days, evenings or over the weekend.

Bring the family, so you can 'take your time' and look around. We will be pleased to quote you our prices, then you can compare with other stores.

Our overhead is low . . . Our prices are low.

Facts are not always happy, but they must be lived with. Goodness is not always virtue, nor is accomplishment always success. There is a little bit of goodness in every bad little boy, and a little bit of badness in even the teacher's pet.

Probably you have had many experiences whose values have never been evident. I was standing, one day, on a high hill, looking over the beauties of our gorgeous Hudson River Valley. In the sanctuary of God's glorious nature, there wove a silver thread, a small railroad track. As I looked down directly at it, there glistened in the sun, two distinct rails of steel, moulded and wrought by tireless hands of men in the steel mills. These tracks would carry a train taking people and things to some distant point. But as I lifted my eyes and saw the tracks in the distance they had, in some unmistakable way, grown together into one single thread. In mental preoccupation, I thought, this is strange, two tracks, one track, bearing the same load. When you look directly at life, you see it one way, when you look at in the distance, this same life is different—or is it?

Victory Is Step Forward

Graduation from any school or any objective may be the fulfillment of a dream, but it is only a dream which leads to greater ones; otherwise, it is as dead as last week's newspaper. You are set upon a course in a life whose vagaries defy definition. The completion of a task does not necessarily mean success, for life is always a growing, challenging epoch. Each victory means a step forward in the battle of life. A diploma is merely a piece of paper, the inherent value of which is what we carry with us in our mind, our character, and our being.

What is your measurement of a successful man? I know a lot of wealthy men, powerful men, who are not by lasting measurements successful. They might own beautiful homes, beautiful cars, and control the lives and destinies of hundreds of men, but yet inwardly they are whited sepulchres and rotted cores. There are even men in high places in the governments of the world who think they are successful men — even Joe Stalin. You remember how Adolph Hitler bellowed to the world that he would build a Reich that would last for a thousand years. Both he and Stalin would undoubtedly claim the accolade of a successful man. You see, it is a strange world that can take a man and fill him so full of the wind of pomposity that he thinks as he pounds his chest, "I am a self-made man, a successful man."

No Breaks in Life

There are no breaks in life, you have to make the breaks. In back of every success, there is the unseen labor and sacrifice of some individual. Our civilivation has a tendency to glorify the "gets" rather than the "gives," but history has never been, nor will it ever be, written by those who think first, last, and always, of "what am I going to get out of it?" If everything in life is a racket, it is because we have made it so. The dictionary tells us that racket is the colloquial for any dishonest scheme. It also adds, interestingly enough, that in the United States, racket is slang for an occupation. You can't get something for nothing.

On the other hand, there are men whose unprepossessing appearance belie their grand stature and their successful and contented way of life. Not every great soul is wrapped in the garments of a Fifth avenue store. When we think of the music masters, Beethoven, Mendelssohn and Bach, wracking their way through a world which didn't appreciate their greatness because the world wasn't looking for the thing that counts. Even the great crippled scientist, Steinmetz, would hardly cause the average man to see beyond his deformity. These were successful men—men whose creative genius courses down through the pages of history. Men who could have said, what do I get out of it, but instead gave of themselves to make this a better world in which to live. The cynic would say, that all sounds good, but you don't get anywhere in life wth that attitude. But I would hear the judgment of those who were blessed by the contribution of these men. The exacting judgments of those who rule men are not always the judgments of God.

When we pause tonight in reverent contemplation of the sacrifices of the youth of our country in far away Korea we think of boys, who only a short while ago sat here in this auditorium on an occasion such as this. Tonight, however, they stand the lonely vigil against communism and ungodliness. Would any of us here tonight dare to ask these boys, what do you get out of it?

Growing greatness has its springs in the hearts and minds of people who have lived in the world and yet have not become worldly. People who have dedicated themselves not by clarion shouts of goodness from the roof tops, but rather have lifted their hands to bless their fellowmen. It is not always the getting, but rather the giving of one's self that creates the kind of a man I dream to be. This is a strange world in which we live—a world of peace and yet a world of war; a land of plenty and yet unemployment and financial distress; a people of so called religion and yet moral laxity; and greater still, a lack of human kindness; people who have forgotten how to forgive in their relentless pursuit of their own gain.

The age in which you live has been tagged almost every conceivable name, both good and bad. Much of the seemingly bad features attributed to youth are merely the frustrations of an older generation. Let one thing be certain, you are no worse than those who have gone before. It is just a matter of application and more open-mindedness. You do the things on the front porch which your fathers did on the back porch.

Keep Sense of Humor

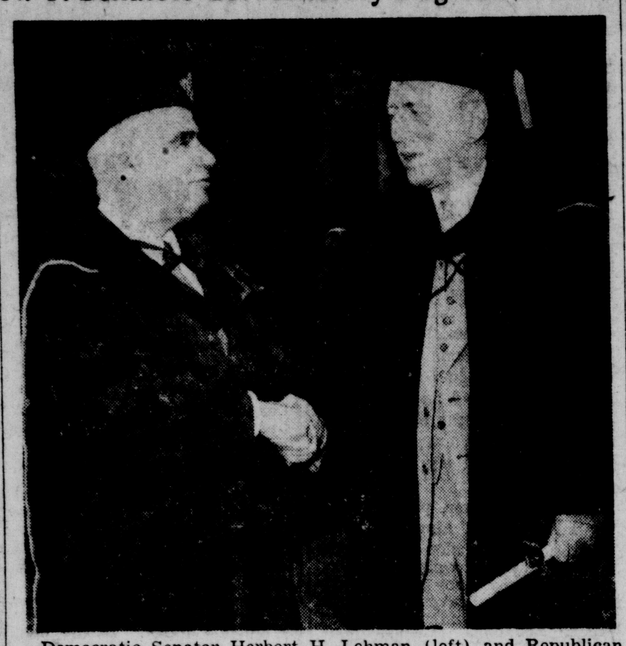

May I plead that all of you never lose your sense of humor in the mad whirl of life. Most of our greatest tragedies in history have been written by leaders who took themselves much too seriously, and lost the common touch of humor. Always remember that it is very difficult to get into a stew or argument with a person who is smiling. All of us today have a benign attitude which makes us not only too serious, but also too intense on every little problem. Let us try to loosen, not only our mental processes, but also our convictions of being able to do things joyously as well as laboriously. For when you enjoy what you are doing, you accomplish twice as much with only half the effort. Too many of us are square pegs in round holes.

Live to Serve

You are the light of another day. Born within your enthusiasticated selves is the dynamo which can create the better world of which everyone talks, but about which no ones does anything. You are living in the greatest and most challenging period of history. The chief test of life itself is the ability to live with the unexpected. There can be no defeatism, for you have unlimited and unbounded frontiers to cross. Never say you wish you lived in another period because this is the one which history has carved out for you. You cannot live in yesterday or tomorrow for today is your hour; you cannot even live on your father's achievements. This world will be what you make it. After all, what is this world to each of us, but our own simple lives and what we do with them. Sure, it's going to be filled with disappointments, heartaches, and hard work. There are going to be times when you feel like saying, what is the use? That moment is the one to seize, because upon it you can build that dreamhouse of a better me. Live, not only to win, but to serve; for in serving, we grow in wisdom and in stature. Upon such a growth your life will become a blessing not only to yourselves and your loved ones, but greater still, to Almighty God.

A sun rise bursting through the fading shadows of night shows a new world, a new beginning, a glorious hope. You, each one of you, is the sunrise of today. For many people in life it is evening, but for you it is the daybreak. God bless and keep you, members of the 1952 Graduating Class.

N. Y. Senators Get Honorary Degrees at Bard

Organized World Scale Security Effort Is Distinction, Says UN Official at Bard

Annandale-on-Hudson, June 23 — Byron Price, assistant secretary-general for administration and financial affairs for the United Nations, in his address at the 92nd Commencement exercises of Bard College Saturday afternoon stated that "it is the organized endeavor for security and welfare, on a world scale, which gives distinction to the age in which we live."

Unprecedented Opportunity

It is this endeavor, Mr. Price declared to the 46 members of the graduating class "which presents to rising generations an opportunity without precedent for wise and adventurous pioneering."

Degrees Conferred

Four honorary degrees were conferred by President James H. Case, Jr., as follows: Hon. Herbert H. Lehman, Doctor of Laws; Hon. Irving M. Ives, Doctor of Laws; Martha Graham, Doctor of Humane Letters; and the Rev. Elwyn H. Spear, Class of 1911, trustee emeritus of Bard College and retired clergyman, Doctor of Divinity.

Three Dutchess and two Putnam county residents were among the members of the class of 1952 to receive their Bachelor of Arts degrees. Mrs. Frances Egbertson Behr of Hyde Park; Miss Frances O. Bromiley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Bromiley of Red Hook; John R. Feare, son of the Rev. and Mrs. A. George Feare of Poughkeepsie; Charles and William DeLuccia, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. DeLuccia of Cold Spring-on-Hudson.

Prizes awarded included the Lockwood Prizes, one to the senior "who has contributed most to the intellectual life of the College," which went to Judson Levin of Franklin, Michigan; the other to the senior "who has contributed most to the welfare of the College," which was conferred upon David Schwab of New York city.

Serves 49 Years

A special presentation was made on behalf of the trustees to George Barringer of Annandale-on-Hudson, who first worked for the College in 1897 and since that time has served with three brief interruptions as a member of the Buildings and Grounds staff for a total of 49 years.

Board Asks End . . .

resources discovery and development here and overseas. Among other things, it proposed that the states and private firms be offered financial incentives to seek out new sources of materials and to conserve available natural resources.

The report mentioned such incentives as special tax benefits to prospectors in this country and abroad.

The five-man commission headed by William Paley, chairman of Columbia Broadcasting System, urged that Congress pass a score of new laws.

Through five bulky volumes delivered to President Truman the Paley Commission hit one recurrent note: America cannot go alone on its materials policy.

The situation is less a matter of dwindling resources than a problem of economic growth, the report said.

Sees Increase by 1957

The commission predicted that by 1957 the need for raw materials would increase 50 to 60 per cent—to support a doubling of national production and a population growth of 42 million, to a total 193 million persons.

"The threat of the materials problem lies in insidiously rising costs which can undermine our standard of living, impair the dynamic of American capitalism and weaken the economic foundations of national security," the report said.

"These costs are not just dollar costs, but what economists refer to as real costs—meaning the hours of human work and the amounts of capital required to bring a pound of industrial material or a unit of energy into useful form."

The report said the problem can be met only by cooperation with the other free countries, whose rate of growth probably will outstrip our own.

Premise of Report

The commission offered as the major premise of its report:

"The overall objective of a national materials policy for the United States should be to insure an adequate and dependable flow of materials at the lowest cost consistent with national security and with the welfare of friendly nations."

Besides challenging the recent rise of "protectionist" sentiment in Congress, the report took a view on taxes opposite some administration policies.

It upheld, for instance, the "percentage depletion" tax benefits rendered to gas, oil and mining operators. The commission said this device is a valuable incentive to oil and mineral exploration.

The commission did suggest that percentage depletion benefits be denied for some of the more than 60 minerals now covered, but took no position similar to Truman's view that this program should be abolished as a tax "loophole."

The commission proposed the restoration of the National Security Resources Board—which it said now has few active functions—to its originally-intended role as the government's center of research and policy-making in the materials field.

Lack Is Criticized

The report criticized the lack of a present overall head of federal research and suggested that the National Science Foundation be given broad coordinating authority. The report said.

"The spectacle of the government spending $1,600,000,000 of the national total of $2,900,000,000 (spent on research annually) with so little top directoon is somewhat breathtaking."

Sweeping increases in demand for materials, which in many cases already are becoming scarcer and costlier, were foreseen for the next 25 years as follows:

METALS — Demand for iron, copper, lead and zinc may rise only 40 to 50 per cent, but other consumption will soar. Demand for fluorspar, used principally in steel making, will increase by 300 per cent, aluminum by 400 per cent, magnesium by 1,800 to 2,000 per cent.

TIMBER—Depleted forests will create a "serious situation," though consumption may rise only 10 per cent—perhaps the least of all materials.

ENERGY—Electric power must rise 260 per cent to sustain a doubled total output; demand for liquid fuels will more than double, for natural gas will triple. Coal demand will climb 60 per cent and the commission predicted:

"All signs point to a re-emergence of coal in stronger and stronger demand, as supplies of petroleum and natural gas inevitably begin to decline and grow more costly."

The inadequacy of domestic output, now running 10 per cent behind total demand for materials, was pictured as a defense problem.

The Paley report noted that, of 74 materials now on the stockpile list, the United States must import its entire supply of 40 and part of the suupply of all the other 34.

Of the 100 minerals used in industry, one-third comes wholly from abroad, another third partly from abroad, and only the remaining third from domestic sources alone.

the "Vopos" and their Russian leaders. The Reds had slipped across the border and taken positions before moving in.

Tension Heightened

The incident heightened tension along the east-west border and enraged West German dwellers along the frontier. The Reds' bold sally scared workmen, jittery since the Communists proclaimed their frontier "security belt" and gave their border police shoot-to-kill orders.

In West German Hannover, the Bonn's Government's minister for All-German Affairs, Jakob Kaiser, said an attempt should be made to arrange a four-power meeting which "would make clear whether the hour has come for the reunification of Germany."

He warned however, that the Germans must insist on free elections.

In Hamburg, the newspaper Welt An Sonntag said the Bonn Government had received reports that the Russians are building a huge "Stalin wall" of military and naval bases along the Baltic sea coast of eastern Germany.

the "Vcpos" and their Russian leaders. The Reds had slipped across the border and taken positions before moving in.

Tension Heightened

The incident heightened tension along the east-west border and enraged West German dwellers along the frontier. The Reds' bold sally scared workmen, jittery since the Communists proclaimed their frontier "security belt" and gave their border police shoot-to-kill orders.

In West German Hannover, the Bonn's Government's minister for All-German Affairs, Jakob Kaiser, said an attempt should be made to arrange a four-power meeting which "would make clear whether the hour has come for the reunification of Germany."

He warned however, that the Germans must insist on free elections.

In Hamburg, the newspaper Welt An Sonntag said the Bonn Government had received reports that the Russians are building a huge "Stalin wall" of military and naval bases along the Baltic sea coast of eastern Germany.

Board Asks End . . .

resources discovery and development here and overseas. Among other things, it proposed that the states and private firms be offered financial incentives to seek out new sources of materials and to conserve available natural resources.

The report mentioned such incentives as special tax benefits to prospectors in this country and abroad.

The five-man commission headed by William Paley, chairman of Columbia Broadcasting System, urged that Congress pass a score of new laws.

Through five bulky volumes delivered to President Truman the Paley Commission hit one recurrent note: America cannot go alone on its materials policy.

The situation is less a matter of dwindling resources than a problem of economic growth, the report said.

Sees Increase by 1957

The commission predicted that by 1957 the need for raw materials would increase 50 to 60 per cent—to support a doubling of national production and a population growth of 42 million, to a total 193 million persons.

"The threat of the materials problem lies in insidiously rising costs which can undermine our standard of living, impair the dynamic of American capitalism and weaken the economic foundations of national security," the report said.

"These costs are not just dollar costs, but what economists refer to as real costs—meaning the hours of human work and the amounts of capital required to bring a pound of industrial material or a unit of energy into useful form."

The report said the problem can be met only by cooperation with the other free countries, whose rate of growth probably will outstrip our own.

Premise of Report

The commission offered as the major premise of its report:

"The overall objective of a national materials policy for the United States should be to insure an adequate and dependable flow of materials at the lowest cost consistent with national security and with the welfare of friendly nations."

Besides challenging the recent rise of "protectionist" sentiment in Congress, the report took a view on taxes opposite some administration policies.

It upheld, for instance, the "percentage depletion" tax benefits rendered to gas, oil and mining operators. The commission said this device is a valuable incentive to oil and mineral exploration.

The commission did suggest that percentage depletion benefits be denied for some of the more than 60 minerals now covered, but took no position similar to Truman's view that this program should be abolished as a tax "loophole."

The commission proposed the restoration of the National Security Resources Board—which it said now has few active functions—to its originally-intended role as the government's center of research and policy-making in the materials field.

Lack Is Criticized

The report criticized the lack of a present overall head of federal research and suggested that the National Science Foundation be given broad coordinating authority. The report said.

"The spectacle of the government spending $1,600,000,000 of the national total of $2,900,000,000 (spent on research annually) with so little top directoon is somewhat breathtaking."

Sweeping increases in demand for materials, which in many cases already are becoming scarcer and costlier, were foreseen for the next 25 years as follows:

METALS — Demand for iron, copper, lead and zinc may rise only 40 to 50 per cent, but other consumption will soar. Demand for fluorspar, used principally in steel making, will increase by 300 per cent, aluminum by 400 per cent, magnesium by 1,800 to 2,000 per cent.

TIMBER—Depleted forests will create a "serious situation," though consumption may rise only 10 per cent—perhaps the least of all materials.

ENERGY—Electric power must rise 260 per cent to sustain a doubled total output; demand for liquid fuels will more than double, for natural gas will triple. Coal demand will climb 60 per cent and the commission predicted:

"All signs point to a re-emergence of coal in stronger and stronger demand, as supplies of petroleum and natural gas inevitably begin to decline and grow more costly."

The inadequacy of domestic output, now running 10 per cent behind total demand for materials, was pictured as a defense problem.

The Paley report noted that, of 74 materials now on the stockpile list, the United States must import its entire supply of 40 and part of the suupply of all the other 34.

Of the 100 minerals used in industry, one-third comes wholly from abroad, another third partly from abroad, and only the remaining third from domestic sources alone.

Boulevard Gulf Scores Seven Unearned Runs to Top Joneses, 7-5

Three Miscues Set Up Costly Fourth Inning

Dairymen Lead 4-0 When Dike Collapses

Boulevard Gulf created one of those situations that Red Barber likes to dwell on over the airlanes when they registered seven unearned runs in one inning to defeat Jones Dairy, 7 to 5, in Sunday's City Baseball League feature at the Athletic Field.

Only a small turnout in the twilight of a damp, dank day saw the Gulfmen score seven times after the side should have been retired in the fourth inning to wrap up their third win in six starts.

The loss solidified the Dairymen's cellar position with only one victory in four outings. The Gulfmen, who got nice seven-hit pitching from Jerry Bechtold moved to within a half a game of the pace-setting Wiltwyck Motors and Chez Emile.

Hectic Inning

Joe Modica and Tommy Fisher, who relieved during the hectic fourth, permitted only five blows between them, but a couple of walks, some timely hitting and three Jones miscues turned the fourth frame into a nightmare.

Jones Dairy led 4-0 and Modica seemed in complete control of the situation when the Gulfmen came to bat in the bottom half of the fourth.

Barrringer popped to Tom Carlino, Joe Shattan singled but Rod Whitaker booted Bill Tierney's DP grounder and Shattan went all the way to third. Then the fun started. First came a double steal with Shattan scoring. Modica was rattled by the untoward happenings and promptly walked Van Loan and Bechtold to first base and himself out of the ball game.

Tommy Fisher relieved Modica and was greeted by Link Crosby's two-run single, scoring Schoonmaker and Van Loan. Crosby hustled to second on the relay and rode home on Lyons' single. A boot on Barringer's grounder accounted for the final tallies as Shattan, up for the second time, walked and Tierney flied to left to end the frame.

Jones Early Lead

Johnny Schatzel's single scoring Jones and Shelightner sent the Dairymen out in front, 2-0, in the second frame. With two down in the fourth, Modica singled, Schatzel walked and Bob Graves doubled to right field to boost the lead to 4-0.

The Dairymen loaded the sacks in the first but failed to score when Schatzel was forced at the plate and Berardi fanned. The Joneses came up with a freak double play in the Boulevard first on a grounder that caromed off Carlino's glove into Graves' waiting hands. Graves stepped on second for the force and got the runner at first.

Two players on each side collected a pair of hits, Graves' double was the only extra base blow of the game. Schatzel and Graves were the two-time Jones hitters, with Link Crosby and Joe Shattan hitting safely twice for the winners.

Yogi Berra's Booming Bat Gives Yankees Hope for New DiMaggio

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Larry (Yogi) Berra's ability to fill the departed Joe DiMaggio's shoes is the big reason why the New York Yankees are winging their way to their fourth successive American League pennant.

The slugging catcher, off to a ragged start due to a hand injury, has been hotter than a hundred degrees in the dugout during the past two weeks. As a result, the Yankees have swept past both Cleveland and the Boston Red Sox into first place.

In the last 14 games, Berra has hammered 10 home runs, drove in 20 of his team's 68 runs and personally has accounted for eight of their nine victories. That's reminiscent of DiMaggio at his best.

Gives Yanks Split

It was a four-bagger by Berra yesterday that snapped a six-inning scoreless duel between Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox and Bob Kuzava of the Yankees, and gave him the home run leadership of the league at 14. The Yankees went on to win the opener, 3-0, and lost the second, 2-1, but retained their two-game lead when the fourth place Indians swept a twin bill from the Red Sox, 7-0 and 5-4.

The split also proved a boon to the White Sox who jumped into second place, a half game in front of the Red Sox and Indians. The Washington Senators jumped off to an 8-5 first game victory but the St. Louis Browns came back with a 3-2 win. Detroit took a hardfought 12-inning 4-3 decision from Philadelphia but the Athletics bounced back with a 9-0 triumph.

Rain cut the National League activity in half, forcing the postponement of the scheduled doubleheader between Chicago and the Giants in New York and the single affair in Brooklyn between Pittsburgh and the Dodgers.

Cards Win Two

Airtight hurling by southpaws Al Brazle and Harry Brecheen gave the St. Louis Cardinals a pair of 7-2 victories over the Boston Braves while Cincinnati and Philadelphia split. The Reds copped the opener, 5-3 and the Phillies prevailed, 3-0, in the nightcap.

Blanked by Kuzava with two singles in the opener, the White Sox regained their winning ways in the second game when Marv Grissom outpitched the Yankees' Bill Miller. Eddie Robinson's two out single in the eighth followed by Sherm Lollar's run-scoring double, broke a 1-1 tie and gave Chicago its 13th victory in the last 17 games.

Steve Gromek celebrated the birth of a son Saturday night by hurling a two-hit shutout for the Indians over Boston in the first game of their twin bill. A 48-minute delay because of rain caused Gromek's shoulder to tighten and Mickey Harris finished his shutout with a scoreless ninth inning.

Successive singles by Jim Fridley, Merril Combs and Jim Hegan in the sixth produced a run and snapped a 4-4 deadlock that gave Mike Garcia his 10th victory in the nightcap.

Hal Newhouser, former pitching great now reduced to relief roles, hurled seven scoreless innings and scored the winning run for Detroit over Philadelphia in the 12th on pinch hitter Vic Wertz's bases loaded single with two out.

Zernial Blasts Two

Gus Zernial blasted two homers as part of a five hit spree in the second game to make it easy for Carl Scheib.

Randy Gumpert gained his first Washington win since he was obtained from the Red Sox as the Nats were presented with four unearned runs to vanquish St. Louis, 8-5. Gene Bearden was the whole show for the triumphant Browns in the 3-2 nightcap. The veteran southpaw had a shutout until the seventh, drove in the first St. Louis runs in the first with a double, and singled to set up the second run in the fifth.

Stan Musial stretched his consecutive game batting streak to 19 as the Cards tagged the Braves with two defeats. Stan the Man hit a couple of singles in the first game and a double in the nightcap as both Brazle and Brecheen stifled the Bostonians with five hits.

Catcher Andy Seminick gained revenge on his former Philadelphia teammates, belting a bases-loaded double in the ninth off relief pitcher Andy Hansen to break a 3-3 tie and give the Reds their first game victory. Karl Drews hurled a seven-inning shutout for the Phils in the nightcap.

Sugar Ray Makes Bid For Third Ring Title

Bout With Joe Maxim Tonight Rated Tossup

New York, June 23 (AP)—On the downhill side of one of the most brilliant careers in the history of boxing, Sugar Ray Robinson steps up in class tonight against light heavyweight champion Joey Mixim in a bold try for a third world title.

The sleek, clever, power-punching middleweight king was rated an even money choice to overcome a 15 or 16 pound weight handicap and join Ruby Boby Fitzsimmons (middleweight, heavyweight, light heavyweight) and Hammerin' Henry Armstrong (feather, light, welter) in the ultra-exclusive ranks of three-division rulers.

"I'm not what I used to be but I still think I can win this one," said the dapper, 31-year-old Robinson as he waited out the hours for his 9 p. m. (EST) 15-rounder in Yankee Stadium. "I'll be in there punching and trying for a knockout."

"If anyone is going to score any knockouts, it's going to be me," snorted Maxim. "Charles and Walcott never even floored me, so what's he going to knock me out with? I'll belt him out."

The handsome, 30-year-old Clevelander doesn't like Sugar Ray and he doesn't care who knows it. He'd like nothing better than to be the first man ever to flatten the world-famed Harlemite.

No Knockout Predicted

Despite the fiery talk, dark-haired Joey's long-time habits of caution in the ring probably won't be changed overnight. He'll probably stab with his left, punch inside as often as possible, and try to tie up Robinson before the latter can let go with his rippling combinations.

Most of the 35,000 fans who are expected to turn out at prices from $3 to $30 figure on seeing the bout go the full route. Any quick explosions will be frosting on the cake.

Some 10,000 of the $3 seats will go on sale today. If the damp weather continues they will sell slowly. It drizzled here yesterday and the weatherman came up with a gloomy prediction of possible thundershowers in the afternoon or evening. The temperature may hover around the 80's.

In case of postponement, the outdoor show will be moved back to Wednesday night. The baseball Giants are playing a night game at the Polo Grounds Tuesday and they and the Yankees have a mutual agrement that neither should compete with the other with outside attractions.

There will be no home television or radio broadcasts of the "battle of champions" and the promoting International Boxing Club predicts a gross gate of over $400,000. The club said it already had over $200,000 in the till.

Dodgers Meet Yanks In Little League

The two top pennant contenders — the Yankees and Dodgers—meet in the Little League pairing this evening at the 156th Field Artillery diamond on Manor avenue.

The Yankees are front running with three victories in four starts, with only an upset loss to the Red Sox, while the Dodgers, who feature the league's home run specialist in Hobart Armstrong, have won two out of three.

Boulevard Gulf Scores Seven Unearned Runs to Top Joneses, 7-5

Three Miscues Set Up Costly Fourth Inning

Dairymen Lead 4-0 When Dike Collapses

Boulevard Gulf created one of those situations that Red Barber likes to dwell on over the airlanes when they registered seven unearned runs in one inning to defeat Jones Dairy, 7 to 5, in Sunday's City Baseball League feature at the Athletic Field.

Only a small turnout in the twilight of a damp, dank day saw the Gulfmen score seven times after the side should have been retired in the fourth inning to wrap up their third win in six starts.

The loss solidified the Dairymen's cellar position with only one victory in four outings. The Gulfmen, who got nice seven-hit pitching from Jerry Bechtold moved to within a half a game of the pace-setting Wiltwyck Motors and Chez Emile.

Hectic Inning

Joe Modica and Tommy Fisher, who relieved during the hectic fourth, permitted only five blows between them, but a couple of walks, some timely hitting and three Jones miscues turned the fourth frame into a nightmare.

Jones Dairy led 4-0 and Modica seemed in complete control of the situation when the Gulfmen came to bat in the bottom half of the fourth.

Barrringer popped to Tom Carlino, Joe Shattan singled but Rod Whitaker booted Bill Tierney's DP grounder and Shattan went all the way to third. Then the fun started. First came a double steal with Shattan scoring. Modica was rattled by the untoward happenings and promptly walked Van Loan and Bechtold to first base and himself out of the ball game.

Tommy Fisher relieved Modica and was greeted by Link Crosby's two-run single, scoring Schoonmaker and Van Loan. Crosby hustled to second on the relay and rode home on Lyons' single. A boot on Barringer's grounder accounted for the final tallies as Shattan, up for the second time, walked and Tierney flied to left to end the frame.

Jones Early Lead

Johnny Schatzel's single scoring Jones and Shelightner sent the Dairymen out in front, 2-0, in the second frame. With two down in the fourth, Modica singled, Schatzel walked and Bob Graves doubled to right field to boost the lead to 4-0.

The Dairymen loaded the sacks in the first but failed to score when Schatzel was forced at the plate and Berardi fanned. The Joneses came up with a freak double play in the Boulevard first on a grounder that caromed off Carlino's glove into Graves' waiting hands. Graves stepped on second for the force and got the runner at first.

Two players on each side collected a pair of hits, Graves' double was the only extra base blow of the game. Schatzel and Graves were the two-time Jones hitters, with Link Crosby and Joe Shattan hitting safely twice for the winners.

HOW THE CHAMPS MEASURE UP

Sugar Ray Makes Bid For Third Ring Title

Bout With Joe Maxim Tonight Rated Tossup

New York, June 23 (AP)—On the downhill side of one of the most brilliant careers in the history of boxing, Sugar Ray Robinson steps up in class tonight against light heavyweight champion Joey Mixim in a bold try for a third world title.

The sleek, clever, power-punching middleweight king was rated an even money choice to overcome a 15 or 16 pound weight handicap and join Ruby Boby Fitzsimmons (middleweight, heavyweight, light heavyweight) and Hammerin' Henry Armstrong (feather, light, welter) in the ultra-exclusive ranks of three-division rulers.

"I'm not what I used to be but I still think I can win this one," said the dapper, 31-year-old Robinson as he waited out the hours for his 9 p. m. (EST) 15-rounder in Yankee Stadium. "I'll be in there punching and trying for a knockout."

"If anyone is going to score any knockouts, it's going to be me," snorted Maxim. "Charles and Walcott never even floored me, so what's he going to knock me out with? I'll belt him out."

The handsome, 30-year-old Clevelander doesn't like Sugar Ray and he doesn't care who knows it. He'd like nothing better than to be the first man ever to flatten the world-famed Harlemite.

No Knockout Predicted

Despite the fiery talk, dark-haired Joey's long-time habits of caution in the ring probably won't be changed overnight. He'll probably stab with his left, punch inside as often as possible, and try to tie up Robinson before the latter can let go with his rippling combinations.

Most of the 35,000 fans who are expected to turn out at prices from $3 to $30 figure on seeing the bout go the full route. Any quick explosions will be frosting on the cake.

Some 10,000 of the $3 seats will go on sale today. If the damp weather continues they will sell slowly. It drizzled here yesterday and the weatherman came up with a gloomy prediction of possible thundershowers in the afternoon or evening. The temperature may hover around the 80's.

Yogi Berra's Booming Bat Gives Yankees Hope for New DiMaggio

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Larry (Yogi) Berra's ability to fill the departed Joe DiMaggio's shoes is the big reason why the New York Yankees are winging their way to their fourth successive American League pennant.

The slugging catcher, off to a ragged start due to a hand injury, has been hotter than a hundred degrees in the dugout during the past two weeks. As a result, the Yankees have swept past both Cleveland and the Boston Red Sox into first place.

In the last 14 games, Berra has hammered 10 home runs, drove in 20 of his team's 68 runs and personally has accounted for eight of their nine victories. That's reminiscent of DiMaggio at his best.

Gives Yanks Split

It was a four-bagger by Berra yesterday that snapped a six-inning scoreless duel between Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox and Bob Kuzava of the Yankees, and gave him the home run leadership of the league at 14. The Yankees went on to win the opener, 3-0, and lost the second, 2-1, but retained their two-game lead when the fourth place Indians swept a twin bill from the Red Sox, 7-0 and 5-4.

The split also proved a boon to the White Sox who jumped into second place, a half game in front of the Red Sox and Indians. The Washington Senators jumped off to an 8-5 first game victory but the St. Louis Browns came back with a 3-2 win. Detroit took a hardfought 12-inning 4-3 decision from Philadelphia but the Athletics bounced back with a 9-0 triumph.

Rain cut the National League activity in half, forcing the postponement of the scheduled doubleheader between Chicago and the Giants in New York and the single affair in Brooklyn between Pittsburgh and the Dodgers.

Cards Win Two

Airtight hurling by southpaws Al Brazle and Harry Brecheen gave the St. Louis Cardinals a pair of 7-2 victories over the Boston Braves while Cincinnati and Philadelphia split. The Reds copped the opener, 5-3 and the Phillies prevailed, 3-0, in the nightcap.

Blanked by Kuzava with two singles in the opener, the White Sox regained their winning ways in the second game when Marv Grissom outpitched the Yankees' Bill Miller. Eddie Robinson's two out single in the eighth followed by Sherm Lollar's run-scoring double, broke a 1-1 tie and gave Chicago its 13th victory in the last 17 games.

Steve Gromek celebrated the birth of a son Saturday night by hurling a two-hit shutout for the Indians over Boston in the first game of their twin bill. A 48-minute delay because of rain caused Gromek's shoulder to tighten and Mickey Harris finished his shutout with a scoreless ninth inning.

Successive singles by Jim Fridley, Merril Combs and Jim Hegan in the sixth produced a run and snapped a 4-4 deadlock that gave Mike Garcia his 10th victory in the nightcap.

Hal Newhouser, former pitching great now reduced to relief roles, hurled seven scoreless innings and scored the winning run for Detroit over Philadelphia in the 12th on pinch hitter Vic Wertz's bases loaded single with two out.

Zernial Blasts Two

Gus Zernial blasted two homers as part of a five hit spree in the second game to make it easy for Carl Scheib.

Randy Gumpert gained his first Washington win since he was obtained from the Red Sox as the Nats were presented with four unearned runs to vanquish St. Louis, 8-5. Gene Bearden was the whole show for the triumphant Browns in the 3-2 nightcap. The veteran southpaw had a shutout until the seventh, drove in the first St. Louis runs in the first with a double, and singled to set up the second run in the fifth.

Stan Musial stretched his consecutive game batting streak to 19 as the Cards tagged the Braves with two defeats. Stan the Man hit a couple of singles in the first game and a double in the nightcap as both Brazle and Brecheen stifled the Bostonians with five hits.

Catcher Andy Seminick gained revenge on his former Philadelphia teammates, belting a bases-loaded double in the ninth off relief pitcher Andy Hansen to break a 3-3 tie and give the Reds their first game victory. Karl Drews hurled a seven-inning shutout for the Phils in the nightcap.

Cracks 75 Total At Palenville; 71 at Woodstock

Alvie Boice Second With 36-Hole 150

Long-hitting Clarence "Dubby" Raichle of Wiltwyck Golf Club leads the second annual Father Herdegen Memorial golf tournament at the halfway mark with a 36-hole total of 146.

Playing with a caution that belied his tremendous prowess off the tees, the Wiltwyck veteran carded a 37-38—75 on the rugged Rip Van Winkle Country Club layout Saturday at Palenville and followed with 37-34—71 in the second round Sunday at the Woodstock Country Club.

Raichle's superb shooting, in the face of bad weather and exacting fairway conditions, put him five strokes ahead of Alvin Boice of Twaalfskill, who carded a 36-hole score of 150.

Leon Randall, the Wiltwyck and city champion, carded a 151 with a 77 at Palenville and 74 at Woodstock. Bill Stifler of the Woodstock Country Club and Bill Kaufman, the lone Rip Van Winkle representative in the field, tied with 155s, behind George Hughes, the 1951 champion, who posted a 154.

Hughes compiled a 79 at Palenville and had a 75 at Woodstock. Stifler, a former club champion, gave Woodstock representation in the upper bracket of the tournament with an 83 at Palenville and a neat 72 on his home layout. Kaufman put together 79 at his home course and 76 at Woodstock.

Nesbitt Hits 75

The Ellenville and Shawangunk contingent produced a surprise in Warren Nesbitt, who showed surprising distance off the tees. Nesbitt, who had a hectic time in the 1951 inaugural tournament, was among the leaders with a 155. He fired 37-41—78 at Palenville and 37-40—77 at Woodstock.

Carroll Schipp, of Ellenville, who is unattached this season, posted a 157. He hit 80 in the opening round and 77 at Woodstock.

Two other players broke "160," Dick Davenport, the iron specialist, who shot 77-82—159 and Bill Van Aken, who made the finest comeback of the tournament.

After touring Palenville in a ragged 89, the former city champion equalled par at Woodstock with a 36-34—70. It was the lowest round in the tournament but his 159 aggregate left him 13 strokes behind the leader with 36 holes remaining.

Balky Weather

The weatherman refused to cooperate and treated the players to chilly weather and overcast skies Saturday and an intermittent drizzle during Sunday's round.

The tournament was played under strict summer rules and many in the field found Palenville's rugged layout a stern challenge.

Only seven players broke "80" at Palenville compared to 19 at Woodstock. The shooting on Woodstock's luxurious fairways and greens softened by overnight rain produced some spectacular comebacks and outstanding rounds.

The tournament swings to Twaalfskill Golf Club next Saturday, June 28, and winds up on Sunday, June 29, at Wiltwyck.

Pairings for the next weekend will be scrambled and announced in Wednesday's paper.

BOWLING

Without trying to alibi for Alex Gerlak's unhappy experience in the PGA tournament at Louisville, there is a strong temptation to reflect in hindsight for the moment.

There is a belief in this quarter that Alex's chances would have been better on a course that placed a premium on accuracy with the driver and irons.

Big Springs, one of the softest touches in recent PGA history, is a short, sprawling course made to order for the long hitters. The pros refer to it as an "eight or nine iron course."

For example, Chick Harbert of Detroit, is renowned as one of golfdom's longest hitters but on a course with tight fairways Harbert's fantastic tee shots get him into constant trouble. His success at Big Springs was due to tailor-made conditions. Here he could boom his unbelieveable drives to all sectors without getting into too much trouble.

Playing his normal game, Gerlak is a straight hitter off the tees and big league with his irons. With scores running higher on a stiff course, he would have gained a psychological lift that was missing the second day of qualifying.

The Louisville trio of Gerlak, Fabe Russell and N. LeVan Haver had not arrived in town at this writing, so there is no information available about Alex's tough luck. Maybe his putter collapsed or it might have been a combination of circumstances.

Word reaching here told of Alex's great shooting in practice the day before the qualifying round got under way. He is supposed to have posted a 64 or 65 and seemed to be in a position to assert himself on opening day. He got off to a fair start with a 37 and was only one-over par going to the 13th where his ball struck a tree, caromed into trouble and Alex was forced to settle for a triple-bogey seven. From that point Gerlak's star was in decline.

His 86 of the second day sounded almost incredible. It was probably the worst competitive round Gerlak has posted in the last 25 years.

• Pitch and Putt:

Boxing history records that when the late Tex Rickard viewed the gathering at the Dempsey-Carpentier bout at Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City (the first million dollar boxing show in history), he remarked: "I never seed anything like it before. . . ." You're tempted to say the same thing about the sudden burst of golf enthusiasm among Twaalfskill women. Gertrude Elwyn, as tournament chairlady, is the motivating factor in a surprising resurgence of competitive interest among the distaff department at the mid-town course. A total of 26 women are now playing first round matches in the first organized tournament in years at Twaalfskill. Proving that a little imagination, cooperation and enthusiasm can create a minor miracle when properly welded together.

• The Nineteenth Frame:

"Maybe we're getting Alex nervous," said Van Haver to Fabe Russell in the air-conditioned tap room at Big Springs after Gerlak's opening round of 78 in the PGA. "Okay," replied Russell, "we'll let him alone and follow some other threesome tomorrow." P.S.: Gerlak shot 86. Jessie Burnett's return to Wiltwyck Golf Club as a member of Woodstock Country Club in Wednesday's invitational furnished a little extra drama for the tournament. The tournament committee and publicity chairman Sylvia Leventhal are working like beavers to put the shindig over. Long-hitting Clarence "Dubby" Raichle was the medalist in the Central Hudson golf tournament's qualifying round and got by his first round in good shape. He posted a 72 on the rugged Powelton course at Newburgh.

Paul Hahn, one of golfdom's greatest trick shot artists, is scheduled for a 7 p. m., Tuesday, July 1, appearance at Twaalfskill. This is a real show, especially if you have never seen the amazing antics of a trick artist in golf. Joe Kirkwood, Sr., came from Australia to astound American audiences with his wizardry and buffoonery. Jack Redmond is another big name in that field. Now comes Hahn, who is terrific. Meanwhile if you'd like to spend a pleasant evening in another type of golf, why not visit Herbie Kessman's miniature golf course and batting cage on 9-W off Albany avenue extension. Par for the course is "45". It says here, two to one, you can't match par figures the first time around.

Immaculate Nine Cops CYO Title

Tony Turck emerged as the solid man of the Immaculate Conception's march to the CYO midget baseball crown.

Turck hurled a four-hitter and helped his own cause with a pair of doubles as the Immaculates cinched the crown Saturday with a 9 to 5 victory over St. Mary's. The winners collected 10 safeties off Bill Cragan.

The former Little League pitching star led the individual batting averages with a robust .667. Runnerup J. Gorman posted .571; R. Lucas .500; C. Burns .455; P. Sepsey .222; T. Mooney .142; B. Dudik .100.

Handle Most of Business

Marusic Carries Fred Haas 38 Holes Before Bowing 1-Down in PGA Tourney

Milon Marusic, Northeastern New York PGA representative in the National PGA tournament at Louisville, carried Fred Hass of New Orleans to the 38th hole before bowing 1-down in the quarter finals.

The slim, bald Herkimer professional led by 1-up at the ninth but they were all even at the 18th with 72s.

They were all square again at the 27th, but Haas gained the edge with a birdie 4 at the 35th. Marusic's 4 at the 36th, however, saved him temporarily as Haas drove into the rough and sent his second across the fairway under a tree before taking a five.

At the second extra hole, Marusic failed to hit the green from the tee and was trapped. Haas was on with his tee shot and sank a par 3.

In other matches, Chick Harbert of Detroit defeated Henry Williams Jr., of Kutztown, Pa., 6 and 5; Clarence Doser, Hartsdale, N. Y., won from Jack Isaacs of Langley Field, Va., 4 and 2; Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., downed Ray Honsberger of Clarkston, Wash., 2 and 1; Frank Champ, Houston, Texas defeated Walter Burkemo, Franklin, Mich., 3 and 1.

Cary Middlecoff, the tournament favorite, eliminated Al Smith of Danville, Va., 4 and 2 and Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., 5 and 4.

In a recent match between England and Wales, the English team reached the ambitious contract of three no-trump on the North-South cards shown today. The Welsh team stopped at one no-trump, making this contract with great ease. The English declarer had a harder time.

West opened the jack of hearts, the king was played from dummy, and East won with the ace. East promptly returned the queen of diamonds, and South held off until the third round of that suit.

South next entered dummy with the ten of hearts to lead the queen of spades. East covered with the king of spades, and South won with the ace. Declarer now indulged in some careful thought before proceeding with the spades.

West's opening lead was obviously a doubleton. The play of the diamonds indicated fairly clearly that West had started with only three cards in that suit. Hence West originally held five red cards and eight black cards.

Had West started with three spades and five clubs? This did not seem likely, since West would have led a club from a five-card suit instead of attacking the heart suit, which dummy had bid and rebid. South therefore came to the conclusion that West had started with four cards in each of the black suits.

South needed all four spade tricks to make his contract and he had just decided that West originally held four spades. The odds were West held the nine with his length in the suit, so South led the eight of spades from his hand and let ride as a finesse.

When this well-planned finesse succeeded, the English declarer made his game contract.

Workers to Return

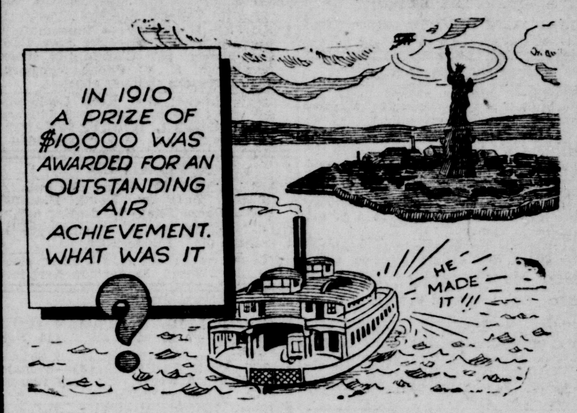

Saxonville, Mass., June 23 (AP)—Some 500 workers of the Roxbury Carpet Company—on strike since June 1—were scheduled to return to work today under a "truce" agreement. Jack Rubenstein, carpet and rug director of the Textile Workers Union of America, said in Boston that under the truce the workers will receive a seven-cent hourly pay hike, effective at once. In return the company has agreed to abondon a series of demands on the union and to match any additional gains won by TWUA-CIO from major carpet companies, Rubenstein said.

Clarence Raichle Leads Herdegen Memorial With 146 at Halfway Mark

Cracks 75 Total At Palenville; 71 at Woodstock

Alvie Boice Second With 36-Hole 150

Long-hitting Clarence "Dubby" Raichle of Wiltwyck Golf Club leads the second annual Father Herdegen Memorial golf tournament at the halfway mark with a 36-hole total of 146.

Playing with a caution that belied his tremendous prowess off the tees, the Wiltwyck veteran carded a 37-38—75 on the rugged Rip Van Winkle Country Club layout Saturday at Palenville and followed with 37-34—71 in the second round Sunday at the Woodstock Country Club.

Raichle's superb shooting, in the face of bad weather and exacting fairway conditions, put him five strokes ahead of Alvin Boice of Twaalfskill, who carded a 36-hole score of 150.

Leon Randall, the Wiltwyck and city champion, carded a 151 with a 77 at Palenville and 74 at Woodstock. Bill Stifler of the Woodstock Country Club and Bill Kaufman, the lone Rip Van Winkle representative in the field, tied with 155s, behind George Hughes, the 1951 champion, who posted a 154.

Hughes compiled a 79 at Palenville and had a 75 at Woodstock. Stifler, a former club champion, gave Woodstock representation in the upper bracket of the tournament with an 83 at Palenville and a neat 72 on his home layout. Kaufman put together 79 at his home course and 76 at Woodstock.

Nesbitt Hits 75

The Ellenville and Shawangunk contingent produced a surprise in Warren Nesbitt, who showed surprising distance off the tees. Nesbitt, who had a hectic time in the 1951 inaugural tournament, was among the leaders with a 155. He fired 37-41—78 at Palenville and 37-40—77 at Woodstock.

Carroll Schipp, of Ellenville, who is unattached this season, posted a 157. He hit 80 in the opening round and 77 at Woodstock.

Two other players broke "160," Dick Davenport, the iron specialist, who shot 77-82—159 and Bill Van Aken, who made the finest comeback of the tournament.

After touring Palenville in a ragged 89, the former city champion equalled par at Woodstock with a 36-34—70. It was the lowest round in the tournament but his 159 aggregate left him 13 strokes behind the leader with 36 holes remaining.

Balky Weather

The weatherman refused to cooperate and treated the players to chilly weather and overcast skies Saturday and an intermittent drizzle during Sunday's round.

The tournament was played under strict summer rules and many in the field found Palenville's rugged layout a stern challenge.

Only seven players broke "80" at Palenville compared to 19 at Woodstock. The shooting on Woodstock's luxurious fairways and greens softened by overnight rain produced some spectacular comebacks and outstanding rounds.

The tournament swings to Twaalfskill Golf Club next Saturday, June 28, and winds up on Sunday, June 29, at Wiltwyck.

Pairings for the next weekend will be scrambled and announced in Wednesday's paper.

BOWLING

Without trying to alibi for Alex Gerlak's unhappy experience in the PGA tournament at Louisville, there is a strong temptation to reflect in hindsight for the moment.

There is a belief in this quarter that Alex's chances would have been better on a course that placed a premium on accuracy with the driver and irons.

Big Springs, one of the softest touches in recent PGA history, is a short, sprawling course made to order for the long hitters. The pros refer to it as an "eight or nine iron course."

For example, Chick Harbert of Detroit, is renowned as one of golfdom's longest hitters but on a course with tight fairways Harbert's fantastic tee shots get him into constant trouble. His success at Big Springs was due to tailor-made conditions. Here he could boom his unbelieveable drives to all sectors without getting into too much trouble.

Playing his normal game, Gerlak is a straight hitter off the tees and big league with his irons. With scores running higher on a stiff course, he would have gained a psychological lift that was missing the second day of qualifying.

The Louisville trio of Gerlak, Fabe Russell and N. LeVan Haver had not arrived in town at this writing, so there is no information available about Alex's tough luck. Maybe his putter collapsed or it might have been a combination of circumstances.

Word reaching here told of Alex's great shooting in practice the day before the qualifying round got under way. He is supposed to have posted a 64 or 65 and seemed to be in a position to assert himself on opening day. He got off to a fair start with a 37 and was only one-over par going to the 13th where his ball struck a tree, caromed into trouble and Alex was forced to settle for a triple-bogey seven. From that point Gerlak's star was in decline.

His 86 of the second day sounded almost incredible. It was probably the worst competitive round Gerlak has posted in the last 25 years.

• Pitch and Putt:

Boxing history records that when the late Tex Rickard viewed the gathering at the Dempsey-Carpentier bout at Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City (the first million dollar boxing show in history), he remarked: "I never seed anything like it before. . . ." You're tempted to say the same thing about the sudden burst of golf enthusiasm among Twaalfskill women. Gertrude Elwyn, as tournament chairlady, is the motivating factor in a surprising resurgence of competitive interest among the distaff department at the mid-town course. A total of 26 women are now playing first round matches in the first organized tournament in years at Twaalfskill. Proving that a little imagination, cooperation and enthusiasm can create a minor miracle when properly welded together.

• The Nineteenth Frame:

"Maybe we're getting Alex nervous," said Van Haver to Fabe Russell in the air-conditioned tap room at Big Springs after Gerlak's opening round of 78 in the PGA. "Okay," replied Russell, "we'll let him alone and follow some other threesome tomorrow." P.S.: Gerlak shot 86. Jessie Burnett's return to Wiltwyck Golf Club as a member of Woodstock Country Club in Wednesday's invitational furnished a little extra drama for the tournament. The tournament committee and publicity chairman Sylvia Leventhal are working like beavers to put the shindig over. Long-hitting Clarence "Dubby" Raichle was the medalist in the Central Hudson golf tournament's qualifying round and got by his first round in good shape. He posted a 72 on the rugged Powelton course at Newburgh.

Paul Hahn, one of golfdom's greatest trick shot artists, is scheduled for a 7 p. m., Tuesday, July 1, appearance at Twaalfskill. This is a real show, especially if you have never seen the amazing antics of a trick artist in golf. Joe Kirkwood, Sr., came from Australia to astound American audiences with his wizardry and buffoonery. Jack Redmond is another big name in that field. Now comes Hahn, who is terrific. Meanwhile if you'd like to spend a pleasant evening in another type of golf, why not visit Herbie Kessman's miniature golf course and batting cage on 9-W off Albany avenue extension. Par for the course is "45". It says here, two to one, you can't match par figures the first time around.

Immaculate Nine Cops CYO Title

Tony Turck emerged as the solid man of the Immaculate Conception's march to the CYO midget baseball crown.

Turck hurled a four-hitter and helped his own cause with a pair of doubles as the Immaculates cinched the crown Saturday with a 9 to 5 victory over St. Mary's. The winners collected 10 safeties off Bill Cragan.

The former Little League pitching star led the individual batting averages with a robust .667. Runnerup J. Gorman posted .571; R. Lucas .500; C. Burns .455; P. Sepsey .222; T. Mooney .142; B. Dudik .100.

The score:

Imm. Conception	2	0	0
St. Mary's	0	0	0

Handle Most of Business

Marusic Carries Fred Haas 38 Holes Before Bowing 1-Down in PGA Tourney

Milon Marusic, Northeastern New York PGA representative in the National PGA tournament at Louisville, carried Fred Hass of New Orleans to the 38th hole before bowing 1-down in the quarter finals.

The slim, bald Herkimer professional led by 1-up at the ninth but they were all even at the 18th with 72s.

They were all square again at the 27th, but Haas gained the edge with a birdie 4 at the 35th. Marusic's 4 at the 36th, however, saved him temporarily as Haas drove into the rough and sent his second across the fairway under a tree before taking a five.

At the second extra hole, Marusic failed to hit the green from the tee and was trapped. Haas was on with his tee shot and sank a par 3.

In other matches, Chick Harbert of Detroit defeated Henry Williams Jr., of Kutztown, Pa., 6 and 5; Clarence Doser, Hartsdale, N. Y., won from Jack Isaacs of Langley Field, Va., 4 and 2; Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., downed Ray Honsberger of Clarkston, Wash., 2 and 1; Frank Champ, Houston, Texas defeated Walter Burkemo, Franklin, Mich., 3 and 1.

Cary Middlecoff, the tournament favorite, eliminated Al Smith of Danville, Va., 4 and 2 and Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., 5 and 4.

In a recent match between England and Wales, the English team reached the ambitious contract of three no-trump on the North-South cards shown today. The Welsh team stopped at one no-trump, making this contract with great ease. The English declarer had a harder time.

West opened the jack of hearts, the king was played from dummy, and East won with the ace. East promptly returned the queen of diamonds, and South held off until the third round of that suit.

South next entered dummy with the ten of hearts to lead the queen of spades. East covered with the king of spades, and South won with the ace. Declarer now indulged in some careful thought before proceeding with the spades.

West's opening lead was obviously a doubleton. The play of the diamonds indicated fairly clearly that West had started with only three cards in that suit. Hence West originally held five red cards and eight black cards.

Had West started with three spades and five clubs? This did not seem likely, since West would have led a club from a five-card suit instead of attacking the heart suit, which dummy had bid and rebid. South therefore came to the conclusion that West had started with four cards in each of the black suits.

South needed all four spade tricks to make his contract and he had just decided that West originally held four spades. The odds were West held the nine with his length in the suit, so South led the eight of spades from his hand and let ride as a finesse.

When this well-planned finesse succeeded, the English declarer made his game contract.

Workers to Return

Saxonville, Mass., June 23 (AP)—Some 500 workers of the Roxbury Carpet Company—on strike since June 1—were scheduled to return to work today under a "truce" agreement. Jack Rubenstein, carpet and rug director of the Textile Workers Union of America, said in Boston that under the truce the workers will receive a seven-cent hourly pay hike, effective at once. In return the company has agreed to abondon a series of demands on the union and to match any additional gains won by TWUA-CIO from major carpet companies, Rubenstein said.

Eichelberger Gives Backing to General

Asheville, N. C., June 23 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger (Ret.), top aide to Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the occupation of Japan, has voiced his support for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination.

Interviewed by the Asheville Citizen at his home here yesterday, Eichelberger also criticized aspects of the role played in politics by his old chief, MacArthur.

Eichelberger, 66 years old and retired since December, 1948, said he had reached his decision to support Eisenhower after "traveling extensively for eight months and talking to thousands of people." Eichelberger added:

"When one talks personally to farmers, to electricians, and to technicians—the men who constitute the great backbone of this country — one finds an unusual sentiment for Eisenhower and for no other Republican."

There was no immediate comment from MacArthur in New York city on Eichelberger's interview.

Breweries Are Closed

Newark, N. J., June 23 (AP)—Five big breweries in this area were closed down today when workers refused to cross picket lines set up by AFL machinists, who struck for higher wages Saturday. The breweries are P. Ballantine & Sons; Pabst Blue Ribbon; G. Krueger Brewing Co., Hensler Brewing Co. and Rheingold.

Charles E. Coutant Places First in Jaycee Road-e-o

Coutant topped 30 contestants, both boys and girls, easing his wheels along the chalk and through the five tests with fine touch and judgment.

Second place winner was Charles Koemm of Ulster Park and third was Joseph Nelson of Stone Ridge. All three will compete in the state Road-e-o at Binghamton July 20. State winners will compete in the national Road-e-o in Washington, D.C. Aug. 20-23 for a top scholarship prize of $1,000, second and third scholarship prizes of $500 and $250 and two other prizes of $100 each.

The nation-wide Jaycee Road-e-o, sponsored by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, is designed to increase safe driving on the nation's highways where last year 37,500 lives were lost, one of the four blackest years in traffic history.

Peter Zegel of Rosendale was declared fourth place winner with fifth place going to Ralph Williams, 95 Hasbrouck avenue, and sixth to Richard Langton, 35 Jansen avenue. A special prize was awarded to Jane LeFever of Richmond Park as the best teen-age girl driver. Three handsome trophies, each approximately 12 inches high, donated by Electrol Incorporated, were awarded to the three winners.

Tests Require Skill

First test facing the contestant was to drive a straight line forward and backward for 100 feet, keeping the left front and left rear wheels on a chalk line. The second test, a real dilly, consisted in maneuvering the vehicle forward and backward on a winding, narrow course. The third test was to park between two other cars and fourth consisted in driving forward and backward and stopping the car precisely at spots marked on the track, once with the front bumper on the mark, again with the rear bumper, once with the front left wheel and once with the left rear wheel. The final test consisted in driving at 20 miles per hour, applying the brakes at a designated point and stopping the car smoothly within 40 feet with the front bumper directly over a chalk line laid across the road.

The contestant could make a possible 500 points, 400 for the driving test and 100 for a short written examination. Points were taken away for each error made by the contestant.

Expresses Appreciation

Charles Jones, president of the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce which was organized last April, expressed the appreciation of the local Jaycee organization for assistance received by the Junior Chamber in its first major civic enterprise. He thanked the City of Kingston for use of the stadium and for supplying the traffic stanchions, the city police, sheriff's office, David Freer, who provided the loudspeaker, and others. John Doyle was chairman of the Jaycee committee in charge of the Road-e-o.

The following were contestants: Donald Paul Kiwus, 14 South Wall street; Alice E. Millonig, 99 Clinton avenue; Eugene Whiting, Glenford; William R. Osterhoudt, Stone Ridge; Bruce Hinkley, 25 Prince street; Joseph Nelson, Stone Ridge; Louis K. Adler, 411 Albany avenue; Peter Cafaldo, Glasco; Michael Vogel, New Paltz; Alan Deegan, 219 Albany avenue; Katherine Nicolosi, 74 Florence street; Arlene Kiersted, RFD 4, Box 218; J. Keeneth Roos, Jr., 167 West Chestnut street; Jeanette Yonta, 166 Delaware avenue; Edward Browne, RD3, Box 57; Don Hoban, 110 Harding avenue; Betsy DeWitt, 202 Albany avenue; Harold Carlson, Shokan; Jane Le Fever, Richmond Park; Richard Langton, 35 Jansen avenue; George Telepas, 111 Green street; Charles Koemm, Ulster Park; Peter Zegel, Rosendale; Harvey W. Thompson, 625 Broadway; Ralph Williams, 95 Hasbrouck avenue and Tom Hughes, Ruby.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Physician Is Killed

Greenwich, Conn., June 23 (AP)—A Greenwich physician was found shot to death in a room at the Pickwick Arms Hotel here Saturday. Police Capt. James T. Healy said Dr. J. Leanord Vickern, 53, of Greenwich, shot himself in the left temple with a .38 calibre revolver. Capt. Healy said the body was found by a building superintendent shortly before 2 p. m. He said the doctor grasped the pistol in his left hand and a telephone in the other. He wore only his underclothing. The police captain said Dr. Vickern apparently made a telephone call or received one just prior to his death. Police said Dr. Vickern is a former member of the medical staff of Greenwich Hospital. He was divorced.

Girl Ball Player

take a 9-4 licking from Lancaster, Pa., and she sat in the press box, another heaven considered to be for men only.

Today the Senators shoved off for Allentown, Pa., on a five-day road trip—without inviting their attractive rookie to accompany them.

Curvacious Eleanor has never played baseball before. She has played a bit of softball.

The reaction:

Eleanor—"I love the game. I think more girls should be playing baseball or at least become interested in the sport."

Umpire Bill Amgstadt—"If I was umpiring at the plate and she walked up to bat, I'd quit umpiring. That's all, I'd quit.

Whitey Kurowski, manager of the Allentown Cardinals—"If she comes into the game, I'd protest. I don't know why. But I'd protest."

Robert L. Finch, assistant to minor league czar George M. Trautman—"no rule specifically prohibits signing of women but such a contract would not be approved by this office."

Gerry Nugent, Interstate League president—"I'd go slow on this thing."

Howard Gordon, Senators' general manager—"Maybe she'll play, maybe she won't. After all, we must abide by the rules as laid down by the powers that be."

George Engle, Eleanor's husband, a carpenter foreman — "I was amazed when I heard of it but of course, she has my permission."

Hens Increase Production

Albany, N. Y., June 23 (AP)—Hens laid more than a billion eggs in New York state in the first five months of this year, a gain of 9 per cent over the corresponding period last year. The State Agriculture Department said yesterday that the May output of 202,000,000 eggs boosted the five-month total to 1,050,000,000. Egg production last month was 5 per cent above that of May, 1951.

Eichelberger Gives Backing to General

Asheville, N. C., June 23 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger (Ret.), top aide to Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the occupation of Japan, has voiced his support for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination.

Interviewed by the Asheville Citizen at his home here yesterday, Eichelberger also criticized aspects of the role played in politics by his old chief, MacArthur.

Eichelberger, 66 years old and retired since December, 1948, said he had reached his decision to support Eisenhower after "traveling extensively for eight months and talking to thousands of people." Eichelberger added:

"When one talks personally to farmers, to electricians, and to technicians—the men who constitute the great backbone of this country — one finds an unusual sentiment for Eisenhower and for no other Republican."

There was no immediate comment from MacArthur in New York city on Eichelberger's interview.

Breweries Are Closed

Newark, N. J., June 23 (AP)—Five big breweries in this area were closed down today when workers refused to cross picket lines set up by AFL machinists, who struck for higher wages Saturday. The breweries are P. Ballantine & Sons; Pabst Blue Ribbon; G. Krueger Brewing Co., Hensler Brewing Co. and Rheingold.

Charles E. Coutant Places First in Jaycee Road-e-o

Charles E. Coutant of Ruby got the nod of the judges Saturday afternoon at municipal stadium after soothing his car through torturous paces in the first teen-age Road-e-o ever held in Kingston.

Coutant topped 30 contestants, both boys and girls, easing his wheels along the chalk and through the five tests with fine touch and judgment.

Second place winner was Charles Koemm of Ulster Park and third was Joseph Nelson of Stone Ridge. All three will compete in the state Road-e-o at Binghamton July 20. State winners will compete in the national Road-e-o in Washington, D.C. Aug. 20-23 for a top scholarship prize of $1,000, second and third scholarship prizes of $500 and $250 and two other prizes of $100 each.

The nation-wide Jaycee Road-e-o, sponsored by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, is designed to increase safe driving on the nation's highways where last year 37,500 lives were lost, one of the four blackest years in traffic history.

Peter Zegel of Rosendale was declared fourth place winner with fifth place going to Ralph Williams, 95 Hasbrouck avenue, and sixth to Richard Langton, 35 Jansen avenue. A special prize was awarded to Jane LeFever of Richmond Park as the best teen-age girl driver. Three handsome trophies, each approximately 12 inches high, donated by Electrol Incorporated, were awarded to the three winners.

Tests Require Skill

First test facing the contestant was to drive a straight line forward and backward for 100 feet, keeping the left front and left rear wheels on a chalk line. The second test, a real dilly, consisted in maneuvering the vehicle forward and backward on a winding, narrow course. The third test was to park between two other cars and fourth consisted in driving forward and backward and stopping the car precisely at spots marked on the track, once with the front bumper on the mark, again with the rear bumper, once with the front left wheel and once with the left rear wheel. The final test consisted in driving at 20 miles per hour, applying the brakes at a designated point and stopping the car smoothly within 40 feet with the front bumper directly over a chalk line laid across the road.

The contestant could make a possible 500 points, 400 for the driving test and 100 for a short written examination. Points were taken away for each error made by the contestant.

Expresses Appreciation

Charles Jones, president of the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce which was organized last April, expressed the appreciation of the local Jaycee organization for assistance received by the Junior Chamber in its first major civic enterprise. He thanked the City of Kingston for use of the stadium and for supplying the traffic stanchions, the city police, sheriff's office, David Freer, who provided the loudspeaker, and others. John Doyle was chairman of the Jaycee committee in charge of the Road-e-o.

The following were contestants: Donald Paul Kiwus, 14 South Wall street; Alice E. Millonig, 99 Clinton avenue; Eugene Whiting, Glenford; William R. Osterhoudt, Stone Ridge; Bruce Hinkley, 25 Prince street; Joseph Nelson, Stone Ridge; Louis K. Adler, 411 Albany avenue; Peter Cafaldo, Glasco; Michael Vogel, New Paltz; Alan Deegan, 219 Albany avenue; Katherine Nicolosi, 74 Florence street; Arlene Kiersted, RFD 4, Box 218; J. Keeneth Roos, Jr., 167 West Chestnut street; Jeanette Yonta, 166 Delaware avenue; Edward Browne, RD3, Box 57; Don Hoban, 110 Harding avenue; Betsy DeWitt, 202 Albany avenue; Harold Carlson, Shokan; Jane Le Fever, Richmond Park; Richard Langton, 35 Jansen avenue; George Telepas, 111 Green street; Charles Koemm, Ulster Park; Peter Zegel, Rosendale; Harvey W. Thompson, 625 Broadway; Ralph Williams, 95 Hasbrouck avenue and Tom Hughes, Ruby.

Physician Is Killed

Greenwich, Conn., June 23 (AP)—A Greenwich physician was found shot to death in a room at the Pickwick Arms Hotel here Saturday. Police Capt. James T. Healy said Dr. J. Leanord Vickern, 53, of Greenwich, shot himself in the left temple with a .38 calibre revolver. Capt. Healy said the body was found by a building superintendent shortly before 2 p. m. He said the doctor grasped the pistol in his left hand and a telephone in the other. He wore only his underclothing. The police captain said Dr. Vickern apparently made a telephone call or received one just prior to his death. Police said Dr. Vickern is a former member of the medical staff of Greenwich Hospital. He was divorced.

take a 9-4 licking from Lancaster, Pa., and she sat in the press box, another heaven considered to be for men only.

Today the Senators shoved off for Allentown, Pa., on a five-day road trip—without inviting their attractive rookie to accompany them.

Curvacious Eleanor has never played baseball before. She has played a bit of softball.

The reaction:

Eleanor—"I love the game. I think more girls should be playing baseball or at least become interested in the sport."

Umpire Bill Amgstadt—"If I was umpiring at the plate and she walked up to bat, I'd quit umpiring. That's all, I'd quit.

Whitey Kurowski, manager of the Allentown Cardinals—"If she comes into the game, I'd protest. I don't know why. But I'd protest."

Robert L. Finch, assistant to minor league czar George M. Trautman—"no rule specifically prohibits signing of women but such a contract would not be approved by this office."

Gerry Nugent, Interstate League president—"I'd go slow on this thing."

Howard Gordon, Senators' general manager—"Maybe she'll play, maybe she won't. After all, we must abide by the rules as laid down by the powers that be."

George Engle, Eleanor's husband, a carpenter foreman—"I was amazed when I heard of it but of course, she has my permission."

Hens Increase Production

Albany, N. Y., June 23 (AP)—Hens laid more than a billion eggs in New York state in the first five months of this year, a gain of 9 per cent over the corresponding period last year. The State Agriculture Department said yesterday that the May output of 202,000,000 eggs boosted the five-month total to 1,050,000,000. Egg production last month was 5 per cent above that of May, 1951.

Pro Baseball Nixes Feminine Players

The action, a joint one by Commissioner Ford Frick and minor league President George M. Trautman, came on the heels of announcement that Harrisburg, Pa., of the Interstate loop had signed pretty Eleanor Engle.

Miss Engle went through pregame practice with the Senators yesterday, but watched the game from the press box, and was back today on her job as stenographer.

Trautman, in a telephone conversation from San Francisco, said today that "such travesties" as the signing of women players will not be tolerated, and that clubs signing, or attempting to sign, women players will be subject to severe penalties.

Heart Grants Announced

New York, June 23 (AP)—The American Heart Association announced last night grants-in-aid totaling $361,522 for 72 research projects in heart and blood diseases. The latest grants raised to more than four million dollars the combined total spent for research by the national group and its state and local affiliates since 1948, Association President Irving S. Wright said. Recipients of the grants included medical schools, hospitals, laboratories and other institutions for a variety of studies of new and improved methods of diagnosis, treatment and prevention.

Mole Heads Amvets

Albany, N. Y., June 23 (AP)—A. Chalmers Mole, New York city attorney, is the new state commander of the Amvets. Mole was elected yesterday at the closing session of the three-day state convention. He succeeds John M. Signer of Albany, who was named a delegate to the national convention. Other officers elected include: Henry A. Von Kroge, Central Islip, second vice commander, and James Hollihan, Poughkeepsie, finance officer.

Davies Is Ill

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Joseph E. Davies, former U. S. ambassador to Russia, was reported ill in a New York hospital today. His family here did not reveal the nature of his illness but Mrs. Davies said she was going to New York today.

Six-foot Statue Of Virgin Mary To Be Dedicated

The Shrine of Our Lady of the Hudson will be dedicated Saturday afternoon, June 28, at 2 o'clock on the grounds of the Church of the Presentation, Port Ewen.

The address will be given by the Rev. John G. Schultz, C.Ss.R., of the Preachers Institute, Washington, D. C.

The six-foot-high statue, sculptured from bluestone quarried at Sawkill, depicts the Virgin Mary holding a tugboat. Penning worked on the statue for eight months in his High Woods studio. He had previously done a bluestone statue of our Lady of Fatima for the Quarryville church and another statue for a church at Chester.

Saturday's dedication is expected to attract considerable interest on the part of Hudson river boatmen.

Port Ewen was chosen as the site of the shrine of "Our Lady of the Hudson," the official title of the statue, because of the proximity of Presentation Church to the river, and too, because some 250 residents of Port Ewen and the surrounding area are engaged as boatmen at the present time.

The idea of the shrine originated with the boatmen themselves and was welcomed by the parish at Port Ewen. The execution of the original design of the statue is the work of Thomas Penning, Woodstock sculptor who has labored tirelessly and with consummate skill to bring to realization this beautiful concept. Most of the companies engaged in the river industry and many of the boatmen and their friends have contributed the means whereby the work could be completed.

Among the speakers will be the Rev. John G. Schultz, C.Ss.R., a member of the faculty of the Preacher's Institute at the Catholic University of America in Washington, D. C.; the Rev. Michael A. Gearin, C.Ss.R., rector of Mount St. Alphonsus, Esopus, and the Right Rev. John J. O'Donnell, chaplain of the Port of New York. The statue will be solemnly blessed by the Right Rev. Martin J. Drury, dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties.

Man Violated Parole

Joseph S. Sterpka, 17, of Winsted, Conn., was arrested on Route 9W near Highland Saturday afternoon and was charged with violation of parole, state police reported. Troopers, who said they stopped Sterpka for allegedly speeding and driving without an operator's license, reported that investigation revealed he was on parole from a Cheshire, Conn., reformatory, on a "breaking and entry" charge. He was held at the Ulster county jail and turned over later to E. P. Ivan and G. Greenwood, reformatory authorities.

YM Lists Summer Vacation Schedule

The summer vacation program for boys starts at the YMCA this week with activities scheduled for every day. The program includes two swimming periods for girls and includes free swimming instructions for girl beginners during the month of July.

Monday will be trip day with all-day trips being made to Williams Lake, North Lake, Catskill Game Farm, Bear Mountain, Hudson Day Line boat trip, fishing trip to Ashokan Reservoir, DeWitt Lake and overnight camping trips at DeWitt Lake.

Boys' swimming classes will be held at 10 a. m. on Tuesday and Thursdays. Baseball will be held every Saturday at 9:30 a. m. followed by a swim. A special afternoon building program for boys will be held from 2 to 5.

There will be a special trip to the Hagen Brothers Circus at Forsyth Park July 4 sponsored by Fuller Shirt Co. and Skyline Mfg. Co.

The girls' swimming classes will be held every Wednesday and Friday, first period for beginners coming at 9:15 a. m. All these girls should turn in a registration blank signed by their parents.

Nests of many birds are built in the six-day period required for forming and developing the first egg.

Sensational new Devoe WONDER-1-COAT revolutionizes house painting!

IN JUST ONE COAT YOU GET 2-COAT BEAUTY AND PROTECTION!
REPAINTING COSTS are now slashed practically in half. Thanks to the world's first ONE-COAT House Paint. Instead of the conventional two coats for repainting, you now need only one coat — half the time, half the labor, half the costs! It's the most sensational painting news in all history!
The secret? In 3 words: TREMENDOUS HIDING POWER! Matter of fact Devoe WONDER-1-COAT has more than double the hiding power of ordinary paints. Which simply means that just one coat of this miracle paint does the job of two coats of ordinary paint.
What is hiding power? It's the ability of a paint to protect and hide any given surface. Devoe WONDER-1-COAT House Paint does that job twice as effectively as any other ordinary house paint! AND LASTS AS LONG AS TWO COATS!
We'll be glad to give you names of paint contractors who regularly use Devoe WONDER-1-COAT House Paint. You can get a paint estimate for your house absolutely without obligation.

Pro Baseball Nixes Feminine Players

Columbus, O., June 23 (AP) — Professional baseball today turned thumbs down on the signing of feminine players.

The action, a joint one by Commissioner Ford Frick and minor league President George M. Trautman, came on the heels of announcement that Harrisburg, Pa., of the Interstate loop had signed pretty Eleanor Engle.

Miss Engle went through pregame practice with the Senators yesterday, but watched the game from the press box, and was back today on her job as stenographer.

Trautman, in a telephone conversation from San Francisco, said today that "such travesties" as the signing of women players will not be tolerated, and that clubs signing, or attempting to sign, women players will be subject to severe penalties.

Heart Grants Announced

New York, June 23 (AP)—The American Heart Association announced last night grants-in-aid totaling $361,522 for 72 research projects in heart and blood diseases. The latest grants raised to more than four million dollars the combined total spent for research by the national group and its state and local affiliates since 1948, Association President Irving S. Wright said. Recipients of the grants included medical schools, hospitals, laboratories and other institutions for a variety of studies of new and improved methods of diagnosis, treatment and prevention.

Mole Heads Amvets

Albany, N. Y., June 23 (AP)—A. Chalmers Mole, New York city attorney, is the new state commander of the Amvets. Mole was elected yesterday at the closing session of the three-day state convention. He succeeds John M. Signer of Albany, who was named a delegate to the national convention. Other officers elected include: Henry A. Von Kroge, Central Islip, second vice commander, and James Hollihan, Poughkeepsie, finance officer.

Davies Is Ill

Washington, June 23 (AP)—Joseph E. Davies, former U. S. ambassador to Russia, was reported ill in a New York hospital today. His family here did not reveal the nature of his illness but Mrs. Davies said she was going to New York today.

Six-foot Statue Of Virgin Mary To Be Dedicated

The Shrine of Our Lady of the Hudson will be dedicated Saturday afternoon, June 28, at 2 o'clock on the grounds of the Church of the Presentation, Port Ewen.

The address will be given by the Rev. John G. Schultz, C.Ss.R., of the Preachers Institute, Washington, D. C.

The six-foot-high statue, sculptured from bluestone quarried at Sawkill, depicts the Virgin Mary holding a tugboat. Penning worked on the statue for eight months in his High Woods studio. He had previously done a bluestone statue of our Lady of Fatima for the Quarryville church and another statue for a church at Chester.

Saturday's dedication is expected to attract considerable interest on the part of Hudson river boatmen.

Port Ewen was chosen as the site of the shrine of "Our Lady of the Hudson," the official title of the statue, because of the proximity of Presentation Church to the river, and too, because some 250 residents of Port Ewen and the surrounding area are engaged as boatmen at the present time.

The idea of the shrine originated with the boatmen themselves and was welcomed by the parish at Port Ewen. The execution of the original design of the statue is the work of Thomas Penning, Woodstock sculptor who has labored tirelessly and with consummate skill to bring to realization this beautiful concept. Most of the companies engaged in the river industry and many of the boatmen and their friends have contributed the means whereby the work could be completed.

Among the speakers will be the Rev. John G. Schultz, C.Ss.R., a member of the faculty of the Preacher's Institute at the Catholic University of America in Washington, D. C.; the Rev. Michael A. Gearin, C.Ss.R., rector of Mount St. Alphonsus, Esopus, and the Right Rev. John J. O'Donnell, chaplain of the Port of New York. The statue will be solemnly blessed by the Right Rev. Martin J. Drury, dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties.

Man Violated Parole

Joseph S. Sterpka, 17, of Winsted, Conn., was arrested on Route 9W near Highland Saturday afternoon and was charged with violation of parole, state police reported. Troopers, who said they stopped Sterpka for allegedly speeding and driving without an operator's license, reported that investigation revealed he was on parole from a Cheshire, Conn., reformatory, on a "breaking and entry" charge. He was held at the Ulster county jail and turned over later to E. P. Ivan and G. Greenwood, reformatory authorities.

YM Lists Summer Vacation Schedule

The summer vacation program for boys starts at the YMCA this week with activities scheduled for every day. The program includes two swimming periods for girls and includes free swimming instructions for girl beginners during the month of July.

Monday will be trip day with all-day trips being made to Williams Lake, North Lake, Catskill Game Farm, Bear Mountain, Hudson Day Line boat trip, fishing trip to Ashokan Reservoir, DeWitt Lake and overnight camping trips at DeWitt Lake.

Boys' swimming classes will be held at 10 a. m. on Tuesday and Thursdays. Baseball will be held every Saturday at 9:30 a. m. followed by a swim. A special afternoon building program for boys will be held from 2 to 5.

There will be a special trip to the Hagen Brothers Circus at Forsyth Park July 4 sponsored by Fuller Shirt Co. and Skyline Mfg. Co.

The girls' swimming classes will be held every Wednesday and Friday, first period for beginners coming at 9:15 a. m. All these girls should turn in a registration blank signed by their parents.

Nests of many birds are built in the six-day period required for forming and developing the first egg.
